

WAC 388-71-0841 What is orientation training, who should complete it, and when should it be completed? (1) Long-term care worker orientation is two hours of orientation training regarding the long-term care worker's role and the applicable terms of employment. Individuals required to complete the 70-hour home care aide basic training must complete long-term care worker orientation before providing care to a client.

(2) Long-term care worker orientation training, unless taken through a department approved online training program, must be provided by qualified instructors who meet the requirements of WAC 388-71-1060.

(3) The department must approve orientation curricula and instructors.

(4) There is no competency test for long-term care worker orientation.
