state or Canadian province, must be completed by state hunting license applicants aged 37 years or younger.

The hunter education program consists of at least 10 hours of instruction in safety, conservation, sportsmanship, and firearm handling. Average classes involve four to six sessions and require the student to pass a written test and demonstrate firearms handling skills. The WDFW offers a home study option or live courses scheduled throughout the state.

Hunter education courses are taught by volunteers, either individually or as a team, who are trained and certified by the WDFW. All instructors must be at least 21 years old and must undergo a background investigation by the WDFW.

Summary of Amended Bill:

The WDFW is directed to exempt members of the United States military from the firearm skills portion of any course of instruction in hunter's education completed over the Internet.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date of Amended Bill: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) None.

(With concerns) There is no intent to not support service members, but once one exception is carved out for one group, then is it hard to defend why other similarly situated groups do not enjoy the same exemption. There are a lot of ways that a member of the military can satisfy the hunter's education requirements. The WDFW accepts reciprocity from any other state or Canadian province and offers a one-year deferral from taking the instruction under certain circumstances. Internet courses and a one-day live course are also available.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: Mik Mikitik and Bruce Bjork, Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife.
