3 "NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that in 2006, the 4 state of Washington made a commitment to establish a market for 5 alternative fuels. As part of that commitment, state agencies were 6 required to use an increasing percentage of biodiesel to operate their 7 state fleets. The legislature further finds that as a result of the 8 commitments that were made in 2006, significant public and private 9 investments have been made to develop in-state feedstock and oilseed 10 crushing capacity. In order to ensure that these investments prove to 11 be successful, it is the intent of the legislature that state agencies 12 make every effort to purchase biodiesel that is derived from locally 13 grown, in-state feedstocks."
