

HB 1233 - DIGEST

Removes the hydraulic project approval process responsibilities from the department of fish and wildlife and relies on the government infrastructure and other environmental programs to provide the vital role of protecting fish life and habitat.

Saves the state nearly nine million dollars in general fund moneys each biennium and allows the department of fish and wildlife to free the resources necessary to pursue its primary management responsibilities.