2 "As the use of aerial imaging by state, local, and tribal 3 governments becomes more prevalent, and pending the results of the 4 study, the legislature finds that it is important for the office of 5 the chief information officer to evaluate how aerial images are 6 protected against data breaches and unauthorized disclosure, as well 7 as how authorized users are identified for various types of aerial 8 imagery used by state agencies, local governments, special purpose
9 districts, and tribal governments. The legislature also finds that it 10 is important for the office of the chief information officer to 11 evaluate the range of privacy issues involved in aerial imaging and 12 how the privacy rights of Washingtonians might best be protected as 13 usage of aerial imaging by government proliferates."
