SENATE COMMITTEE ON WAYS & MEANS

Staff: Erik Sund (786-7454)

Background: The board of directors of a school district, the Teachers' Retirement System (TRS), the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Educational Service District superintendents are permitted to establish tax-deferred annuities for their employees through the establishment of a deferral programs under the provisions of federal law commonly referred to as 403(b) plans.

A 403(b) plan is a tax-advantaged salary deferral retirement program for employees of educational institutions and certain other non-profit organizations. A 403(b) plan must be sponsored by the institution, which then acts in the capacity of a fiduciary. The employer is responsible for establishing the plan and selecting the plan investments. Once the plan has been established, the employee defers a portion of his or her annual salary into the fund. Among the types of investments that are permitted in 403(b) accounts are annuity and variable annuity contracts with insurance companies and custodial accounts that consist of mutual funds which meet the definition of qualified regulated company stock. The latter of these is called a 403(b) (7) account. The 403(b) plan requirements do not permit investment in individual stocks. If offered by an employer, 403(b) plans must be made available to all employees.

State law permits Washington educational employers to establish 403(b) programs, but limits the types of investments to tax deferred annuity contracts.
