DISCLOSURE OF PUBLIC RECORDS

WAC 388-01-030 What DSHS records are available? (1) DSHS prepares and keeps public records that relate to the programs it administers. All records DSHS uses to conduct business are public records.

DSHS public records may include, documents, audio and video recordings, pictures, e-mail, computer disks and electronic data.

(2) DSHS records are available to the public unless a law exempts them from disclosure. Some DSHS records contain confidential information that is not available to everyone.

(3) You, or someone authorized to act for you or by you, may have access to confidential records about you that would otherwise be exempt from disclosure to the public.

(4) Upon your request, DSHS may give you records such as rules, policies, indexes, interpretive statements, pamphlets, forms and other publications at cost under WAC 388-01-180 without using the public records disclosure process.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 41.17.020, 41.17.260, and 41.17.300. 03-17-014, § 388-01-030, filed 8/12/03, effective 9/12/03. Statutory Authority: RCW 42.17.250 and 34.05.220. 99-15-065, § 388-01-030, filed 7/19/99, effective 8/19/99.]

WAC 388-01-040 What public records are available for release? (1) Public records kept by DSHS are available for release unless the law specifically excludes (or exempts) them.

(2) For a list of public records that are excluded from public disclosure by law, see RCW 42.17.310 through RCW 42.17.31911, and other disclosure laws specific to DSHS programs.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 42.17.250 and 34.05.220. 99-15-065, § 388-01-040, filed 7/19/99, effective 8/19/99.]

WAC 388-01-050 Who should be contacted to request a public record? An individual should contact the public disclosure coordinators at DSHS offices to request a public record. Public disclosure coordinators are located at local community service offices (CSO), regional offices, home and community services (HCS), division of child support (DCS), children's services, DDD field services offices, DSHS facilities, and within each DSHS administration.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 42.17.250 and 34.05.220. 99-15-065, § 388-01-050, filed 7/19/99, effective 8/19/99.]

WAC 388-01-060 How can an individual request a public record? (1) An individual can request a public record orally or in writing. Individuals may request this form from DSHS, Forms and Records Management Services, P.O. Box 45805, Olympia, WA 98504-5805, (360) 664-6120, or e-mail at DSHSFormsRecordsMgmt@dshs.wa.gov.

(2) If the form is not used, the written public record request should include the following information:

(c) A detailed description of the public record being requested;

(d) The address where copies of the record are to be mailed, or if the requester wants to examine the record at DSHS; and

(e) The signature of the requester.

(3) An individual can fill out a record request at a DSHS office, or send it by regular mail, electronic mail, or fax to the public disclosure coordinator at the appropriate DSHS office.

(4) DSHS may ask an individual requesting a public record for personal identification when the law makes a record disclosable to a specific person.

Contact the public disclosure coordinator in the appropriate office to arrange a time to examine the public record.

(2) In order to preserve the record or prevent interference in the performance of departmental duties, DSHS reserves the right to restrict an individual's ability to examine or copy public records. This does not prevent DSHS from providing copies of the public record by mail.

GENERAL

WAC 388-02-0005 What is the purpose and scope of this chapter? This chapter describes the general procedures that apply to the resolution of disputes between you and the various programs within the department of social and health services (DSHS). The rules of this chapter are intended to supplement for DSHS both the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), chapter 34.05 RCW, and the model rules, chapter 10-08 WAC, adopted by the office of administrative hearings (OAH).

(1) This chapter:

(a) Establishes rules encouraging informal dispute resolution between DSHS and persons or entities who disagree with its actions;

(b) Regulates all hearings involving DSHS; and

(c) Consolidates most DSHS hearing procedural rules into one chapter.

(2) Nothing in this chapter is intended to affect the constitutional rights of any person or to limit or change additional requirements imposed by statute or other rule. Other laws or rules determine if you have a hearing right, including the APA and DSHS program rules or laws.

(3) Specific DSHS program hearing rules prevail over the rules in this chapter.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0005, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0010 What definitions apply to this chapter? The following definitions apply to this chapter:

"Administrative law judge (ALJ)" means an impartial decision-maker who is an attorney and presides at an administrative hearing. The office of administrative hearings (OAH), which is a state agency, employs the ALJs. ALJs are not DSHS employees or DSHS representatives.

"BOA" means the DSHS board of appeals.

"Business days" means all days except Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays.

"Calendar days" means all days including Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays.

"Deliver" means giving a document to someone in person.

"Documents" means papers, letters, writings, or other printed or written items.

"DSHS" means the department of social and health services.

"DSHS representative" means an employee of DSHS, a DSHS contractor, or an assistant attorney general authorized to represent DSHS in an administrative hearing. DSHS representatives include, but are not limited to, claims officers and fair hearing coordinators.

"Final order" means an order that is the final DSHS decision.

"Hearing" means a proceeding before an ALJ or review judge that gives a party an opportunity to be heard in disputes about DSHS programs. For purposes of this chapter, hearings include administrative hearings, adjudicative proceedings, and any other similar term referenced under chapter 34.05 RCW, the Administrative Procedure Act, Title 388 of the Washington Administrative Code, chapter 10-08 WAC, or other law.

"Initial order" is a hearing decision made by an ALJ that may be reviewed by a BOA review judge at either party's request.

"Judicial review" means a superior court's review of a final order.

"Mail" means placing the document in the mail with the proper postage.

"OAH" means the office of administrative hearings, a separate state agency from DSHS.

"Party" means:

(1) DSHS; or

(2) A person or entity:

(a) Named in a DSHS action;

(b) To whom a DSHS action is directed; or

(c) Allowed to participate in a hearing to protect an interest as authorized by law or rule.

"Prehearing conference" means a proceeding scheduled and conducted by an ALJ or review judge in preparation for a hearing.

"Prehearing meeting" means an informal voluntary meeting that may be held before any prehearing conference or hearing.

"Program" means a DSHS organizational unit and the services that it provides, including services provided by DSHS staff and through contracts with providers. Organizational units include, but are not limited to, administrations and divisions.

"Record" means the official documentation of the hearing process. The record includes recordings or transcripts, admitted exhibits, decisions, briefs, notices, orders, and other filed documents.

"Review" means a review judge evaluating initial orders entered by an ALJ and making the final agency decision as provided by RCW 34.05.464, or issuing final orders.

"Review judge" means a decision-maker with expertise in DSHS rules who is an attorney and serves as the reviewing officer under RCW 34.05.464. In some cases, review judges conduct hearings and enter final orders. In other cases, they review initial orders and may make changes to correct any errors in an ALJ's initial order. When reviewing initial orders or conducting hearings, review judges enter final orders. Review judges are employed by DSHS, are located in the DSHS board of appeals (BOA), and are not part of the DSHS program involved in the review.

"Rule" means a state regulation. Rules are found in the Washington Administrative Code (WAC).

"Stay" means an order temporarily halting the DSHS decision or action.

"You" means any individual or entity that has a right to be involved with the DSHS hearing process, which includes a party or a party's representative. "You" does not include DSHS or its representative.

(2) Good cause may include, but is not limited to, the following examples.

(a) You ignored a notice because you were in the hospital or were otherwise prevented from responding; or

(b) You could not respond to the notice because it was written in a language that you did not understand.

(b) If the last day of the period ends on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, the deadline is the next business day.

(c) For periods of seven days or less, count only business days. For example, if you have seven days to respond to a review request that was mailed to you on Friday, May 10, the response period ends on Tuesday, May 21.

(d) For periods over seven days, count every day, including Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays.

(2) The deadline ends at 5:00 p.m. on the last day.

(3) If you miss a deadline, you may lose your right to a hearing or appeal of a decision.

(4) To make an offer of proof a party presents evidence and argument on the record to show why the ALJ should consider the evidence; and

(5) The offer of proof preserves the argument for appeal.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0400, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0405 What is a stipulation? (1) A stipulation is an agreement among two or more parties that certain facts or evidence is correct or authentic.

(2) If an ALJ accepts a stipulation, the ALJ must enter it into the record.

(3) A stipulation may be made before or during the hearing.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0405, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0410 After the parties agree to a stipulation, may they change or reject it? (1) A party may change or reject a stipulation after it has been made.

(2) To change or reject a stipulation, a party must show the ALJ that:

(2009 Ed.)

(a) The party did not intend to make the stipulation or was mistaken when making it; and

(b) Changing or rejecting the stipulation does not harm the other parties.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0410, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0415 What are proposed exhibits? Proposed exhibits are documents or other objects that a party wants the ALJ to consider when reaching a decision. After the document or object is accepted by the ALJ, it is admitted and becomes an exhibit.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0415, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0420 Do the parties mark and number their proposed exhibits? (1) DSHS representatives must mark and number their proposed exhibits and provide copies to the other parties as far ahead of the hearing as possible.

(2) The ALJ may request that you mark and number your proposed exhibits before the hearing. You should bring enough copies of your proposed exhibits for all parties. If you do not bring enough copies, you must make your proposed exhibits available for copying.

(3) If you cannot afford to pay for copies of proposed exhibits, either DSHS or OAH must make the copies for you.

(4) The ALJ may require proof that you are unable to pay.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0420, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0425 Who decides whether to admit proposed exhibits into the record? (1) The ALJ decides whether or not to admit a proposed exhibit into the record and also determines the weight (importance) of the evidence.

(2) The ALJ admits proposed exhibits into the record by marking, listing, identifying, and admitting the proposed exhibits.

(3) The ALJ may also exclude proposed exhibits from the record.

(4) The ALJ must make rulings on the record to admit or exclude exhibits.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0425, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0430 What may a party do if they disagree with an exhibit? (1) A party may object to the authenticity or admissibility of any exhibit, or offer argument about how much weight the ALJ should give the exhibit.

(2) Even if a party agrees that a proposed exhibit is a true and authentic copy of a document, the agreement does not mean that a party agrees with:

(a) Everything in the exhibit or agrees that it should apply to the hearing;

(b) What the exhibit says; or

(c) How the ALJ should use the exhibit to make a decision.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0430, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0435 When should an ALJ receive proposed exhibits for a telephone hearing? (1) Parties should send their proposed exhibits to the ALJ and the other parties at least five days before the telephone hearing. In some cases, the ALJ may require that the parties send them earlier.

(2) Sending the proposed exhibits to the ALJ before the telephone hearing allows all parties to use them during the hearing.

(3) For a telephone hearing, DSHS may help you send copies of your proposed exhibits to the ALJ and the other parties if you cannot afford to do so.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0435, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0440 What is judicial notice? (1) Judicial notice is evidence that includes facts or standards that are generally recognized and accepted by judges, government agencies, or national associations.

(2) For example, an ALJ may take judicial notice of a calendar, a building code or a standard or practice.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0440, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0445 How does the ALJ respond to requests to take judicial notice? (1) The ALJ may consider and admit evidence by taking judicial notice.

(2) If a party requests judicial notice, or if the ALJ intends to take judicial notice, the ALJ may ask the party to provide a copy of the document that contains the information.

(3) If judicial notice has been requested, or if the ALJ intends to take judicial notice, the ALJ must tell the parties before or during the hearing.

(4) The ALJ must give the parties time to object to judicial notice evidence.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0445, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WITNESSES

WAC 388-02-0450 What is a witness? (1) A witness is any person who makes statements or gives testimony that becomes evidence in a hearing.

(2) One type of witness is an expert witness. An expert witness is qualified by knowledge, experience, and education to give opinions or evidence in a specialized area.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0450, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0455 Who may be a witness? (1) A witness may be:

(a) You or the DSHS representative; or

(b) Anyone you, the ALJ, or the DSHS representative asks to be a witness, including DSHS employees.

(2) The ALJ decides who may testify as a witness.

(3) Unless DSHS agrees, a former DSHS employee may not be an expert witness against DSHS if that employee was actively involved in the case while working for DSHS.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0455, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

[Title 388 WAC—p. 214]

WAC 388-02-0460 How do witnesses testify? All witnesses:

(1) Must affirm or take an oath to testify truthfully during the hearing.

(2) May testify in person or by telephone.

(3) May request interpreters from OAH at no cost to you.

(4) May be subpoenaed and ordered to appear according to WAC 388-02-0315.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0460, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0465 May the parties cross-examine a witness? (1) The parties have the right to cross-examine (question) each witness.

(2) If a party has a representative, only the representative, and not the party, may question the witness.

(3) The ALJ may also question witnesses.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0465, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0470 May witnesses refuse to answer questions? Witnesses may refuse to answer questions. However, if a witness refuses to answer, the ALJ may reject all of the related testimony of that witness.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0470, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

PROOF

WAC 388-02-0475 What evidence does an ALJ consider? (1) The ALJ may only consider admitted evidence to decide the case.

(2) Admission of evidence is based upon the reasonable person standard. This standard means evidence that a reasonable person would rely on in making a decision.

(3) The ALJ may admit and consider hearsay evidence. Hearsay is a statement made outside of the hearing used to prove the truth of what is in the statement. The ALJ may only base a finding on hearsay evidence if the ALJ finds that the parties had the opportunity to question or contradict it.

(4) The ALJ may reject evidence, if it:

(a) Is not relevant;

(b) Repeats evidence already admitted; or

(c) Is from a privileged communication protected by law.

(5) The ALJ must reject evidence if required by law.

(6) The ALJ decides:

(a) What evidence is more credible if evidence conflicts; and

(b) The weight given to the evidence.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0475, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0480 What does burden of proof mean? The party who has the burden of proof is the party who has the responsibility to provide evidence to persuade the ALJ that a position is correct.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0480, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0485 What is the standard of proof?

Standard of proof refers to the amount of evidence needed to prove a party's position. Unless the rules or law states otherwise, the standard of proof in a hearing is a preponderance of the evidence. This standard means that it is more likely than not that something happened or exists.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0485, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0490 How is a position proven at hearing? The ALJ decides if a party has met the burden of proof. The ALJ writes a decision based on the evidence presented during the hearing and consistent with the law.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0490, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0495 What is equitable estoppel? (1) Equitable estoppel is a legal doctrine defined in case law that may prevent DSHS from taking some action against you, such as collecting an overpayment.

(2) There are five elements of equitable estoppel. The standard of proof is clear and convincing evidence. You must prove all of the following:

(a) DSHS made a statement or took action or failed to take action, which is inconsistent with a later claim or position by DSHS. For example, DSHS gave you money based on your application, then later tells you that you received an overpayment and wants you to pay the money back based on the same information.

(b) You relied on DSHS' original statement, action or failure to act. For example, you believed DSHS acted correctly when you received money.

(c) You will be injured to your detriment if DSHS is allowed to contradict the original statement, action or failure to act. For example, you did not seek help from health clinics or food banks because you were receiving benefits from DSHS and you would have been eligible for these other benefits.

(d) Equitable estoppel is needed to prevent a manifest injustice. For example, you cannot afford to repay the money to DSHS, and you gave DSHS timely and accurate information when required but did not know that DSHS made a mistake.

(e) The exercise of government functions is not impaired. For example, the overpayment was not your fault and it was caused solely by a DSHS mistake.

(3) If the ALJ concludes that you have proven all of the elements of equitable estoppel in subsection (2) of this section with clear and convincing evidence, DSHS is stopped or prevented from taking action or enforcing a claim against you.

RECORD CLOSURE

WAC 388-02-0500 What may an ALJ do before the record is closed? Before the record is closed, the ALJ may:

- (1) Set another hearing date;

(2009 Ed.)

(2) Enter orders to address limited issues if needed before writing and mailing a hearing decision to resolve all issues in the proceeding; or

(3) Give the parties more time to send in exhibits or written argument.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0500, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0505 When is the record closed? The record is closed:

(1) At the end of the hearing if the ALJ does not allow more time to send in evidence or argument; or

(2) After the deadline for sending in evidence or argument is over.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0505, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0510 What happens when the record is closed? No more evidence may be taken without good cause after the record is closed.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0510, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

HEARING DECISIONS

WAC 388-02-0515 What happens after the record is closed? (1) After the record is closed, the ALJ must write a hearing decision and send copies to the parties.

(2) The maximum time an ALJ has to send a decision is ninety calendar days after the record is closed, but many DSHS programs have earlier deadlines. Specific program rules may set the deadlines.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0515, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0520 What information must the ALJ include in the decision? The ALJ must include the following information in the decision:

- (1) Identify the hearing decision as a DSHS case;
- (2) List the name and docket number of the case and the names of all parties and representatives;
- (3) Find the facts used to resolve the dispute based on the hearing record;
- (4) Explain why evidence is credible when the facts or conduct of a witness is in question;
- (5) State the law that applies to the dispute;
- (6) Apply the law to the facts of the case in the conclusions of law;
- (7) Discuss the reasons for the decision based on the facts and the law;
- (8) State the result and remedy ordered;
- (9) Explain how to request changes in the decision and the deadlines for requesting them;
- (10) State the date the decision becomes final according to WAC 388-02-0525; and
- (11) Include any other information required by law or DSHS program rules.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0520, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0525 When do initial orders become final? If no one requests review of the initial order or if a review request is dismissed, the initial order is final twenty-one calendar days after it is mailed.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020, chapter 34.05 RCW, Parts IV and V, 2002 c 371 § 211. 02-21-061, § 388-02-0525, filed 10/15/02, effective 11/15/02. Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0525, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0530 What if a party disagrees with the ALJ's decision? (1) If a party disagrees with an ALJ's initial or final order because of a clerical error, the party may ask for a corrected decision from the ALJ as provided in WAC 388-02-0540 through 388-02-0555.

(2) If a party disagrees with an initial order and wants it changed, the party must request review by a review judge as provided in WAC 388-02-0560 through 388-02-0595.

If a party wants to stay the DSHS action until review of the initial order is completed, the party must request a stay from a review judge.

(3) Final orders entered by ALJs may not be reviewed by a review judge.

(4) If a party disagrees with an ALJ's final order, the party may request reconsideration as provided in WAC 388-02-0605 through 388-02-0635. You may also petition for judicial review of the final order as stated in WAC 388-02-0640 through 388-02-0650. You do not need to file a request for reconsideration of the final order before petitioning for judicial review. DSHS may not request judicial review of an ALJ's or review judge's final order.

CLERICAL ERRORS IN ALJ DECISIONS

WAC 388-02-0540 How are clerical errors in ALJ decisions corrected? (1) A clerical error is a mistake that does not change the intent of the decision.

(2) The ALJ corrects clerical errors in hearing decisions by issuing a second decision referred to as a corrected decision or corrected order. Corrections may be made to initial orders and final orders.

(3) Some examples of clerical error are:

(a) Missing or incorrect words or numbers;
 (b) Dates inconsistent with the decision or evidence in the record such as using May 3, 1989, instead of May 3, 1998; or

(c) Math errors when adding the total of an overpayment or a child support debt.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020, chapter 34.05 RCW, Parts IV and V, 2002 c 371 § 211. 02-21-061, § 388-02-0540, filed 10/15/02, effective 11/15/02. Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0540, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0545 How does a party ask for a corrected ALJ decision? (1) A party may ask for a corrected ALJ decision by calling or writing the OAH office that held the hearing.

[Title 388 WAC—p. 216]

(2) When asking for a corrected decision, please identify the clerical error you found.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020, chapter 34.05 RCW, Parts IV and V, 2002 c 371 § 211. 02-21-061, § 388-02-0545, filed 10/15/02, effective 11/15/02. Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0545, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0550 How much time do the parties have to ask for a corrected ALJ decision? (1) The parties must ask the ALJ for a corrected decision on or before the tenth calendar day after the order was mailed.

(2) If you ask the ALJ to correct a decision, the time period provided by this section for requesting a corrected decision of an initial order, and the time it takes the ALJ to deny the request or make a decision regarding the request for a corrected initial order, do not count against any deadline, if any, for a review judge to enter a final order.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020, 34.05.220, and 42 C.F.R. 431.10 (e)(3), 45 C.F.R. 205.100 (b)(3), chapter 34.05 RCW, Parts IV and V. 08-21-144, § 388-02-0550, filed 10/21/08, effective 11/21/08. Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0550, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0555 What happens when a party requests a corrected ALJ decision? (1) When a party requests a corrected initial or final order, the ALJ must either:

(a) Send all parties a corrected order; or

(b) Deny the request within three business days of receiving it.

(2) If the ALJ corrects an initial order and a party does not request review, the corrected initial order becomes final twenty-one calendar days after the original initial order was mailed.

(3) If the ALJ denies a request for a corrected initial order and the party still wants the hearing decision changed, the party must request review by a review judge.

(4) Requesting an ALJ to correct the initial order does not automatically extend the deadline to request review of the initial order by a review judge. When a party needs more time to request review of an initial order, the party must ask for more time to request review as permitted by WAC 388-02-0580(2).

(5) If the ALJ denies a request for a corrected final order and you still want the hearing decision changed, you must request judicial review.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020, 34.05.220, 42 C.F.R. 431.10 (e)(3), 45 C.F.R. 205.100 (b)(3), chapter 34.05 RCW, Parts IV and V. 08-21-144, § 388-02-0555, filed 10/21/08, effective 11/21/08. REQUESTS FOR BOA REVIEW OF INITIAL ORDERS FOR CASES LISTED IN WAC 388-02-0215(4)

WAC 388-02-0560 What is review of an initial order by a review judge? (1) Review by a review judge is available to a party who disagrees with the ALJ's initial order.

(2) If a party wants the initial order changed, the party must request that a review judge review the initial order.

(2009 Ed.)

(3) If a request is made for a review judge to review an initial order, it does not mean there is another hearing conducted by a review judge.

(4) The review judge considers the request, the initial order, and the record, and may hear oral argument, before deciding if the initial order should be changed.

(5) Review judges may not review ALJ final orders.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020, 34.05.220, 42 C.F.R. 431.10 (e)(3), 45 C.F.R. 205.100 (b)(3), chapter 34.05 RCW, Parts IV and V. 08-21-144, § 388-02-0560, filed 10/21/08, effective 11/21/08. WAC 388-02-0565 What evidence does the review judge consider in reviewing an initial order? (1) The review judge, in most cases, only considers evidence given at the original hearing before the ALJ.

(2) The review judge may allow the parties to make oral argument when reviewing initial orders.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020, 34.05.220, 42 C.F.R. 431.10 (e)(3), 45 C.F.R. 205.100 (b)(3), chapter 34.05 RCW, Parts IV and V. 08-21-144, § 388-02-0565, filed 10/21/08, effective 11/21/08. Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0565, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0570 Who may request review of an initial order? (1) Any party may request a review judge to review the initial order.

(2) If more than one party requests review, each request must meet the deadlines in WAC 388-02-0580.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020, 34.05.220, 42 C.F.R. 431.10 (e)(3), 45 C.F.R. 205.100 (b)(3), chapter 34.05 RCW, Parts IV and V. 08-21-144, § 388-02-0570, filed 10/21/08, effective 11/21/08. Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.020. 00-18-059, § 388-02-0570, filed 9/1/00, effective 10/2/00.]

WAC 388-02-0575 How does a party request review? A party must make the review request in writing, send it to BOA, and clearly identify the:

(1) Parts of the initial order with which the party disagrees; and

(2) Evidence supporting the party's position.

"Source language" means the language from which an interpretation and/or translation is rendered.

"Target language" means the language into which an interpretation and/or translation is rendered.

"Translation" means the written transfer of a message from one language to another.

CODE OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

WAC 388-03-050 What is the department's "code of professional conduct for language interpreters and translators"? The "code of conduct" is the professional standard established by the department for all interpreters/translators providing language services to department programs and clients. Any violation of this code may disqualify an interpreter or translator from providing those services. Specifically, the code addresses:

(1) Accuracy. Interpreters/translators must always express the source language message in a thorough and faithful manner. They must:

(a) Omit or add nothing;

(b) Give consideration to linguistic variations in both the source and target languages; and

(c) Conserve the tone and spirit of the source language.

(2) Cultural sensitivity-courtesy. Interpreters/translators must be culturally knowledgeable, sensitive, and respectful of the individual(s) they serve.

(3) Confidentiality. Interpreters/translators must not divulge any information obtained through their assignments, including, but not limited to, information from documents or other written materials.

(4) Disclosure. Interpreters/translators must not publicly discuss, report, or offer an opinion on current or past assignments, even when the information related to the assignment is not legally considered confidential.

(5) Proficiency. Interpreters/translators must pass the department's required bilingual fluency certification examinations or screening tests in order to meet the department's minimum proficiency standard.

(6) Compensation. Interpreters/translators must:

(a) Not accept additional money, consideration, or favors for services reimbursed by the department through language services providers;

(b) Not use the department's time, facilities, equipment or supplies for private gain or other advantage; and

(c) Not use or attempt to use their position to secure privileges or exemptions.

(7) Nondiscrimination. Interpreters/translators must:

(a) Always be neutral, impartial and unbiased;

(b) Not discriminate on the basis of gender, disability, race, color, national origin, age, creed, religion, marital status, or sexual orientation; and

(c) Refuse or withdraw from an assignment, without threat or retaliation, if they are unable to perform the required service in an ethical manner.

(8) Self-evaluation. Interpreters/translators must accurately and completely represent their certification, training, and experience.

(9) Impartiality-conflict of interest. Interpreters/translators must disclose to the department any real or perceived conflicts of interest that would affect their professional objectivity. Note: Providing interpreting or translating services to family members or friends may violate the family member or friend's right to confidentiality and/or may be a real or perceived conflict of interest.

(10) Professional Demeanor. Interpreters/translators must be punctual, prepared, and dressed appropriately.

(11) Scope of practice. Interpreters/translators must not:

(a) Counsel, refer, give advice, or express personal opinions to their interpreting/translating clients;

(b) Engage in activities with clients that are not directly related to providing interpreting and/or translating services;

(c) Have unsupervised contact with clients; and

(d) Have direct telephone contact with clients unless requested by DSHS staff.

(12) Reporting obstacles to practice. Interpreters/translators must always assess their ability to perform a specific interpreting/translating assignment. If they have any reservations about their ability to competently perform an assignment, they must immediately notify their clients and/or employer and offer to withdraw without threat or retaliation.

They may remain on the assignment until more appropriate interpreters/translators can be retained.

(13) Ethical violations. Interpreters/translators must immediately withdraw from assignments that they perceive are a violation of this code. Any violation of this code may disqualify them from providing services to the department.

(14) Professional development. Interpreters/translators must continually develop their skills and knowledge through:

- (a) Formal professional training;
- (b) On-going continuing education; and
- (c) Regular and frequent interaction with colleagues and specialists in related fields.

LIST RESPONSIBILITIES FOR CERTIFYING SPOKEN LANGUAGE INTERPRETERS AND TRANSLATORS

WAC 388-03-060 What is the responsibility of the language interpreter services and translations (LIST) section in certifying spoken language interpreters and translators? Language interpreter services and translations (LIST) is the section within DSHS responsible for:

(1) Establishing and publishing systems, methods, and procedures for certifying, screening and/or evaluating the interpretation and/or translation skills of bilingual employees, interpreters and translators who work with department clients, employees, and service providers;

(2) Ensuring that certified or qualified bilingual employees and language service contractors are aware of DSHS's code of professional conduct for interpreters and translators.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-060, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

CERTIFICATION/QUALIFICATION OF INTERPRETERS AND TRANSLATORS

WAC 388-03-110 What certification/qualification requirements apply to interpreters and translators? (1) To be department certified, any department staff member serving in a bilingual capacity or any contracted interpreter/translator providing bilingual services to department clients must pass a bilingual fluency test. No bilingual duties will be assigned to any staff and no contract will be granted to any contractor without proper certification. Once certified:

(a) Department employees in positions requiring bilingual skills are eligible for assignment pay;

(b) Applicants for bilingual positions with the department qualify for those positions if they have also passed the applicable department of personnel employment examination; and

(c) Individuals not employed by the department who wish to interpret and/or translate for department clients can be retained by contracted interpreting agencies.

(2) Interpreters can be certified or qualified as:

- (a) Social services interpreters by the department; and/or
- (b) Legal interpreters by the office of the administrator for the courts; and/or
- (c) Medical interpreters by the department.

[Title 388 WAC—p. 222]

(3) Translators can be certified by the department or by the American Translators Association (ATA).

(4) When certified and/or qualified, interpreters and translators providing services to department programs and clients must comply with the department's code of professional conduct for interpreters and translators.

(5) Any violation of the code of professional conduct may disqualify an interpreter or translator from providing services to the department, regardless of whether their contract is directly with the department or indirectly through a language agency serving department clients.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-110, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-112 When do I become a certified or qualified interpreter or translator? (1) For certified languages, you are considered certified once you pass the required tests.

(2) The effective dates of your certifications are the dates shown on your score report letters.

(3) If necessary, you can use your score report letters to verify your certification status.

(4) Your certificates will be mailed to you within a month from the date you pass all examination requirements. It is your responsibility to:

(a) Inform the LIST section of any change of name and address;

(b) Check the accuracy of the information presented on your certificate; and

(c) Contact the LIST section if your certificate is not received within the normal time period.

(5) For screening languages, you are considered qualified once you pass both the written and oral tests. Instead of a certificate, an authorization letter will be issued to qualified interpreters who pass the required screening tests.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-112, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-114 Can I become a department certified interpreter or translator without taking a department examination? There are three ways that you may gain department recognition as an interpreter or translator without taking the department's certification examinations.

(1) If you hold either a state of Washington office of the administrator for the courts interpreter certificate or a federal court interpreter certificate, the department will recognize you as a certified social services interpreter without requiring you to take its examination. However, you must formally submit a written request for recognition and attach a photocopy of your official certificate.

(2) If the American Translators Association (ATA) accredits you as a certified translator, the department will recognize you as a certified translator without requiring you to take its examination. However, you must formally submit a written request for recognition and attach a photocopy of your official certificate.

(3) If you hold either an interpreter or translator certification from another state or U.S. territory or another country that is comparable to DSHS certification and based upon similar requirements, LIST may recognize your certification. In your request for DSHS recognition, you must submit a photocopy of your official certificate and a copy of the official test manual containing evaluation criteria and passing benchmark. Your request should be submitted to LIST. LIST will decide all requests on a case-by-case basis.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-114, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-115 Who determines if my request is "sufficiently documented"? The department determines if your request is sufficiently documented. It may request further proof of your qualification. In all cases, the department's decision regarding the sufficiency of your documentation is final.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-115, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-116 What if the certification documents requested by the language interpreter services and translations section are in a foreign language? (1) All documents submitted to LIST in a foreign language must be accompanied by an accurate translation in English.

(2) Each translated document must bear the affidavit of the translator, sworn to before a notary public, certifying that the:

(a) Translator is competent in both the language of the document and the English language; and

(b) Translation is a true and complete translation of the foreign language original.

(3) Applicants must pay all costs related to translating any documents relevant to their request for department certification.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-116, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-117 What happens to my request for department recognition as an interpreter or translator? When LIST receives your written request for recognition and the required documentation of your qualification, it will:

(1) Process your request as expeditiously as possible; and

(2) Give you written notification of its decision; and

(3) File your request and enter your name, if your request is approved, into its electronic data base of authorized interpreters and translators.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-117, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-118 Does the department maintain lists of certified/qualified interpreters and translators? (1) To enable contracted language agencies and department programs to locate and contact certified and/or qualified interpreters and translators, the department maintains lists of certified interpreters, certified translators, and qualified interpreters.

(2) These lists are published and distributed to department contracted language agencies, local department offices, LEP cluster coordinators and regional LEP coordinators.

(3) Any interpreter or translator who considers some information on the list to be confidential, such as mailing addresses and telephone numbers, can have that information removed by writing the Language Interpreter Services and Translations section at: P.O. Box 45820, Olympia, WA 98504-5820.

(4) These lists are updated quarterly to include newly certified and qualified interpreters/translators.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-118, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

EXAMINATIONS—ELIGIBILITY AND REGISTRATION

WAC 388-03-120 Who can take the department's interpreter/translator certification and screening examinations? (1) You are eligible to take any DSHS interpreter/translator certification or screening examination if you are:

(a) Currently employed by DSHS in a bilingual position;

(b) Applying for DSHS positions with bilingual requirements; or

(c) Currently working with DSHS programs through contracted language agencies; or

(d) Wishing to work with DSHS programs through contracted language agencies.

(2) There are no education and experience requirements for taking an examination. If you fit into one of the above listed categories, you are eligible to take an examination. However, you must remember that all written and oral tests administered by the department assess language proficiency at a professional interpreter/translator level.

(3) Screening tests will not be substituted for any certified language tests.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-120, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-122 What type of test is given by the department to certify and qualify interpreters and translators? (1) Certification examinations evaluate bilingual proficiency and interpreting/translation skills by comparing your proficiency and skill to minimum competency standards.

(2) Minimum competency standards are determined by the nature of the work involved and by experienced practicing court interpreters/translators, social services interpreters/translators, bilingual professionals, and language specialists.

(3) Five different types of tests are used to evaluate the bilingual proficiency and interpreting/translation skills of the following categories of people:

(a) Department employees and new recruits with bilingual assignments (employee test);

(b) Contracted interpreters providing oral interpretation services to department social service programs (social services interpreter test);

(c) Contracted translators providing written translation services to department social service programs (translator test);

(d) Medical interpreters providing interpretation services to department clients in medical settings (medical interpreter test); and

(e) Licensed agency personnel whose agency is providing contracted services to the department (licensed agency personnel test or LAP test).

(4) For a list of the specific types of examinations and languages tested (and other important testing information), see the most recent edition of the "professional language certification examination manual" published by the language interpreter services and translations section.

(5) Examinations for interpreters include written and oral components. Interpreters must pass the written test before they take the oral test.

(6) Examinations for DSHS bilingual employees usually include written and oral components and these can be taken on the same day.

(7) Examinations for translators include only a written translation component.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-122, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-123 What is a screening test? (1) A screening test is a test administered by the department to candidates who wish to become "qualified interpreters." Qualified interpreters, also referred to as noncertificated language interpreters, are individuals who speak a language other than the department's seven certificated languages, which are Cambodian, Chinese (either Cantonese or Mandarin), Korean, Laotian, Russian, Spanish and Vietnamese.

(2) The scope of a screening test is narrower than the scope of a certificated language examination. Screening tests assess a candidate's English and target language skills but the broader, more comprehensive type of assessment used in a certificated language examination is not possible because of limited department resources.

(3) Screening tests are only available for social services interpreters and medical interpreters.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-123, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-124 How do I register for a certification or screening examination if I am a department employee or an applicant for a bilingual position with the department? Normally, you can register over the telephone by calling the LIST section at (360) 664-6038. In the Yakima area, you should contact the DSHS Region 2 Personnel Office at:

104 North 3rd Avenue
Yakima, WA 98902
(509) 575-2008

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-124, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-125 How do I register for a certification or screening examination if I am not a department employee or an applicant for a bilingual position with the department? To register for a certification or screening examination you must follow these steps:

(1) Call the LIST office and request a copy of the examination manual, an examination application form and a schedule of upcoming test dates.

(2) Complete and return the examination application form with the required examination fee.

(3) Wait to receive your examination confirmation letter and pretest package from LIST. If you have not received your letter and package within fifteen working days after you mailed your application and payment, it is your responsibility to contact the LIST office. It is also your responsibility to inform LIST if your name, mailing address or telephone number changes.

(4) If you are only registering for the oral test or registering to retake a test, you do not need to call the LIST office. Simply complete the application form enclosed with your test score report letter and return it to LIST with the appropriate fee. A confirmation letter will be mailed to you when LIST receives your application and payment.

(5) Walk-in registration at a test site is not allowed under any circumstances.

(6) Telephone registration is allowed only for department employees and applicants for department bilingual positions.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-125, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-126 What does my pretest package contain? Your pretest package contains directions to the testing site and a study guide that includes sample test questions, sample oral exercises, a list of important terminology and a copy of the department's code of professional conduct.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-126, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-133 Are my examination fees refundable? (1) All examination fees are nonrefundable except:

(b) If you officially move out of Washington state before taking the examination, your examination fees can be refunded to you.

EXAMINATIONS—SCHEDULING

WAC 388-03-135 What requirements apply to the scheduling of interpreter and translator certification and screening examinations? (1) LIST schedules all department interpreter and translator examinations. Normally, testing for all languages is conducted once a month, statewide, from February through November. No testing is offered in December and January due to potential hazardous driving conditions. (See the examination manual for details.)

(2) If you require special arrangements for taking your test due to a disability, you should indicate this special need during your initial contact with LIST.

(3) LIST testing is currently offered at six statewide locations. (See the examination manual for details.) Testing site locations can change because of scheduling factors and varying demand for testing services. To stay informed, you should regularly consult LIST's master test schedule. Also, carefully read your test confirmation letter because it contains specific information on test date, test time, and test location.

(4) You must attend the test session(s) indicated in your registration confirmation letters. Except in bona fide emergency situations (see WAC 388-03-133(2)), you will not be allowed to reschedule your examination if you fail to attend your assigned test session(s). If you miss your scheduled examination for reasons other than an emergency, you may schedule another examination by reapplying to take the test and paying the appropriate testing fee.

(5) All requests for a change in testing schedule must be made within ten calendar days from the date your confirmation letter is sent; otherwise LIST considers your test appointment "confirmed" and your examination fees will not be refunded.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-135, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

(2009 Ed.)

EXAMINATIONS—ADMINISTRATION AND SCORING

WAC 388-03-138 What procedural requirements apply to administering certification and screening examinations? (1) The department has a "no-comment, no-return" examination policy. Once an examination is given, it becomes the property of the department and it will not be released to anyone, including test candidates.

(2) The department will not discuss specific examination content, including specific test questions or answers, with test candidates or any other party. Candidates can receive general critiques of their test performance if they submit a written request.

(3) Passing scores for the different examinations are established by the department based on bilingual fluency required by law, testing technicalities and the language needs of the department. Test scores will only be reported to candidates in writing. No score information will be released over the telephone to anyone.

(4) All interpreter and translator candidates must follow the test instructions. A failure to follow the instructions may result in an invalid test. Invalid tests will not be scored and, therefore, no test results will be reported to the candidate.

(5) If a candidate arrives late for the written test but decides to go ahead and take it, they will take the test during the remaining time allowed. The lost time resulting from their late arrival will not be made up.

(6) If a candidate arrives late for an oral test, they may lose their assigned time slot. A lost time slot resulting from a late arrival will not be made up.

(7) Tests will not be rescheduled because a candidate arrives late at a testing site except in the case of a bona fide emergency. If you are too late to take the test for some reason other than an emergency, you may schedule another examination by reapplying for the test and paying the appropriate fee.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-138, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-140 What if a test candidate is suspected of cheating? If a test administrator suspects cheating during an examination with reasonable evidence, the accused candidate may be declared ineligible for all interpreter and translator certification/qualification tests administered by the department.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-140, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-150 How does the department score my bilingual examinations? (1) Depending on the nature of the test or test section, the department uses either an objective or a holistic scoring method to evaluate your examination.

(2) Please consult the examination manual for the evaluation indicators used by the department for each test or sub-test.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-150, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

[Title 388 WAC—p. 225]

WAC 388-03-152 When does the department mail my test scores? Score report letters will be sent to candidates when they finish either portion (written or oral) of the test:

(1) For a written test, your scores should be available within two to four weeks from the date you took the examination.

(2) For oral tests, you should receive your scores within four to six weeks from the date you took the examination.

(3) If you wish your test scores mailed to a specific organization or individual, you must personally notify the department in writing and provide the name and mailing address of the organization or individual to whom your score should be sent.

(4) If you do not receive your score report letters within the suggested time periods, you should contact LIST at (360) 664-6037.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-152, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-154 Can I appeal my test scores? You have two months, from the date your test score letter is sent, to appeal your test score. Note:

(1) Your appeal must be submitted to the department in writing.

(2) Your appeal will not be honored if it is filed beyond the two-month appeal period.

(3) You will not be allowed to reschedule an examination while your score is being appealed.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-154, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-156 How many times can I retake a failed test? You can retake a failed examination until you pass it. However, if you fail a test three times, you must wait six months before taking it a fourth time and wait six months between each subsequent attempt. Each time you retake the test you must pay an examination fee.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-156, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

DECERTIFICATION/DISQUALIFICATION OF INTERPRETERS AND TRANSLATORS

WAC 388-03-170 Can the department deny or revoke my certification or qualification status? The department may deny or revoke either your certification or qualification status if it is proven that you committed one or both of the following acts:

(1) You have not been truthful when dealing with the department; or

(2) You have violated the department's code of professional conduct.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 2.43.010, 74.04.025, and 74.08.090. 00-06-014, § 388-03-170, filed 2/22/00, effective 3/24/00.]

WAC 388-03-172 What procedures must the department follow if it denies or revokes my certification or qualification? If it is alleged that you have not been truthful when dealing with the department or that you have violated the department's code of professional conduct, the department, before denying or revoking your certification or qualification, must:

(1) Immediately investigate the allegations made against you; and

(2) Within sixty days of receiving the allegation, determine if you committed the alleged violations; and

(3) Within five days of reaching its decision, give you written notification of the decision. The department's notification must be delivered to you by certified mail.

PURPOSE

WAC 388-06-0010 What is the purpose of this chapter? (1) The purpose of this chapter is to establish rules for background checks conducted by children's administration (CA), and the division of developmental disabilities (DDD) at the department of social and health services (DSHS). The department does background checks on individuals who are licensed, certified, contracted, or authorized to care for or have unsupervised access to children and to individuals with a developmental disability. Background checks are conducted to find and evaluate any history of criminal convictions and child abuse or neglect.

(2) This chapter also defines when the one hundred twenty-day provisional hire is allowed by DSHS. WAC 388-06-0500 through 388-06-0540 apply to all DSHS administrations.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.15.030, 01-18-025, § 388-06-0010, filed 8/27/01, effective 10/1/01.]

This section applies to all applicants and recipients of cash assistance under the state program funded under Title IV-A of the federal Social Security Act.

(2) As a condition of eligibility for assistance, a family member must assign to the state the right to collect and keep, subject to the limitation in subsection (3), any support owing to the family member or to any other person for whom the family member has applied for or is receiving assistance.

(3) Amounts assigned under this section may not exceed the lesser of the total amount of assistance paid to the family or the total amount of the assigned support obligation.

(4) When you receive medicaid or medical benefits, you assign your rights to medical support to the state. This applies to all recipients of medical assistance under the state program funded under Title XIX of the federal Social Security Act.

WAC 388-14A-2036 What does assigning my rights to support mean? (1) As a condition of eligibility for assistance, a family member must assign to the state the right to collect and keep, subject to the limitation in WAC 388-14A-2035(3), any support owing to the family member or to any other person for whom the family member has applied for or is receiving assistance.

(2) While your family receives assistance, all support collected is retained by the state to reimburse the total amount of assistance which has been paid to your family.

(3) After your family terminates from assistance, certain accrued arrears remain assigned to the state in accordance with the following rules:

(a) For assistance applications dated prior to October 1, 1997, you permanently assign to the state all rights to support which accrued before the application date and which will accrue prior to the date your family terminates from assistance.

(b) For assistance applications dated on or after October 1, 1997, and before October 1, 2000:

(i) You permanently assign to the state all rights to support which accrue while your family receives assistance; and

(ii) You temporarily assign to the state all rights to support which accrued before the application date, until October 1, 2000, or when your family terminates from assistance, whichever date is later. After this date, if any remaining arrears are collected by federal income tax refund offset, the state retains such amounts, up to the amount of unreimbursed assistance.

(c) For assistance applications dated on or after October 1, 2000:

(i) You permanently assign to the state all rights to support which accrue while the family receives assistance; and

(ii) You temporarily assign to the state all rights to support which accrued before the application date, until the date your family terminates from assistance. After this date, if any remaining arrears are collected by federal income tax refund offset, the state retains such amounts, up to the amount of unreimbursed assistance.

(4) When you assign your medical support rights to the state, you authorize the state on behalf of yourself and the children in your care to enforce the noncustodial parent's full duty to provide medical support.

WAC 388-14A-2037 What are permanently assigned arrears? Permanently assigned arrears accrue only under the following conditions:

(1) For those periods prior to the family receiving assistance, for assistance applications dated on or before September 30, 1997; and

(2) For those periods while a family receives assistance, for assistance applications dated at any time.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090. 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2037, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01.]

WAC 388-14A-2038 What are temporarily assigned arrears? Temporarily assigned arrears are:

(1) Not permanently assigned to the state;

(2) Collected and retained by the state up to the amount of unreimbursed assistance, if these arrears are collected by federal income tax refund offset at any time; and

(3) Collected and kept by the state, up to the cumulative amount of unreimbursed assistance:

(a) Until October 1, 2000 or until the date the family terminates from assistance, whichever date is later; or

(b) Only while the family receives assistance, for assistance periods beginning October 1, 2000 or later.

WAC 388-14A-2040 Do I have to cooperate with the division of child support in establishing or enforcing child support? (1) You must cooperate with the division of child support (DCS) when you receive public assistance unless the department determines there is good cause not to cooperate under WAC 388-422-0020. For purposes of this section and WAC 388-14A-2075, cooperating with DCS includes cooperating with those acting on behalf of DCS (its "representatives"), namely the prosecuting attorney, the attorney general, or a private attorney paid per RCW 74.20.350. In cases where paternity is at issue, the custodial parent (CP) of a child who receives assistance must cooperate whether or not the parent receives assistance.

(2) Cooperation means giving information, attending interviews, attending hearings, or taking actions to help DCS establish and collect child support. This information and assistance is necessary for DCS to:

(a) Identify and locate the responsible parent;

(b) Establish the paternity of the child(ren) on assistance in the CP's care; and

(c) Establish or collect support payments or resources such as property due the CP or the child(ren).

(3) The CP must also cooperate by sending to DCS any child support received by the CP while on assistance, as required by RCW 74.20A.275 (3)(c). If the client keeps these payments, known as retained support, the CP must sign an agreement to repay under RCW 74.20A.275, and the CP must honor that agreement.

(4) The cooperation requirements of subsections (1) and (2) above, but not subsection (3), apply to a recipient of medicaid-only assistance.

WAC 388-14A-2041 What happens if I don't cooperate with DCS? (1) There may be penalties, called sanctions, for not cooperating with the division of child support (DCS). These sanctions and the noncooperation process are described in WAC 388-14A-2075. You may be sanctioned if:

(a) You do not go to scheduled interviews and answer questions;

(b) There is credible evidence showing that you could have given the information but did not;

(c) You have been giving inconsistent or false information without a good reason; or

(d) You refuse to sign or honor a repayment agreement under WAC 388-14A-2040(3).

(2) You must be given the opportunity to swear you do not have the information.

(3) You cannot be sanctioned because you provided information on a possible parent who was then excluded by genetic testing. In this event you must continue to cooperate in naming other possible parents and taking part in any resulting genetic testing.

(4) You may not be able to help DCS if you do not know, do not possess, or cannot reasonably obtain the requested information. To avoid a sanction, you must, under penalty of perjury, swear or attest to your lack of information in an interview held by DCS or its representative.

(5) If you fear that cooperation may cause harm to you or your children, you may claim good cause not to cooperate.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090, 26.23.035, 74.20A.310. 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2041, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01. Formerly WAC 388-14-202.]

WAC 388-14A-2045 What can I do if I am afraid that cooperating with the division of child support will be harmful to me or to my children? (1) If a custodial parent (CP) receiving public assistance fears that the establishment or enforcement of support may result in harm to the CP or the children, the CP may be excused from the cooperation requirements. You can claim good cause not to cooperate under WAC 388-422-0020. Go to the community services office (CSO) to claim good cause.

(2) If a CP who is not receiving public assistance fears that the establishment or enforcement of support may result in harm to the CP or the children, the CP should tell the division of child support (DCS) that family violence is an issue in the case, so that DCS may take appropriate action.

[Title 388 WAC—p. 246]

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090. 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2045, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01.]

WAC 388-14A-2050 Who decides if I have good cause not to cooperate? (1) The community services office (CSO) decides whether you have good cause not to cooperate with the division of child support (DCS).

(2) When you make a claim of good cause not to cooperate, DCS does not take any action on the case while the CSO is reviewing your good cause claim.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090. 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2050, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01.]

WAC 388-14A-2060 Are there different kinds of good cause for not cooperating with DCS? (1) For custodial parents receiving public assistance, there are two kinds of good cause granted by the community services office (CSO):

(a) When the CSO determines that support establishment or enforcement cannot proceed at all because of a risk of danger to the custodial parent (CP) or children, this is called good cause level A.

(b) When the CSO determines that support establishment or enforcement can proceed without input from the CP, but that good cause exists for the CP not to cooperate with DCS, this is called good cause level B.

(2) See WAC 388-422-0020 for how the CSO grants good cause.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090. 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2060, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01.]

WAC 388-14A-2065 Does the division of child support provide support enforcement services if the CSO decides I have "good cause level A"? If the community services office (CSO) grants you good cause level A:

(1) The division of child support (DCS) closes the case and does not take any action to establish or enforce support for the children covered by the good cause finding.

(2) If the noncustodial parent (NCP) applies for paternity establishment or support enforcement services, DCS denies the NCP's application for services.

(3) If the community services office grants good cause level A after the case has been referred to the county prosecuting attorney or attorney general's office, DCS advises the prosecutor or attorney general's office of the good cause finding.

(4) When DCS advises the prosecutor or attorney general's office that good cause level A applies in a case, DCS requests that the prosecutor or attorney general's office dismiss any action that has been filed and cease all activities to establish or enforce a child support obligation for the children covered by the good cause finding.

WAC 388-14A-2070 Does the division of child support provide support enforcement services if the CSO determines I have "good cause level B"? If the community services office (CSO) grants you good cause level B, the division of child support provides support enforcement services without requiring the custodial parent (CP) to provide information or cooperate with DCS in any way.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090, 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2070, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01.]

WAC 388-14A-2075 What happens if the division of child support determines that I am not cooperating? (1) When the division of child support (DCS) or its representatives believe you are not cooperating as defined in WAC 388-14A-2040, DCS sends a notice to you and to the community service office (CSO) stating the noncooperation and explaining the following:

(a) How the noncooperation was determined, including what actions were required;

(b) What actions you must take to resume cooperation;

(c) That this notice was sent to the CSO;

(d) That you may contact the CSO immediately if you disagree with the notice, need help in order to cooperate, or believe the actions required are unreasonable; and

(e) That the CSO may sanction you by either reducing or terminating the grant.

(2) The CSO sends a notice of planned action to you as provided by WAC 388-472-0005 (1)(i).

(3) Either the notice of alleged noncooperation or the CSO's notice of planned action may serve as the basis for a sanction.

(4) If the noncooperation was due to missing an interview without reasonable excuse, you will be considered to be cooperating when you appear for a rescheduled interview and either provide information or attest to the lack of information. DCS or its representative must reschedule the interview within seven business days from the date you contact them to reschedule an interview.

(5) If the noncooperation was due to not taking a required action, cooperation resumes when you take that action.

(6) There is no hearing right for a notice of noncooperation, but you can request a hearing on the sanction imposed by the CSO.

WAC 388-14A-2080 Once DCS opens a support enforcement case, under what circumstances can it be closed? Once the division of child support (DCS) starts providing support enforcement services under RCW 26.23.045 and chapter 74.20 RCW, the case must remain open, unless DCS determines that:

(1) There is no current support order, and the support debt owed by the noncustodial parent (NCP) is less than five hundred dollars, or cannot be enforced under Washington law;

(2) The NCP or putative (alleged) father is dead with no assets, income or estate available for collection;

(3) The NCP has no assets or income available for collection and is not able to provide support during the child's minority because of being:

(a) Institutionalized in a psychiatric facility;

(b) Incarcerated without possibility of parole; or

(c) Medically verified as totally and permanently disabled with no evidence of ability to provide support.

(4) The applicant, agency or recipient of nonassistance services submits a written request for closure, and there is no current assignment of medical or support rights;

(5) DCS has enough information to use an automated locate system, and has not been able to locate the NCP after three years of diligent efforts;

(6) DCS does not have enough information to use an automated locate system, and has not been able to locate the NCP after one year of diligent efforts;

(7) DCS is unable to contact the applicant, agency or recipient of services for at least sixty days;

(8) DCS documents failure to cooperate by the custodial parent (CP) or the initiating jurisdiction, and that cooperation is essential for the next step in enforcement;

(9) DCS cannot obtain a paternity order because:

(a) The putative father is dead;

(b) Genetic testing has excluded all putative fathers;

(c) The child is at least eighteen years old;

(d) DCS, a court of competent jurisdiction or an administrative hearing determines that establishing paternity would not be in the best interests of the child in a case involving incest, rape, or pending adoption; or

(e) The biological father is unknown and cannot be identified after diligent efforts, including at least one interview by DCS or its representative with the recipient of support enforcement services.

(10) DCS, a court of competent jurisdiction or an administrative hearing determines that the recipient of services has wrongfully deprived the NCP of physical custody of the child as provided in WAC 388-14A-3370(3);

(11) DCS, the department of social and health services, a court of competent jurisdiction or an administrative hearing determines that action to establish or enforce a support obligation cannot occur without a risk of harm to the child or the CP;

(12) DCS has provided locate-only services in response to a request for state parent locator services (SPLS);

(13) The NCP is a citizen and resident of a foreign country, and:

(a) NCP has no assets which can be reached by DCS; and

(b) The country where NCP resides does not provide reciprocity in child support matters.

(14) The child is incarcerated or confined to a juvenile rehabilitation facility for a period of ninety days or more; or

(15) Any other circumstances exist which would allow closure under 45 C.F.R. 303.11 or any other federal statute or regulation.

WAC 388-14A-2085 Under what circumstances may DCS deny a request to close a support enforcement case?

(1) The division of child support (DCS) may deny a request to close a support enforcement case when:

(a) There is a current assignment of support or medical rights on behalf of the children in the case;

(b) There is accrued debt under a support order which has been assigned to the state;

(c) Support or medical rights on behalf of the children have previously been assigned to the state;

(d) The person who requests closure is not the recipient of support enforcement services; or

(e) A superior court order requires payments to the Washington state support registry (WSSR).

(2) If there is no current assignment of support or medical rights, DCS may close the portion of the case which is owed to the custodial parent (CP), but if there is accrued debt under a support order which has been assigned to the state, DCS keeps that portion of the case open.

(3) If a superior court order specifies that the noncustodial parent (NCP) must make payments to the WSSR, but the CP does not want support enforcement services, DCS keeps the case open as a payment services only (PSO) case, which means that:

(a) DCS provides payment processing and records maintenance, and

(b) DCS does not provide enforcement services.

WAC 388-14A-2090 Who is mailed notice of DCS' intent to close a case? (1) Sixty days before closing a case the division of child support (DCS) sends a notice of intent to close, advising the parties why DCS is closing the case.

(a) DCS does not send a notice when closing a case under WAC 388-14A-2080 (11) or (12).

(b) DCS does not provide sixty days' prior notice when closing a case under WAC 388-14A-2080(4).

(2) DCS mails a notice by regular mail to the last known address of the custodial parent (CP) and the noncustodial parent.

(3) In an interstate case, DCS mails the notice to the CP by regular mail in care of the other state's child support agency.

(4) If DCS is closing an interstate case because of noncooperation by the initiating jurisdiction, DCS also mails the notice to the other state's child support agency.

WAC 388-14A-2095 What if I don't agree with the case closure notice? (1) Only the person who applied for support enforcement services, also known as the recipient of services, may request a hearing to challenge closure of a case.

(2) If the recipient of services requests a hearing, the other party may participate in the hearing.

(3) The closure of a child support case does not stop the custodial parent or noncustodial parent from filing an application for support enforcement services in the future, but the reason for closure may affect whether the division of child support will open a new case.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090, 26.23.035, 34.05.220(1), 74.20A.-310, 45 CFR 303.11, 45 CFR 303.100. 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2095, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01. Formerly WAC 388-14-423.]

WAC 388-14A-2097 What happens to payments that come in after a case is closed? After support enforcement services are terminated, DCS returns support money to the noncustodial parent except if the case remains open as a payment services only (PSO) case as described in WAC 388-14A-2000(1).

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090, 26.23.035, 34.05.220(1), 74.20A.-310, 45 CFR 303.11, 45 CFR 303.100. 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2097, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01. Formerly WAC 388-14-424.]

WAC 388-14A-2099 When does DCS file a satisfaction of judgment with the superior court? (1) When the division of child support (DCS) determines that a support obligation, established by order of a superior court of this state, has been satisfied or is no longer legally enforceable, DCS sends a notice of its intent to file a satisfaction of judgment to the last known address of the payee under the order and to the noncustodial parent (NCP).

(2) DCS includes the following provisions in the notice:

(a) A statement of the facts DCS relied on in making the determination; and

(b) A statement that the payee has twenty days from the date of the notice, to:

(i) Object and request a conference board under WAC 388-14A-6400; or

(ii) Initiate an action to obtain a judgment from the court that entered the order.

(3) If the conference board or the court determines the support obligation or a support debt still exists, DCS withdraws the notice and makes reasonable efforts to enforce and collect the remaining support debt. If the conference board or court determines that a debt does not exist, DCS files a satisfaction of judgment with the clerk of superior court in which the order was entered.

(4) DCS determines that a support obligation is satisfied or is no longer legally enforceable when the obligation to pay current and future support terminates under the order, and:

(a) The NCP has made all payments owed under the support order;

(b) The support debt is no longer enforceable due to the operation of the statute of limitations;

(c) DCS determines the NCP has a valid defense to payment of the debt under Washington law; or

(d) Under RCW 74.20A.220, DCS determines the debt is uncollectible, grants a total or partial charge-off, or accepts an offer to compromise a disputed debt.

(2) DCS discloses information and records only to a person or entity listed in this section or in RCW 26.23.120, and only for a specific purpose allowed by state or federal law. See WAC 388-14A-7500 regarding disclosure of personal information in the context of referrals under the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act (UIFSA).

(3) DCS may disclose information to:

(a) The person who is the subject of the information or records, unless the information or records are exempt under RCW 42.17.310;

(b) Local, state, and federal government agencies for support enforcement and related purposes;

(c) A party to a judicial proceeding or a hearing under chapter 34.05 RCW, if the superior court judge or administrative law judge (ALJ) enters an order to disclose. The judge or presiding officer must base the order on a written finding that the need for the information outweighs any reason for maintaining privacy and confidentiality;

(d) A party under contract with DCS, including a federally recognized Indian tribe, if disclosure is for support enforcement and related purposes;

(e) A person or entity, including a federally recognized Indian tribe, when disclosure is necessary to the administration of the child support program or the performance of DCS functions and duties under state and federal law;

(f) A person, representative, or entity if the person who is the subject of the information and records consents, in writing, to disclosure;

(g) The office of administrative hearings or the office of appeals for administration of the hearing process under chapter 34.05 RCW. The ALJ or review judge must:

(i) Not include the address of either party in an administrative order, or disclose a party's address to the other party;

(ii) State in support orders that the address is known by the Washington state support registry; and

(iii) Inform the parties they may obtain the address by submitting a request for disclosure to DCS under WAC 388-14A-2110(2).

(4) DCS may publish information about a noncustodial parent (NCP) for locate and enforcement purposes.

(5) WAC 388-14A-2114(1) sets out the rules for disclosure of address, employment or other information regarding the custodial parent (CP) or the children in response to a public disclosure request.

(6) WAC 388-14A-2114(2) sets out the rules for disclosure of address, employment or other information regarding the NCP in response to a public disclosure request.

(7) DCS may disclose the Social Security Number of a dependent child to the noncustodial parent (NCP) to enable the NCP to claim the dependency exemption as authorized by the Internal Revenue Service.

(8) DCS may disclose financial records of an individual obtained from a financial institution only for the purpose of, and to the extent necessary, to establish, modify, or enforce a child support obligation of that individual.

(9) Except as provided elsewhere in chapter 388-14A WAC, chapter 388-01 WAC governs the process of requesting and disclosing information and records.

(10) DCS must take timely action on requests for disclosure. DCS must respond in writing within five working days of receipt of the request.

(11) If a child is receiving foster care services, the parent(s) must contact their local community services office for disclosure of the child's address information.

(12) The rules of confidentiality and penalties for misuse of information and reports that apply to a IV-D agency employee, also apply to a person who receives information under this section.

(13) Nothing in these rules:

(a) Prevents DCS from disclosing information and records when such disclosure is necessary to the performance of its duties and functions as provided by state and federal law;

(b) Requires DCS to disclose information and records obtained from a confidential source.

(14) DCS cannot provide copies of the confidential information form contained in court orders. You must go to court to get access to the confidential information form. DCS may disclose information contained within the confidential information form if disclosure is authorized under RCW 26.23.120, chapter 388-01 WAC, or chapter 388-14A WAC.

(15) DCS may provide a Support Order Summary to the parties to an administrative support order under WAC 388-14A-2116.

WAC 388-14A-2107 Are there special rules for requests for whereabouts information? (1) Address information is sometimes referred to as whereabouts information, meaning information giving someone's home, work, school or day care location.

(2) The last known address of, or employment information about, a party to a court or administrative order for, or a proceeding involving, child support may be given to another party to the order. The party receiving the information may only use the information to establish, enforce, or modify a support order.

(3) The last known address of the natural or adoptive children may be given to a parent having a court order granting that parent visitation rights with, legal custody of or residential time with, the parent's natural or adoptive children. The parent may only use this information to enforce the terms of the court order.

(4) The last known address of a party to an order for child support may be given to another party to the order. The party receiving the information may only use the information to establish a parenting plan for the children covered by the support order.

(5) Disclosure of whereabouts information is subject to the provisions of WAC 388-14A-2114.

(6) Requests from law enforcement agencies are subject to the provisions of RCW 74.04.062.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 26.23.120, 74.08.090. 02-07-091, § 388-14A-2107, filed 3/19/02, effective 4/19/02.]

WAC 388-14A-2110 How do I make a request for disclosure of DCS public records? (1) You can make a request for disclosure of most DCS records either orally or in writing. If you are requesting whereabouts information, see subsection (2).

(2) You must submit a request for disclosure of a parent or child's address in writing or in person, with satisfactory evidence of identity, at any office of the division of child support (DCS).

(a) If the request is made by your attorney, DCS may waive the provisions regarding submission in person with satisfactory evidence of identity.

(b) If you are unable to appear at a DCS office in person, DCS may waive the provision requiring submission in person if you submit a notarized request for disclosure. DCS can provide a form which contains all the required elements for an address disclosure request.

(c) The person seeking disclosure must attach the following to a request for disclosure of an address:

(i) A copy of the superior court order on which the request is based. DCS waives this provision if DCS has a true copy of the order on file;

(ii) A sworn statement by the individual that the order has not been modified; and

(iii) A statement explaining the purpose of the request and how the requestor intends to use the information.

WAC 388-14A-2112 When I make a public disclosure request, do I get the information or records immediately? (1) The division of child support (DCS) must respond to a public disclosure request within five days, under RCW 26.23.120 and WAC 388-01-090.

(2) "Respond" can mean:

(a) Providing the requested documents;

(b) Acknowledging receipt of the request and giving an estimate of how long it will take to provide copies;

(c) Requesting copy and postage fees;

(d) Requesting that you clarify your request if we are not sure what you are asking for;

(e) Notifying you of any other necessary procedural steps, such as notice to the other party or to a third party; or

(f) Denying your request according to WAC 388-01-090(3).

(3) When someone requests address or other whereabouts information, DCS first gives notice as provided in WAC 388-14A-2114, 388-14A-2120, and 388-14A-2115.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 26.23.120, 74.08.090, 02-07-091, § 388-14A-2112, filed 3/19/02, effective 4/19/02.]

WAC 388-14A-2114 Does DCS give notice to anyone before releasing information pursuant to a public disclosure request? (1) Prior to disclosing the address of the custodial parent (CP) or a child, DCS mails a notice to the last known address of the CP, except as provided under WAC 388-14A-2115. The notice advises the CP that:

(a) A request for disclosure has been made;

(b) DCS intends to disclose the address after thirty days from the date of the notice, unless:

(i) DCS receives a copy of an order which:

(A) Enjoins disclosure of the address;

(B) Restricts the noncustodial parent's right to contact or visit the CP or a child by imposing conditions to protect the CP or the child from harm, including, but not limited to, temporary orders for protection under chapter 26.50 RCW; or

(C) States that the health, safety, or liberty of the CP or child would be unreasonably put at risk by disclosure of address or other identifying information; or

(ii) The CP requests an administrative hearing which ultimately results in a decision that release of the address is reasonably anticipated to result in harm to the CP or a dependent child.

(c) In any hearing under this section, either party may participate in the proceeding by telephone, from any prearranged location. The administrative law judge (ALJ) must not disclose the location and phone number.

(2) DCS does not provide notice to the noncustodial parent (NCP) before disclosing NCP's address information to the CP unless NCP has requested prior notice under WAC 388-14A-2120.

(3) Before releasing confidential information concerning someone who is not a party to the case, DCS gives notice to that person according to WAC 388-01-140.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 26.23.120, 74.08.090, 02-07-091, § 388-14A-2114, filed 3/19/02, effective 4/19/02.]

WAC 388-14A-2115 Can the custodial parent waive notice of a request for address? (1) Any party to a support order may authorize the division of child support (DCS) to release his or her address to the other party with no prior notice.

(2) An authorization to release an address must be:

(a) In writing;

(b) Notarized; and

(c) Effective for any period designated by the party up to three years, or until DCS is notified in writing that the party has revoked the authorizations, whichever is sooner.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 26.23.120, 74.08.090, 02-07-091, § 388-14A-2115, filed 3/19/02, effective 4/19/02; 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2115, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01. Formerly WAC 388-14-030, 388-14-035, and 388-14-045.]

WAC 388-14A-2116 How do I request a support order summary from DCS? (1) If you are a party to an administrative support order, you may request a support order summary from the division of child support (DCS). The support order summary includes the following information:

(a) The noncustodial parent's residential address, employer's address, Social Security number; date of birth, and driver's license number; and

(b) The custodial parent's Social Security number.

(2) DCS provides the most current information DCS has available in the support order summary.

(3) DCS must provide notice to the noncustodial parent (NCP) prior to releasing his or her residential and employer address information if the NCP has requested that he or she be provided notice before DCS releases the address information, as provided in WAC 388-14A-2120.

(4) Nonaddress information contained in the Support Order Summary may be released without notice to the other party to the support order.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 26.23.120, 74.08.090, 02-07-091, § 388-14A-2116, filed 3/19/02, effective 4/19/02.]

WAC 388-14A-2120 Can the noncustodial parent request notice before DCS releases address information to the custodial parent? (1) The notice and hearing process in WAC 388-14A-2114 and 388-14A-2140 do not apply to requests for address information of the noncustodial parent (NCP).

(2) The NCP may request notice before whereabouts info is released to the custodial parent by notifying the division of child support (DCS), either orally or in writing.

(3) Once an NCP has submitted a request for notice, DCS follows the notice and hearing provisions in WAC 388-14A-2114 and 388-14A-2140 when it receives a request for address information.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 26.23.120, 74.08.090, 02-07-091, § 388-14A-2120, filed 3/19/02, effective 4/19/02; 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2120, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01. Formerly WAC 388-14-030 and 388-14-050.]

WAC 388-14A-2125 Can DCS ever release address information without notice? (1) The division of child support (DCS) does not follow the notice and hearing process of WAC 388-14A-2114 and 388-14A-2140 if:

(a) Disclosure is denied under WAC 388-14A-2135;

(b) The CP has provided a written release as provided in WAC 388-14A-2115;

(c) The NCP has not filed a written request as provided in WAC 388-14A-2120; or

(d) A court order requires DCS to release the address information.

(2) DCS is not required to mail a notice prior to disclosure if the requesting party presents a facially valid warrant or a judicial finding that:

(a) The other party will likely flee to avoid service of process; or

(b) The other party will likely flee and that:

(i) A court of competent jurisdiction of this state or another state has entered an order giving legal and physical custody of a child whose address is requested to the requesting party; and

(ii) The custody order has not been altered, changed, modified, superseded, or dismissed; and

(iii) A child was taken or enticed from the address requesting party's physical custody without that party's consent; and

(iv) The address requesting party has not subsequently assented to being deprived of physical custody of the children; and

(v) The address requesting party is making reasonable efforts to regain physical custody of the child.

WAC 388-14A-2130 What if I object to the release of my address? When a party objects to a notice mailed under WAC 388-14A-2114, the division of child support may:

(1) Deny disclosure if the objection provides information based on which DCS would have denied disclosure under WAC 388-14A-2135; or

(2) Request that the office of administrative hearings (OAH) set the case for an administrative hearing under WAC 388-14A-2140.

(2009 Ed.)

WAC 388-14A-2135 When might DCS deny a request for address information without going through the notice and hearing process? (1) The division of child support (DCS) denies a request for address information without going through the notice process under WAC 388-14A-2114 if:

(a) The department has determined, under WAC 388-422-0020, that the custodial parent (CP) has good cause for refusing to cooperate;

(b) The order, on which the request is based, restricts or limits the address requesting party's right to contact or visit the other party or the child by imposing conditions to protect the party or the child from harm;

(c) An order has been entered finding that the health, safety, or liberty of a party or child would be unreasonably put at risk by the disclosure of the information; or

(d) DCS has information which gives DCS reason to believe that release of the address may result in physical or emotional harm to the other party or to the children.

(2) Whenever DCS denies a request for disclosure under subsection (1) of this section, DCS notifies the nonrequesting party that disclosure of the address was requested and was denied.

WAC 388-14A-2140 What happens at a hearing on objection to disclosure of address information? In any administrative hearing requested under WAC 388-14A-2114 (1)(b)(ii):

(1) The parent requesting address disclosure and the other party to the order or action are independent parties in the hearing.

(2) The office of administrative hearings (OAH) sets the hearing as a phone hearing;

(3) Each party must provide OAH with a telephone number where the party can be reached for the hearing, at some time before the scheduled hearing.

(4) The administrative law judge (ALJ) must not disclose the location or phone number from which either party is appearing.

(5) The ALJ may, upon good cause shown, convert the hearing to an in-person hearing for the party requesting disclosure.

(6) The initial burden of proof is on the party requesting address disclosure, to show that the address request is for a purpose for which chapter 388-14A WAC specifically permits disclosure.

(7) If the party requesting address disclosure:

(a) Fails to meet this burden, the ALJ enters an order denying the address request;

(b) Establishes that the address was requested for a purpose for which disclosure is permitted, the other party must then show that it is reasonable to anticipate that physical or emotional harm to the party or a child will result from release of the address. The party objecting to address release:

[Title 388 WAC—p. 251]

(i) May show reasonable fear of harm by any form of evidence admissible under chapter 34.05 RCW; and

(ii) Is not required to provide supporting evidence required by WAC 388-422-0020, to establish a reasonable fear of harm.

(8) If either party fails to appear, the ALJ enters an order on default:

(a) If the party objecting to disclosure fails to appear, the order requires DCS to release the address unless the record contains documentary evidence which provides the basis for a finding that physical or emotional harm will likely result from release of the address;

(b) If the address requesting party fails to appear, the default order denies the request for address information.

(9) OAH arranges the attendance of the parties by telephone or other procedure showing due regard for the safety of the parties and the children.

(10) DCS issues a final response to the disclosure request within five working days of the exhaustion of administrative remedies, including any late appeal periods.

(11) If the custodial parent (CP) requests a hearing under this section in response to a department initiated review of the support order for modification, both parties to the support order are independent parties in the address disclosure hearing.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 26.23.120, 74.08.090, 02-07-091, § 388-14A-2140, filed 3/19/02, effective 4/19/02.]

WAC 388-14A-2150 How much does it cost to get copies of DCS records? (1) WAC 388-01-080 authorizes the division of child support (DCS) to charge copying and postage costs for responses to public disclosure.

(2) DCS charges fifteen cents per page for copies.

(3) DCS may waive copy fees in appropriate circumstances.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090, 34.05.310 (4)(d), 03-20-072, § 388-14A-2150, filed 9/29/03, effective 10/30/03. Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090, 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2150, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01. Formerly WAC 388-14-030.]

WAC 388-14A-2155 Can I appeal a denial of public disclosure by the division of child support? (1) If the division of child support (DCS) denies a request for public disclosure, you may file an appeal with DCS Public Disclosure Appeals, P.O. Box 9162, Olympia WA 98507-9162.

(2) If DCS denies your appeal, you may pursue the other options listed in WAC 388-01-130.

WAC 388-14A-2160 If my information is confidential, can DCS report me to a credit bureau? (1) When a consumer reporting agency, sometimes called a credit bureau, requests information regarding the amount of overdue support owed by a noncustodial parent (NCP), the division of child support (DCS) provides this information.

(2) In addition to responding to requests for information by consumer reporting agencies, DCS reports to those agencies information regarding overdue support owed by an NCP.

[Title 388 WAC—p. 252]

DCS then updates the information on a regular basis, even after the NCP brings the account current.

(3) Before releasing information to the consumer reporting agency, DCS sends a written notice concerning the proposed release of the information to the NCP's last known address.

(4) The notice gives the NCP ten days from the date of the notice to request a conference board to contest the accuracy of the information. If the NCP requests a conference board, DCS does not release the information until a conference board decision has been issued.

(5) A noncustodial parent (NCP) who disagrees with the information supplied by DCS to a consumer reporting agency may file a notice of dispute under the federal Fair Credit Reporting Act, 15 USC 1681.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 26.23.120, 74.08.090, 74.20A.310, 06-06-076, § 388-14A-2160, filed 2/28/06, effective 3/31/06. Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090, 01-03-089, § 388-14A-2160, filed 1/17/01, effective 2/17/01. Formerly WAC 388-14-030 and 388-14-410.]

WAC 388-14A-2200 When does DCS charge a twenty-five dollar annual fee on a child support case? (1) Under RCW 74.20.040, the division of child support (DCS) must impose an annual fee of twenty-five dollars for each case in which:

(a) The custodial parent (CP) has never received TANF, Tribal TANF or AFDC as the custodian of minor children; and

(b) DCS has collected and disbursed to the CP at least five hundred dollars on the case during that federal fiscal year. The federal fiscal year runs from October 1 through September 30.

(2) A custodial parent who has children with more than one noncustodial parent (NCP) may be assessed a separate twenty-five dollar fee for each case in which DCS collects at least five hundred dollars in a federal fiscal year.

(3) If DCS has already collected the twenty-five dollar annual fee on a Washington state case and the CP begins receiving TANF or Tribal TANF during the same federal fiscal year, DCS is not required to refund or cancel the fee.

(4) If the CP with a Washington case has paid a fee to another state during the same federal fiscal year, the CP is still subject to the fee in Washington if the Washington case qualifies for a fee under subsection (1) above.

(5) A CP has the burden of proving prior receipt of TANF, Tribal TANF or AFDC in any jurisdiction, which would exempt the CP from paying the annual fee.

(a) DCS may impose the fee until the CP provides proof of prior receipt of TANF, Tribal TANF or AFDC.

(b) DCS does not refund any fee which has been retained by the state, but stops charging the fee immediately when the CP provides proof that the CP is not subject to the fee.

(6) The fee is retained from support payments collected, which means that the NCP gets credit against the child support obligation for the total amount of the payment.

[Statutory Authority: 2007 c 143, §§ 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, and 9, 08-12-029, § 388-14A-2200, filed 5/29/08, effective 7/1/08.]

(2009 Ed.)

WAC 388-14A-2205 How can a custodial parent be excused from payment of the annual fee? (1) WAC 388-14A-2200 describes the cases that qualify for the twenty five dollar annual fee.

(2) A custodial parent (CP) seeking to be excused from payment of the fee may provide proof that he or she is exempt from the fee because he or she received TANF, Tribal TANF or AFDC from another state or tribe.

(3) A CP may request a conference board under WAC 388-14A-6400 to request a waiver of the fee for hardship reasons. The CP must provide proof that hardship in the CP's household justifies waiver of the fee.

(4) Payment of the annual fee in another state does not excuse the CP from the annual fee charged for a Washington case.

(5) If the CP seeks a waiver from payment of the annual fee during a year when the fee has already been collected, the fee for that year is not refunded, but DCS waives collection of the fee for future years unless the waiver is overturned at a later time.

[Statutory Authority: 2007 c 143, §§ 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, and 9. 08-12-029, § 388-14A-2205, filed 5/29/08, effective 7/1/08.]

PART C - HOW THE DIVISION OF CHILD SUPPORT DECIDES HOW MUCH CHILD SUPPORT SOMEONE SHOULD PAY

WAC 388-14A-3100 How does the division of child support establish a child support obligation when there is no child support order? (1) When there is no order setting the amount of child support a noncustodial parent (NCP) should pay, the division of child support (DCS) serves a support establishment notice on the NCP and the custodial parent. A support establishment notice is an administrative notice that can become an enforceable order for support if nobody requests a hearing on the notice.

(2) DCS may serve a support establishment notice when there is no order that:

(a) Establishes the noncustodial parent's support obligation for the child(ren) named in the notice; or

(b) Specifically relieves the noncustodial parent of a support obligation for the child(ren) named in the notice.

(3) Whether support is based upon an administrative order or a court order, DCS may serve a support establishment notice when the parties to a paternity order subsequently marry each other and then separate, or parties to a decree of dissolution remarry each other and then separate. The remaining provisions of the paternity order or the decree of dissolution, including provisions establishing paternity, remain in effect.

(4) Depending on the legal relationship between the NCP and the child for whom support is being set, DCS serves one of the following support establishment notices:

(a) Notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR), see WAC 388-14A-3115. This notice is used when the NCP is either the mother or the legal father of the child. WAC 388-14A-3102 describes when DCS uses a NFFR to set the support obligation of a father who has signed an acknowledgment or affidavit of paternity.

(b) Notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR), see WAC 388-14A-3120. This notice is used when the NCP was not married to the mother but has filed an affidavit or acknowledgment of paternity. WAC 388-14A-3102 describes when DCS uses a NFPR to set the support obligation of a father who has signed an acknowledgment or affidavit of paternity.

(c) Notice and finding of medical responsibility (NFMR), see WAC 388-14A-3125. This notice is used when DCS seeks to set only a medical support obligation instead of a monetary child support obligation.

WAC 388-14A-3102 When the parents have signed an acknowledgment or affidavit of paternity, which support establishment notice does the division of child support serve on the noncustodial parent? (1) When the parents of a child are not married, they may sign an affidavit of paternity, also called an acknowledgment of paternity. The legal effect of the affidavit or acknowledgment depends on when it is filed, in what state it is filed, and whether both parents were over age eighteen when the affidavit was signed.

(2) For affidavits or acknowledgments filed on or before July 1, 1997 with the center for health statistics in the state of Washington, the division of child support (DCS) serves a notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR). See WAC 388-14A-3120.

(3) For affidavits or acknowledgments filed after July 1, 1997 with the center for health statistics in the state of Washington, DCS serves a notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR) under WAC 388-14A-3115, because the affidavit or acknowledgment has become a conclusive presumption of paternity under RCW 26.26.320.

(4) For acknowledgments or affidavits filed with the vital records agency of another state, DCS determines whether to serve a NFFR or NFPR depending on the laws of the state where the affidavit is filed.

(5) DCS relies on the acknowledgment or affidavit, even if the mother or father were not yet eighteen years of age at the time they signed or filed the acknowledgment or affidavit, as provided in RCW 26.26.315(4).

(6) If the mother was married at the time of the child's birth, but not to the man acknowledging paternity, the man to whom she was married must also have signed and filed a denial of paternity within ten days of the child's birth.

(7) If the acknowledgment or affidavit is legally deficient in any way, DCS may refer the case for paternity establishment in the superior court.

(8) If the mother is the noncustodial parent, DCS serves a NFFR.

WAC 388-14A-3105 How does the division of child support serve support establishment notices? The division of child support (DCS) serves a notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR), notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR), or notice and finding of medical responsibility (NFMR) in the following manner:

- (1) On the noncustodial parent:
 - (a) By certified mail, return receipt requested; or
 - (b) By personal service.
- (2) On the custodial parent:
 - (a) By first class mail to the last known address, if the custodial parent is the one who applied for services.
 - (b) In the same manner as on the noncustodial parent, if the custodial parent is not the one who applied for services.

[Statutory Authority: RCW 34.05.220(1), 74.08.090, 74.20A.055, 74.20A.-056, 00-15-016 and 00-20-022, § 388-14A-3105, filed 7/10/00 and 9/25/00, effective 11/6/00.]

WAC 388-14A-3110 When can a support establishment notice become a final order? (1) The notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR), notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR), or notice and finding of medical responsibility (NFMR) becomes a final, enforceable order if neither the custodial parent or the noncustodial parent objects and requests a timely hearing on the notice. An objection is also called a hearing request.

(2) If a timely objection is filed, the division of child support (DCS) cannot enforce the terms of the notice until a final order as defined in this section is entered.

(3) To be timely, the noncustodial parent must object within the following time limits:

- (a) Within twenty days of service, if the noncustodial parent was served in Washington state.
- (b) Within sixty days of service, if the noncustodial parent was served outside of Washington state.
- (4) To be timely, the custodial parent must object within twenty days of service.
- (5) An objection to a support establishment notice is a request for hearing on the notice.

(6) The effective date of the hearing request is the date the division of child support (DCS) receives the request for hearing.

(7) When an NFPR is served, the order will not become a final order if either parent requests genetic testing under WAC 388-14A-3120(14) within the following time limits:

- (a) The noncustodial parent must request genetic testing within twenty days of service, if the noncustodial parent was served in Washington state.
- (b) The noncustodial parent must request genetic testing within sixty days of service, if the noncustodial parent was served outside of Washington state.
- (c) The custodial parent must request genetic testing within twenty days of service of the notice.

(8) The noncustodial parent or custodial parent must make the hearing request or request for genetic testing, either in writing or orally, at any DCS office. See WAC 388-14A-6100 regarding oral requests for hearing.

(9) After a timely request for hearing, the final order is one of the following, whichever occurs latest:

- (a) An agreed settlement or consent order under WAC 388-14A-3600;

(b) An initial decision as defined in WAC 388-14A-6105 and further described in WAC 388-14A-6110, for which twenty-one days have passed and no party has filed a petition for review (this includes an order of default if neither party appears for hearing); or

(c) A final order as defined in WAC 388-14A-6105 and further described in WAC 388-14A-6115; or

(d) A review decision.

WAC 388-14A-3115 The notice and finding of financial responsibility is used to set child support when paternity is not an issue. (1) A notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR) is an administrative notice served by the division of child support (DCS) that can become an enforceable order for support, pursuant to RCW 74.20A.055.

(2) The NFFR:

(a) Advises the noncustodial parent and the custodial parent (who can be either a parent or the physical custodian of the child) of the support obligation for the child or children named in the notice. The NFFR fully and fairly advises the parents of their rights and responsibilities under the NFFR.

(b) Includes the information required by RCW 26.23.050 and 74.20A.055.

(c) Includes a provision that both parents are obligated to provide medical support, as required by RCW 26.09.105, 26.18.170 and 26.23.050. This requirement does not apply to the custodial parent when the custodial parent is not one of the parents of the child covered by the order.

(d) Includes a provision that apportions the share of uninsured medical expenses to both the mother and the father, pursuant to RCW 26.09.105, 26.18.170 and 26.23.-050.

(e) May include an obligation to provide support for day care or special child-rearing expenses, pursuant to chapter 26.19 RCW.

(f) Warns the noncustodial parent (NCP) and the custodial parent (CP) that at an administrative hearing, the administrative law judge (ALJ) may set the support obligation in an amount higher or lower than, or different from, the amount stated in the NFFR, if necessary for an accurate support order.

(3) After service of the NFFR, the NCP and the CP must notify DCS of any change of address, or of any changes that may affect the support obligation.

(4) The NCP must make all support payments to the Washington state support registry after service of the NFFR. DCS does not give the NCP credit for payments made to any other party after service of a NFFR, except as provided by WAC 388-14A-3375.

(5) DCS may take immediate wage withholding action and enforcement action without further notice under chapters 26.18, 26.23, and 74.20A RCW when the NFFR is a final order. WAC 388-14A-3110 describes when the notice becomes a final order.

(6) In most cases, a child support obligation continues until the child reaches the age of eighteen. WAC 388-14A-3810 describes when the obligation under the NFFR can end sooner or later than age eighteen.

(7) If paternity has been established by an affidavit or acknowledgment of paternity, DCS attaches a copy of the acknowledgment, affidavit, or certificate of birth record information to the notice. A party wishing to challenge the acknowledgment or denial of paternity may only bring an action in court to rescind or challenge the acknowledgment or denial of paternity under RCW 26.26.330 and 26.26.335.

(8) If the parents filed a paternity affidavit or acknowledgment of paternity in another state, and by that state's law paternity is therefore conclusively established, DCS may serve a NFFR to establish a support obligation.

(9) A hearing on a NFFR is for the limited purpose of resolving the NCP's accrued support debt and current support obligation. The hearing is not for the purpose of setting a payment schedule on the support debt. The NCP has the burden of proving any defenses to liability.

WAC 388-14A-3120 The notice and finding of parental responsibility is used to set child support when the father's duty of support is based upon an affidavit of paternity which is not a conclusive presumption of paternity. (1) A notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR) is an administrative notice served by the division of child support (DCS) that can become an enforceable order for support, pursuant to RCW 74.20A.056.

(2) The NFPR differs from a notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR) (see WAC 388-14A-3115) because the parties may request genetic testing to contest paternity after being served with a NFPR.

(3) DCS serves a NFPR when:

(a) An affidavit acknowledging paternity is on file with the center for health statistics and was filed before July 1, 1997; or

(b) An affidavit acknowledging paternity is on file with the vital records agency of another state and the laws of that state allow the parents to withdraw the affidavit or challenge paternity.

(4) DCS attaches a copy of the acknowledgment of paternity or certification of birth record information to the NFPR.

(5) The NFPR advises the noncustodial parent (NCP) and the custodial parent (who is either the mother or the physical custodian of the child) of the support obligation for the child or children named in the notice. The NFPR fully and fairly advises the parents of their rights and responsibilities under the NFPR. The NFPR warns the NCP and the custodial parent (CP) that at an administrative hearing on the notice, the administrative law judge (ALJ) may set the support obligation in an amount higher or lower than, or different from, the amount stated in the NFPR, if necessary for an accurate support order.

(6) The NFPR includes the information required by RCW 26.23.050, 74.20A.055, and 74.20A.056.

(7) The NFPR includes a provision that both parents are obligated to provide medical support, pursuant to RCW 26.09.105, 26.18.170 and 26.23.050. This requirement does not apply to the custodial parent when the custodial parent is not one of the parents of the child covered by the order.

(8) The NFPR includes a provision that apportions the share of uninsured medical expenses to both the mother and the father, pursuant to RCW 26.09.105, 26.18.170 and 26.23.050.

(9) The NFPR may include an obligation to provide support for day care expenses or special child-rearing expenses, pursuant to chapter 26.19 RCW.

(10) DCS may not assess an accrued support debt for a period longer than five years before the NFPR is served. This limitation does not apply to the extent that the NCP hid or left the state of Washington for the purpose of avoiding service.

(11) After service of the NFPR, the NCP and the CP must notify DCS of any change of address, or of any changes that may affect the support obligation.

(12) The NCP must make all support payments to the Washington state support registry after service of the NFPR. DCS does not give the NCP credit for payments made to any other party after service of the NFPR, except as provided by 388-14A-3375.

(13) DCS may take immediate wage withholding action and enforcement action without further notice under chapters 26.18, 26.23, and 74.20A RCW when the NFPR is a final order. See WAC 388-14A-3110 for when the notice becomes a final order.

(14) In most cases, a child support obligation continues until the child reaches the age of eighteen. WAC 388-14A-3810 describes when the obligation under the NFPR can end sooner or later than age eighteen.

(15) Either the NCP, or the mother, if she is also the CP, may request genetic tests. A mother who is not the CP may at any time request that DCS refer the case for paternity establishment in the superior court.

(16) DCS does not stop enforcement of the order unless DCS receives a timely request for hearing or a timely request for genetic tests. See WAC 388-14A-3110 for time limits. DCS does not refund any money collected under the notice if the NCP is later:

(a) Excluded from being the father by genetic tests; or

(b) Found not to be the father by a court of competent jurisdiction.

(17) If the NCP requested genetic tests and was not excluded as the father, he may request within twenty days from the date of service of the genetic tests in Washington, or sixty days from the date of service of the genetic tests outside of Washington:

(a) A hearing on the NFPR.

(b) That DCS initiate a parentage action in superior court under chapter 26.26 RCW.

(18) If the NCP was not excluded as the father, the CP (or the mother, if she is also the CP), may within twenty days of the date of service of the genetic tests request:

(a) A hearing on the NFPR; or

(b) That DCS initiate a parentage action in superior court under chapter 26.26 RCW.

(19) If the NCP is excluded by genetic testing, DCS may refer the case for paternity establishment in the superior court.

(20) A hearing on a NFPR is for the limited purpose of resolving the NCP's current support obligation, accrued support debt and amount of reimbursement to DCS for paternity-related costs. The hearing is not for the purpose of setting a payment schedule on the support debt. The NCP has the burden of proving any defenses to liability.

WAC 388-14A-3125 The notice and finding of medical responsibility is used to set a medical support obligation when the custodial parent receiving medical assistance declines full child support enforcement services. (1) A notice and finding of medical responsibility (NFMR) is an administrative notice served by the division of child support (DCS) that can become an enforceable order for support pursuant to chapter 74.20A RCW to establish and enforce a health insurance obligation.

(2) DCS may serve a NFMR when:

(a) The custodial parent (who is either a parent or the physical custodian of the child) or a dependent child receives or is certified eligible to receive medical assistance and is not receiving cash grant public assistance under 74.12 RCW; and

(b) The custodial parent has requested medical support enforcement services only and has asked DCS in writing not to collect monetary child support.

(3) The NFMR advises the NCP and the CP of the medical support obligation for the children named in the notice. The NFMR fully and fairly advises the parties of their rights and responsibilities under the NFMR.

(4) The NFMR warns the noncustodial parent and the custodial parent that at an administrative hearing on the notice, the administrative law judge (ALJ) may set the support obligation in an amount higher or lower than, or different from, the amount stated in the NFMR, if necessary for an accurate support order.

(5) The NFMR includes:

(a) The information required by RCW 26.23.050;

(b) The noncustodial parent's health insurance obligation, pursuant to RCW 26.18.170;

(c) The maximum premium amount the noncustodial parent must pay; and

(d) The income basis used to calculate the maximum premium amount, pursuant to WAC 388-14A-3200.

(6) The income basis for an obligation established by DCS for a NFMR is not binding on any party in any later action to establish a cash child support obligation.

(7) After service of the NFMR, the noncustodial parent (NCP) and the custodial parent must notify DCS of any change of address, or of any changes that may affect the support obligation.

(8) DCS may take enforcement action under RCW 26.18.170 and chapter 388-14A WAC without further notice when the NFMR is a final order. See WAC 388-14A-3110 for how a notice becomes a final order.

(9) In most cases, a child support obligation continues until the child reaches the age of eighteen. WAC 388-14A-3810 describes when the obligation under the NFMR can end sooner or later than age eighteen.

(10) If the custodial parent applies for full enforcement services while a hearing on a NFMR is pending, DCS may, at any time before the hearing record is closed, convert the hearing to a hearing on a notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR) under WAC 388-14A-3115 or a notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR) under WAC 388-14A-3120. To convert the hearing, DCS serves a NFFR or NFPR on the parents and files a copy with the administrative law judge (ALJ). The ALJ may grant a continuance if a party requests additional time to respond to the claim for monetary child support.

(11) In a NFMR hearing, the ALJ must determine the:

(a) Basic support obligation, without deviations; and

(b) Maximum premium amount under chapter 26.19 RCW.

(12) A hearing on a NFMR is for the limited purpose of resolving the NCP's medical support responsibility. The NCP has the burden of proving defenses to liability.

WAC 388-14A-3130 What happens if a parent makes a timely request for hearing on a support establishment notice? (1) A timely request for hearing is an objection made within the time limits of WAC 388-14A-3110. For late (or untimely) hearing requests, see WAC 388-14A-3135.

(2) If either parent makes a timely request for hearing, the division of child support (DCS) submits the hearing request to the office of administrative hearings (OAH) for scheduling.

(3) OAH sends a notice of hearing by first class mail to all parties at their address last known to DCS, notifying each party of the date, time and place of the hearing. DCS, the noncustodial parent, and the custodial parent are all parties to the hearing.

(4) A timely request for hearing stops the support establishment notice from becoming a final order, so DCS cannot collect on the notice. However, in appropriate circumstances, the administrative law judge (ALJ) may enter a temporary support order under WAC 388-14A-3850.

(5) A hearing on an objection to a support establishment notice is for the limited purpose of resolving the NCP's accrued support debt and current support obligation. The NCP has the burden of proving any defenses to liability.

WAC 388-14A-3131 What happens if neither parent appears for the hearing? (1) If neither parent appears at the scheduled hearing after being sent a notice of hearing, the administrative law judge (ALJ) enters an order on default, declaring the support establishment notice's claim for support to be final and subject to collection action. See WAC 388-14A-6110 and 388-14A-6115 to determine whether the ALJ issues an initial order or a final order.

(2) As provided in WAC 388-14A-6125, an initial order on default is subject to collection action on the twenty-second day after the order was mailed by the office of administrative hearings, and a final default order is enforceable immediately upon entry.

(3) A parent that did not appear may petition to vacate the default order pursuant to WAC 388-14A-6150.

(a) If the ALJ vacates the order of default, the ALJ then conducts a full hearing on the merits of the NFFR, NFPR or NFMR. All parties may participate in the hearing.

(b) If the parent who did not appear at the hearing is unsuccessful in the motion to vacate the default order, the ALJ may treat the petition as a petition to modify the support order.

Formerly WAC 388-11-400 and 388-11-425.]

WAC 388-14A-3132 What happens if only one parent appears for the hearing? (1) If one parent appears at the hearing, but the other parent fails to appear after being sent a notice of hearing, the administrative law judge (ALJ) enters an order of default against the parent that did not appear. The hearing proceeds as described in WAC 388-14A-3140. See WAC 388-14A-6110 and 388-14A-6115 to determine whether the ALJ issues an initial order or a final order.

(2) The division of child support (DCS) and the parent that did appear may enter a consent order, but not an agreed settlement. The obligation in the consent order may be higher or lower, or different from, the terms set forth in the notice, without further notice to the nonappearing parent, if necessary for an accurate support order. The terms of the consent order become final when the order of default to the parent that did not appear becomes final, as provided in WAC 388-14A-6125.

(3) DCS and the parent that did appear may proceed to hearing. The ALJ may enter an initial decision setting an obligation which is higher or lower, or different from, the terms set forth in the notice, without further notice to the nonappearing parent, if necessary for an accurate support order. See WAC 388-14A-6110 and 388-14A-6115 to determine whether the ALJ issues an initial order or a final order.

(4) The parent that did not appear may petition to vacate the order of default pursuant to WAC 388-14A-6150.

(2009 Ed.)

(5) If the ALJ vacates the order of default, the ALJ then conducts a full hearing on the merits of the notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR), notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR) or notice and finding of medical responsibility (NFMR). All parties may participate in the hearing.

(6) If the parent who did not appear at the hearing is unsuccessful in the motion to vacate the default order, the ALJ may treat the petition as a petition to modify the support order.

WAC 388-14A-3133 What happens when the non-custodial parent and the custodial parent both appear for the hearing? If both parents appear at the hearing:

(1) All parties may enter an agreed settlement or consent order. WAC 388-14A-3600 describes when an agreed settlement or consent order is a final order.

(2) All parties may proceed to hearing, after which the ALJ issues an order. The ALJ may enter an order setting an obligation which is higher or lower, or different from, the terms set forth in the notice, if necessary for an accurate support order. See WAC 388-14A-6110 and 388-14A-6115 to determine whether the ALJ issues an initial order or a final order.

(3) In a hearing under this section, the division of child support (DCS) proceeds first to document the support amount that DCS believes to be correct. Following DCS' presentation, the custodial parent (CP) and the noncustodial parent (NCP) may proceed in turn to show why the DCS position is wrong.

WAC 388-14A-3135 Late hearings, or hearing on untimely objections to support establishment notices. (1)

For orders established before August 30, 1997, if the noncustodial parent did not timely object to the notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR), notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR), or notice and finding of medical responsibility (NFMR), only the noncustodial parent may petition for a late hearing, pursuant to WAC 388-14A-3500.

(2) For orders established after August 30, 1997, if neither parent timely objected to the NFFR, NFPR, or NFMR, either the noncustodial parent or the custodial parent may petition for a late hearing, pursuant to WAC 388-14A-3500. See WAC 388-14A-3110 for the time limits for a timely hearing request.

(3) The division of child support (DCS) continues to enforce the order even if a late request for hearing is filed.

(4) If DCS receives the late hearing request within one year of the date of service of the notice, the parent requesting the hearing is not required to show good cause to have a hearing on the merits of the notice.

(5) If DCS receives the late hearing request more than a year after the date of service of the notice, the parent requesting the hearing must show good cause why the hearing request was not timely. WAC 388-14A-1020 contains the definition of good cause.

WAC 388-14A-3140 What can happen at a hearing on a support establishment notice? (1) When a parent requests a hearing on a notice and finding of financial responsibility (NFFR), notice and finding of parental responsibility (NFPR), or notice and finding of medical responsibility (NFMR), the hearing is limited to resolving the NCP's current and future support obligation and the accrued support debt. The hearing is not for the purpose of setting a payment schedule on the support debt.

(2) The noncustodial parent (NCP) has the burden of proving any defenses to liability. See WAC 388-14A-3370.

(3) Both the NCP and the custodial parent (CP) must show cause why the terms in the NFFR, NFPR, or NFMR are incorrect.

(4) The administrative law judge (ALJ) has authority to enter a support obligation that may be higher or lower than the amounts set forth in the NFFR, NFPR, or NFMR, including the support debt, current support, and the future support obligation. The ALJ may enter an order that differs from the terms stated in the notice, including different debt periods, if the obligation is supported by credible evidence presented by any party at the hearing, without further notice to any nonappearing party, if the ALJ finds that due process requirements have been met.

(5) The ALJ has no authority to determine custody or visitation issues, or to set a payment schedule for the arrears debt.

(6) When a party has advised the ALJ that they will participate by telephone, the ALJ attempts to contact that party on the record before beginning the proceeding or rules on a motion. The ALJ may not disclose to the other parties the telephone number of the location of the party appearing by phone.

(7) In certain cases, there is no "custodial parent" because the child or children are in foster care.

(a) If the NCP fails to appear for hearing, see WAC 388-14A-3131.

(b) If the NCP appears for hearing, see WAC 388-14A-3133.

(8) In certain cases, there can be two NCPs, called "joint NCPs." This happens when a husband and wife are jointly served a support establishment notice for a common child who is not residing in their home.

(a) If both NCPs fail to appear for hearing, see WAC 388-14A-3131;

(b) If both NCPs appear for hearing, see WAC 388-14A-3133; or

(c) One joint NCP may appear and represent the other joint NCP.

(9) When the CP asserts good cause level B (see WAC 388-422-0020), DCS notifies the CP that they will continue to receive documents, notices and orders. The CP may choose to participate at any time. Failure to appear at hearing results in a default order but does not result in a sanction for noncooperation under WAC 388-14A-2041.

(10) If any party appears for the hearing and elects to proceed, absent the granting of a continuance the ALJ hears the matter and enters an initial decision and order based on the evidence presented. The ALJ includes a party's failure to appear in the initial decision and order as an order of default against that party. The direct appeal rights of the party who failed to appear shall be limited to an appeal on the record made at the hearing.

WAC 388-14A-3200 How does DCS determine my support obligation? (1) The division of child support (DCS) determines support obligations using the Washington state child support schedule (the WSCSS), which is found in chapter 26.19 RCW, for the establishment and modification of support orders.

(2) See WAC 388-14A-8100 for rules on completing the worksheets under the WSCSS for cases where DCS is determining support for a child in foster care.

(3) DCS does not have statutory authority to set the child support obligations of both the noncustodial parent (NCP) and custodial parent (CP) in the same administrative proceeding, except that RCW 26.09.105, 26.18.170 and 26.23.050 provide that an administrative order that sets the NCP's child support obligation can also determine the CP's medical support obligation.

(a) DCS orders can not set off the support obligation of one parent against the other.

(b) Therefore, the method set forth in Marriage of Arvey, 77 Wn. App 817, 894 P.2d 1346 (1995), must not be applied when DCS determines a support obligation.

(4) The limitations in this section apply to DCS staff and to administrative law judges (ALJs) who are setting child support obligations.

WAC 388-14A-3205 How does DCS calculate my income? (1) The division of child support (DCS) calculates a parent's income using the best available information, in the following order:

(a) Actual income;

(b) Estimated income, if DCS has:

(i) Incomplete information;

(ii) Information based on the prevailing wage in the parent's trade or profession; or

(iii) Information that is not current.

(c) Imputed income under RCW 26.19.071(6).

(2) In the absence of actual income information, DCS imputes full time earnings at the minimum wage to a TANF recipient. You may rebut the imputation of income if you are excused from being required to work while receiving TANF, because:

(a) You are either engaged in other qualifying WorkFirst activities which do not generate income, such as job search; or

(b) You are excused or exempt from being required to work in order to receive TANF, because of other barriers such as family violence or mental health issues.

WAC 388-14A-3275 The division of child support may amend an administrative notice at any time before a final administrative order is entered. (1) The division of child support (DCS) may orally amend a notice issued under this chapter at the hearing to conform to the evidence. When DCS amends a notice at the hearing:

(a) The administrative law judge (ALJ) may grant a continuance when necessary to give the parties additional time to present evidence and argument as to the amendment; and

(b) DCS must put the terms of the amendment in writing and provide a copy, in person or by regular mail to the last known address of the parties, and to the ALJ within a reasonable time after amending the notice.

(2) The amended notice does not generate a new hearing right.

(3) When DCS has obtained reliable information that the income basis of the notice is inaccurate, DCS amends a notice issued under WAC 388-14A-3115, 388-14A-3120, or 388-14A-3125 prior to seeking a default order for failure to appear. An amendment under this subsection must be made according to the terms of subsection (1) above.

(4) Subsection (3) of this section does not apply:

(a) To cases in which no one has requested a hearing; or

(b) After the ALJ has closed the hearing record.

(5) If DCS has amended the notice under this section and either the noncustodial parent or the custodial parent fail to appear at a rescheduled hearing date, the ALJ must enter a default order on the terms of the amended notice.

WAC 388-14A-3300 How does the division of child support require me to make my support payments to the Washington state support registry when my support order says to pay someone else? (1) If a support order requires the noncustodial parent (NCP) to pay support to anyone other than the Washington state support registry (WSSR), the division of child support (DCS) may serve a notice on the NCP telling the NCP to make all future payments to the WSSR.

(2) DCS may serve a notice of support debt on a noncustodial parent (NCP) as provided in RCW 74.20A.040. See WAC 388-14A-3304.

(3) DCS may serve a notice of support owed on an NCP as provided in RCW 26.23.110. See WAC 388-14A-3310.

(4) When DCS serves a notice of support debt or a notice of support owed, DCS sends a notice to the payee under the order. See WAC 388-14A-3315.

WAC 388-14A-3304 The division of child support may serve a notice of support debt and demand for payment when it is enforcing a support order issued in Washington state, a foreign court order or a foreign administrative order for support. (1) The division of child support (DCS) may serve a notice of support debt and demand for payment on a noncustodial parent (NCP) under RCW 74.20A.040 to provide notice that DCS is enforcing a support order entered in Washington state, a foreign court order or a foreign administrative order for support.

(a) A "foreign" order is one entered in a jurisdiction other than a Washington state court or administrative forum.

(b) DCS uses the notice of support debt and demand for payment when there is only one current child support order for the NCP and the children in the case.

(c) When there are multiple current support orders for the same obligor and children, DCS determines which order to enforce as provided under WAC 388-14A-3307.

(2) DCS serves a notice of support debt and demand for payment like a summons in a civil action or by certified mail, return receipt requested.

(3) In a notice of support debt and demand for payment, DCS includes the information required by RCW 74.20A.040, the amount of current and future support, accrued support debt, interest (if interest is being assessed under WAC 388-14A-7110), any health insurance coverage obligation, and any day care costs under the court or administrative order.

(4) After service of a notice of support debt and demand for payment, the NCP must make all support payments to the Washington state support registry. DCS does not credit payments made to any other party after service of a notice of support debt and demand for payment except as provided in WAC 388-14A-3375.

(5) A notice of support debt and demand for payment becomes final and subject to immediate wage withholding and enforcement without further notice under chapters 26.18, 26.23, and 74.20A RCW, subject to the terms of the order, unless, within twenty days of service of the notice in Washington, the NCP:

(a) Files a request with DCS for a conference board under WAC 388-14A-6400. The effective date of a conference board request is the date DCS receives the request;

(b) Obtains a stay from the superior court; or

(c) Objects to either the validity of the foreign support order or the administrative enforcement of the foreign support order, in which case DCS proceeds with registration of the foreign support order under WAC 388-14A-7100.

(6) A notice of support debt and demand for payment served in another state becomes final according to WAC 388-14A-7200.

(7) Enforcement of the following are not stayed by a request for a conference board or hearing under this section or WAC 388-14A-6400:

(a) Current and future support stated in the order; and

(b) Any portion of the support debt that the NCP and custodial parent (CP) fail to claim is not owed.

(8) Following service of the notice of support debt and demand for payment on the NCP, DCS mails to the last known address of the CP and/or the payee under the order:

(a) A copy of the notice of support debt and demand for payment; and

(b) A notice to payee under WAC 388-14A-3315 regarding the payee's rights to contest the notice of support debt. The CP who is not the payee under the order has the same rights to contest the notice of support debt and demand for payment.

(9) If the NCP requests a conference board under subsection (5)(a) of this section, DCS mails a copy of the notice of conference board to the CP informing the CP of the CP's right to:

(a) Participate in the conference board; or

(b) Request a hearing under WAC 388-14A-3321 within twenty days of the date of a notice of conference board that was mailed to a Washington address. If the notice of conference board was mailed to an out-of-state address, the CP may request a hearing within sixty days of the date of the notice of conference board. The effective date of a hearing request is the date DCS receives the request.

(10) If the CP requests a hearing under subsection (9) of this section, DCS must:

(a) Stay enforcement of the notice of support debt and demand for payment except as required under subsection (6) of this section; and

(b) Notify the NCP of the hearing.

(11) If a CP requests a late hearing under subsection (8) of this section, the CP must show good cause for filing the late request.

(12) The NCP is limited to a conference board to contest the notice and may not request a hearing on a notice of support debt and demand for payment. However, if the CP requests a hearing, the NCP may participate in the hearing.

(13) A notice of support debt and demand for payment must fully and fairly inform the NCP of the rights and responsibilities in this section.

WAC 388-14A-3305 What can I do if I disagree with a notice of support debt and demand for payment? Once the division of child support has served a notice of support debt and demand for payment, either party may disagree with the notice.

(1) If either party objects to the enforcement of a non-Washington support order, that party may request that DCS register that order under chapter 26.21A RCW. DCS then serves a notice of support debt and registration as provided in WAC 388-14A-7110.

(2) If the noncustodial parent (NCP) objects to the amount of current support or the amount of support debt stated in the notice, the NCP may request a conference board under WAC 388-14A-6400.

(a) The custodial parent (CP) may participate in the conference board under this section.

(b) The CP may choose to convert the proceeding to an administrative hearing. The NCP may participate in a hearing held under this section.

(3) If the custodial parent objects to the amount of current support or the amount of support debt stated in the notice, the CP may request an administrative hearing. The NCP may participate in a hearing held under this section.

(4) See WAC 388-14A-3304 for a more full description of the hearing process on the notice of support debt and demand for payment.

WAC 388-14A-3306 Does a notice of support debt and demand for payment result in a final determination of support arrears? (1) After service of a notice of support debt and demand for payment as provided in WAC 388-14A-3304, the final administrative order determines the support debt as of the date of the order, and:

(a) The debt determination is not a final determination under the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act (UIFSA), chapter 26.21A RCW.

(b) Any party may request that a tribunal determine any amounts owed as interest on the support debt.

(2) The final administrative order comes about by:

(a) Operation of law if nobody objects to the notice;

(b) Agreed settlement or consent order under WAC 388-14A-3600;

(c) Final conference board decision under WAC 388-14A-6400;

(d) Final administrative order entered after hearing or a party's failure to appear for hearing.

WAC 388-14A-3307 How does the division of child support proceed when there are multiple child support orders for the same obligor and children? When more than one current child support order exists for the same obligor and children, the division of child support (DCS) may proceed as follows:

(1) Using the criteria listed in RCW 26.21A.130, DCS decides which child support order it should enforce and serves a notice of support debt and demand for payment under WAC 388-14A-3304.

(2) If DCS decides that a determination of controlling order under chapter 26.21A RCW is required, DCS serves a notice of support debt and registration as provided in WAC 388-14A-7100.

(3) Upon request, DCS may do a determination of controlling order (DCO).

(a) See WAC 388-14A-7305 for how you can ask for a DCO.

(b) See WAC 388-14A-7315 for how DCS decides whether or not to do a DCO.

(4) If DCS does a DCO and decides that a Washington order is the controlling order, DCS refers the case to superior court.

(5) If DCS does a DCO and decides that a non-Washington order is the controlling order, DCS serves a notice of support debt and registration as provided in WAC 388-14A-7325.

WAC 388-14A-3310 The division of child support serves a notice of support owed to establish a fixed dollar amount under an existing child support order. (1) The division of child support (DCS) may serve a notice of support owed on a noncustodial parent (NCP) under RCW 26.23.110 to establish a fixed dollar amount of monthly support and accrued support debt:

(a) If the support obligation under an order is not a fixed dollar amount; or

(b) To implement an adjustment or escalation provision of a court order.

(2) The notice of support owed may include day care costs and medical support if the court order provides for such costs. WAC 388-14A-3312 describes the use of a notice of support owed to collect unreimbursed medical expenses from either of the parties to a support order, no matter which one has custody of the child.

(3) DCS serves a notice of support owed on an NCP like a summons in a civil action or by certified mail, return receipt requested.

(4) Following service on the NCP, DCS mails a notice to payee under WAC 388-14A-3315.

(5) In a notice of support owed, DCS includes the information required by RCW 26.23.110, and:

(a) The factors stated in the order to calculate monthly support;

(b) Any other information not contained in the order that was used to calculate monthly support and the support debt; and

(c) Notice of the right to request an annual review of the order or a review on the date, if any, given in the order for an annual review.

(6) The NCP must make all support payments after service of a notice of support owed to the Washington state support registry. DCS does not credit payments made to any other party after service of a notice of support owed except as provided in WAC 388-14A-3375.

(7) A notice of support owed becomes final and subject to immediate income withholding and enforcement without further notice under chapters 26.18, 26.23, and 74.20A RCW unless the NCP, within twenty days of service of the notice in Washington:

(a) Contacts DCS, and signs an agreed settlement;

(i) Files a request with DCS for a hearing under this section; or

(ii) Obtains a stay from the superior court.

(b) A notice of support owed served in another state becomes final according to WAC 388-14A-7200.

(8) DCS may enforce at any time:

(a) A fixed or minimum dollar amount for monthly support stated in the court order or by prior administrative order entered under this section;

(b) Any part of a support debt that has been reduced to a fixed dollar amount by a court or administrative order; and

(c) Any part of a support debt that neither party claims is incorrect.

(9) For the rules on a hearing on a notice of support owed, see WAC 388-14A-3320.

(10) A notice of support owed or a final administrative order issued under WAC 388-14A-3320 must inform the parties of the right to request an annual review of the order.

(11) If an NCP or custodial parent (CP) requests a late hearing, the party must show good cause for filing the late hearing request if it is filed more than one year after service of the notice of support owed.

(12) A notice of support owed fully and fairly informs the NCP of the rights and responsibilities in this section.

(13) For the purposes of this section, WAC 388-14A-3312, 388-14A-3315 and 388-14A-3320, the term "payee" includes "physical custodian," "custodial parent," or "party seeking reimbursement."

WAC 388-14A-3312 The division of child support serves a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses to establish a fixed dollar amount owed under a child support order. (1) The division of child support (DCS) may serve a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses under RCW 26.23.110 on either the noncustodial parent (NCP) or the custodial parent (CP) in order to collect the obligated parent's share of uninsured medical expenses owed to the party seeking reimbursement.

(2) Either the NCP or CP (if the CP is a party to the support order) may ask DCS to serve a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses on the other party to the support order, if that party is an obligated party under the support order.

(a) If the CP is not a party to the support order, DCS can not assist the CP in making a claim for unreimbursed medical expenses, but the CP may seek to recover such expenses by filing an action in court.

(b) DCS serves the notice if the party seeking reimbursement provides proof of payment of at least five hundred dollars in uninsured medical expenses.

(3) A notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses:

(a) May be for a period of up to twenty-four consecutive months.

(b) May include only medical services provided after July 21, 2007.

(c) May not include months which were included in a prior notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses or a prior judgment.

(d) Need not be for the twenty-four month period immediately following the period included in the prior notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses.

(4) The party seeking reimbursement must ask DCS to serve a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses within two years of the expense being incurred.

(a) The fact that a claim for unreimbursed medical expenses is rejected by DCS does not mean that the parent cannot pursue reimbursement of those expenses by proceeding in court.

(b) If a parent obtains a judgment for unreimbursed medical expenses, DCS enforces the judgment.

(5) DCS does not serve a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses unless the party seeking reimbursement declares under penalty of perjury that he or she has asked the obligated party to pay his or her share of the medical expenses, or provides good cause for not asking the obligated party.

(a) If the medical expenses have been incurred within the last twelve months, this requirement is waived.

(b) If the obligated party denies having received notice that the other party was seeking reimbursement for medical expenses, the service of the notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses constitutes the required notice.

(6) The NCP must apply for full child support enforcement services before the NCP may ask DCS to enforce the CP's medical support obligation.

(a) DCS opens a separate case to enforce a CP's medical support obligation.

(b) The case where DCS is enforcing the support order and collecting from the NCP is called the main case.

(c) The case where DCS is acting on NCP's request to enforce CP's medical support obligation is called the medical support case.

(7) DCS serves a notice of support owed on the obligated parent like a summons in a civil action or by certified mail, return receipt requested.

(8) Following service on the obligated parent, DCS mails a notice to the party seeking reimbursement under WAC 388-14A-3315.

(9) In a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses, DCS includes the information required by RCW 26.23.110, and:

(a) The factors stated in the order regarding medical support;

(b) A statement of uninsured medical expenses and a declaration by the parent seeking reimbursement; and

(c) Notice of the right to request an annual review of the order, as provided in WAC 388-14A-3318.

(10) A notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses becomes final and subject to immediate income withholding and enforcement without further notice under chapters 26.18, 26.23, and 74.20A RCW unless the obligated parent, within twenty days of service of the notice in Washington:

(a) Contacts DCS, and signs an agreed settlement;

(b) Files a request with DCS for a hearing under this section; or

(c) Obtains a stay from the superior court.

(11) A notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses served in another state becomes final according to WAC 388-14A-7200.

(12) For the rules on a hearing on a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses, see WAC 388-14A-3320.

(13) A notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses or a final administrative order issued under WAC 388-14A-3320 must inform the parties of the right to request an annual review of the order.

(14) If the obligated parent is the NCP, any amounts owing determined by the final administrative order are added to the debt on the main case.

(15) If the obligated parent is the CP, any amounts owing determined by the final administrative order are paid in the following order:

(a) Any amount owed by the CP to the NCP is applied as an offset to any nonassistance child support arrears owed by the NCP on the main case only; or

(b) If there is no debt owed to the CP on the main case, payment of the amount owed by the CP is in the form of a credit against the NCP's future child support obligation:

(i) Spread equally over a twelve-month period starting the month after the administrative order becomes final, but not to exceed ten percent of the current support amount; or

(ii) When the future support obligation will end under the terms of the order in less than twelve months, spread equally over the life of the order, but not to exceed ten percent of the current support amount.

(c) If the amount owed by the CP exceeds the amount that can be paid off using the methods specified in subsections (a) and (b) of this section, DCS uses the medical support case to collect the remaining amounts owed using the remedies available to DCS for collecting child support debts.

(16) If either the obligated parent or the parent seeking reimbursement requests a late hearing, that party must show good cause for filing the late hearing request if it is filed more than one year after service of the notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses.

(17) A notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses fully and fairly informs the obligated parent of the rights and responsibilities in this section.

(18) A notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses under this section is subject to annual review as provided in WAC 388-14A-3318.

(19) If both CP and NCP request that DCS serve a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses on the other party, those notices remain separate and may not be combined.

(a) The office of administrative hearings (OAH) may schedule consecutive hearings but may not combine the matters under the same docket number.

(b) The administrative law judge (ALJ) must issue two separate administrative orders, one for each obligated parent.

(20) DCS does not serve a second or subsequent notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses on an obligated parent until the party seeking reimbursement meets the conditions set forth in WAC 388-14A-3318.

[Statutory Authority: 2007 c 143, §§ 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, and 9. 08-12-029, § 388-14A-3312, filed 5/29/08, effective 7/1/08.]

WAC 388-14A-3315 When DCS serves a notice of support debt or notice of support owed or notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses, we notify the other party to the child support order. (1) The division of child support (DCS) sends a notice to the payee under a Washington child support order or a foreign child support order when DCS receives proof of service on the noncustodial parent (NCP) of:

(a) A notice of support owed under WAC 388-14A-3310; or

(b) A notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses under WAC 388-14A-3312; or

(c) A notice of support debt under WAC 388-14A-3304.

(2) DCS sends the notice to payee by first class mail to the last known address of the payee and encloses a copy of the notice served on the NCP.

(3) In a notice to payee, DCS informs the payee of the right to file a request with DCS for a hearing on a notice of support owed under WAC 388-14A-3310, a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses under WAC 388-14A-3312, or a notice of support debt under WAC 388-14A-3304 within twenty days of the date of a notice to payee that was mailed to a Washington address.

(4) If the notice to payee was mailed to an out-of-state address, the payee may request a hearing within sixty days of the date of the notice to payee.

(5) The effective date of a hearing request is the date DCS receives the request.

(6) When DCS serves a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses under WAC 388-14A-3312, DCS mails the notice to payee to the parent seeking reimbursement.

WAC 388-14A-3317 What is an annual review of a support order under RCW 26.23.110? (1) RCW 26.23.110 provides for an annual review of the support order which was previously the subject of a notice of support owed under that statute if the division of child support (DCS), the noncustodial parent (NCP), or the custodial parent (CP) requests a review.

(a) This type of annual review concerns the annual review that takes place after service of a notice of support owed under WAC 388-14A-3310.

(b) For the definition of an annual review of a support order under RCW 26.23.110 that takes place after service of a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses under WAC 388-14A-3312, see WAC 388-14A-3318.

(2) For purposes of chapter 388-14A WAC, an "annual review of a support order" is defined as:

(a) The collection by DCS of necessary information from CP and NCP;

(b) The service of a notice of support owed under WAC 388-14A-3310; and

(2009 Ed.)

(c) The determination of arrears and current support amount with an effective date which is at least twelve months after the date the last notice of support owed, or the last administrative order or decision based on a notice of support owed, became a final administrative order.

(3) A notice of support owed may be prepared and served sooner than twelve months after the date the last notice of support owed, or the last administrative order or decision based on a notice of support owed, became a final administrative order, but the amounts determined under the notice of support owed may not be effective sooner than twelve months after that date.

(4) Either CP or NCP may request an annual review of the support order, even though the statute mentions only the NCP.

(5) DCS may request an annual review of the support order but has no duty to do so.

(6) For the purpose of this section, the terms "payee" and "CP" are interchangeable, and can mean either the payee under the order or the person with whom the child resides the majority of the time.

(7) The twelve-month requirement for an annual review under this section runs separately from the twelve-month requirement for an annual review under WAC 388-14A-3318.

[Statutory Authority: 2007 c 143, §§ 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, and 9. 08-12-029, § 388-14A-3317, filed 5/29/08, effective 7/1/08. Statutory Authority: RCW 74.08.090, 26.23.035, 34.05.220(1), 74.20A.310, 26.23.110, and 74.20A.-040. 05-07-059, § 388-14A-3317, filed 3/11/05, effective 4/11/05.]

WAC 388-14A-3318 What is an annual review of a notice of support owed under WAC 388-14A-3312? (1) RCW 26.23.110 provides for an annual review of the support order which was previously the subject of a notice of support owed under that statute if the noncustodial parent (NCP) or the custodial parent (CP) requests a review.

(2) For purposes of chapter 388-14A WAC, the following rules apply to an "annual review of a support order" for a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses served under WAC 388-14A-3312:

(a) Either the CP or the NCP may be the party seeking reimbursement.

(b) The party seeking reimbursement must provide proof of payment of at least five hundred dollars in uninsured medical expenses for services provided in the last twenty-four months.

(c) At least twelve months must have passed since:

(i) The date the last notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses on behalf of the party seeking reimbursement became a final order; or

(ii) The last administrative order or decision based on a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses on behalf of that party became a final administrative order.

(3) In the event that DCS has served both a notice of support owed under WAC 388-14A-3310 and a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses under WAC 388-14A-3312 on the same case, each type of notice of support owed has its own twelve-month cycle for annual review.

(4) For purposes of this section, the twelve-month cycle for annual review runs separately for the NCP and for the CP, depending on which one is the party seeking reimbursement.

[Title 388 WAC—p. 263]

WAC 388-14A-3320 What happens at a hearing on a notice of support owed? (1) A hearing on a notice of support owed is only for interpreting the order for support and any modifying orders and not for changing or deferring the support provisions of the order.

(2) A hearing on a notice of support owed served under WAC 388-14A-3310 is only to determine:

(a) The amount of monthly support as a fixed dollar amount;

(b) Any accrued arrears through the date of hearing; and

(c) If a condition precedent in the order to begin or adjust the support obligation was met.

(3) A hearing on a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses served under WAC 388-14A-3312 is only to determine:

(a) Whether the parent on whom the notice was served is obligated under the support order to pay for uninsured medical expenses for the children covered by the order;

(b) The total amount of uninsured medical expenses paid by the party seeking reimbursement;

(c) The obligated parent's share of the uninsured medical expenses;

(d) The amount, if any, the obligated parent has already paid to the party seeking reimbursement; and

(e) The amount owed by the obligated parent to the party seeking reimbursement for unreimbursed medical expenses.

(4) If the administrative law judge (ALJ) determines that the uninsured medical expenses claimed by the parent seeking reimbursement do not amount to at least five hundred dollars, the ALJ:

(a) May not dismiss the notice on this basis;

(b) Must make the determination listed in subsection (3) above.

(5) The hearing is not for the purpose of setting a payment schedule on the support debt.

(6) Either the noncustodial parent (NCP) or payee may request a hearing on a notice of support owed served under WAC 388-14A-3310.

(7) Either the obligated parent or the party seeking reimbursement may request a hearing on a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses served under WAC 388-14A-3312.

(8) The party who requested the hearing has the burden of proving any defenses to liability that apply under WAC 388-14A-3370 or that the amounts stated in the notice of support owed are incorrect.

(9) The office of administrative hearings (OAH) sends a notice of hearing to the NCP, to the division of child support (DCS), and to the custodial parent (CP). The NCP and the CP each may participate in the hearing as an independent party.

(10) If only one party appears and wishes to proceed with the hearing, the administrative law judge (ALJ) holds a hearing and issues an order based on the evidence presented or continues the hearing. See WAC 388-14A-6110 and 388-14A-6115 to determine if the ALJ enters an initial order or a final order.

(a) An order issued under this subsection includes an order of default against the nonappearing party and limits the appeal rights of the nonappearing party to the record made at the hearing.

(b) If neither the NCP nor the CP appears or wishes to proceed with the hearing, the ALJ issues an order of default against both parties.

(11) If either party requests a late hearing on a notice of support owed, that party must show good cause for filing the late hearing request, as provided in WAC 388-14A-3500.

(12) For purposes of this section, the terms "payee" and "CP" are used interchangeably and can mean either the CP, the payee under the order or both, except that a CP who is not also the payee under the support order may not ask DCS to serve a notice of support owed for unreimbursed medical expenses under WAC 388-14A-3312.

[Statutory Authority: 2007 c 143, §§ 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, and 9. 08-12-029, § 388-14A-3320, filed 5/29/08, effective 7/1/08. WAC 388-14A-3321 What happens if the custodial parent requests a hearing on a notice of support debt and demand for payment? (1) If the custodial parent (CP) requests a hearing on a notice of support debt and demand for payment (also called the "notice of support debt"), the hearing is for the limited purpose of determining the support debt under the order through the date of the hearing.

(2) The office of administrative hearings (OAH) sends a notice of hearing to the NCP, to the division of child support (DCS), and to the payee.

(a) The NCP and the payee each may participate in the hearing.

(b) "Participating in" or "proceeding with" the hearing may include signing a consent order or agreed settlement under WAC 388-14A-3600.

(3) If only one party appears and wishes to proceed with the hearing, the administrative law judge (ALJ) holds a hearing and issues an order based on the evidence presented or continues the hearing. See WAC 388-14A-6110 and 388-14A-6115 to determine if the ALJ enters an initial order or a final order.

(a) An order issued under this subsection includes an order of default against the nonappearing party and limits the appeal rights of the nonappearing party to the record made at the hearing.

(b) If neither the NCP nor the payee appears or wishes to proceed with the hearing, the ALJ issues an order of default against both parties.

(4) If the payee requests a late hearing on a notice of support debt, the payee must show good cause for filing the late hearing request.

(5) When DCS uses a notice of support debt to assess and collect interest on an out-of-state support order, see WAC 388-14A-7110.

(6) For the purpose of this section, the terms "payee" and "CP" are interchangeable, and can mean either the payee under the order or the person with whom the child resides the majority of the time.

WAC 388-14A-3350 Are there any limits on how much back support the division of child support can seek to establish? (1) When no public assistance is being paid to the custodial parent (CP) and the children, the division of child support (DCS) starts the claim for support as of the date:

(a) DCS receives the application for nonassistance services if the CP applies directly to DCS for services; or

(b) Another state or Indian tribe received the application for nonassistance services or the actual date the other state or tribe requests that child support start, whichever is later, if the other state or Indian tribe requests DCS to establish a support order.

(2) When the children are receiving medicaid-only benefits, DCS starts the claim for support as of the date the medicaid benefits began. See WAC 388-14A-2005(4) to determine whether DCS seeks to establish medical support only for a particular case.

(3) This section does not limit in any way the right of the court to order payment for back support as provided in RCW 26.26.130 and 26.26.134 if the case requires paternity establishment.

(4) When another state or an Indian tribe is paying public assistance to the CP and children, DCS starts the claim for support as of the date specified by the other state or tribe.

(5) For the notice and finding of parental responsibility, WAC 388-14A-3120(9) limits the back support obligation.

(6) When the state of Washington is paying public assistance to the CP and/or the children, the following rules apply:

(a) For support obligations owed for months on or after September 1, 1979, DCS must exercise reasonable efforts to locate the noncustodial parent (NCP);

(b) DCS serves a notice and finding of financial or parental responsibility within sixty days of the date the state assumes responsibility for the support of a dependent child on whose behalf support is sought;

(c) If DCS does not serve the notice within sixty days, DCS loses the right to reimbursement of public assistance payments made after the sixtieth day and before the notice is served;

(d) DCS does not lose the right to reimbursement of public assistance payments for any period of time:

(i) During which DCS exercised reasonable efforts to locate the NCP; or

(ii) For sixty days after the date on which DCS received an acknowledgment of paternity for the child for whom the state has assumed responsibility, and paternity has not been established.

(7) The limitation in subsection (6) does not apply to:

(a) Cases in which the physical custodian is claiming good cause for not cooperating with the department; and

(b) Cases where parentage is an issue and:

(i) Has not been established by superior court order; or

(ii) Is not the subject of a presumption under RCW 26.26.320.

(8) DCS considers a prorated share of each monthly public assistance payment as paid on each day of the month.

WAC 388-14A-3370 What legal defenses are available to a noncustodial parent when DCS seeks to enforce a support obligation? (1) A noncustodial parent (NCP) who objects to a notice and finding of financial, parental, or medical responsibility has the burden of establishing defenses to liability. Defenses include, but are not limited to:

(a) Proof of payment;

(b) The existence of a superior court order, tribal court order, or administrative order that sets the NCP's support obligation or specifically relieves the NCP of a support obligation for the child(ren) named in the notice;

(c) The party is not a responsible parent as defined by RCW 74.20A.020(7);

(d) The amount requested in the notice is inconsistent with the Washington state child support schedule, chapter 26.19 RCW;

(e) Equitable estoppel, subject to WAC 388-14A-6500; or

(f) Any other matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense.

(2) A dependent child's or a custodial parent's ineligibility to receive public assistance is not a defense to the assessment of a support obligation.

(3) An NCP may be excused from providing support for a dependent child if the NCP is the legal custodian of the child and has been wrongfully deprived of physical custody of the child. The NCP may be excused only for any period during which the NCP was wrongfully deprived of custody. The NCP must establish that:

(a) A court of competent jurisdiction of any state has entered an order giving legal and physical custody of the child to the NCP;

(b) The custody order has not been modified, superseded, or dismissed;

(c) The child was taken or enticed from the NCP's physical custody and the NCP has not subsequently assented to deprivation. Proof of enticement requires more than a showing that the child is allowed to live without certain restrictions the NCP would impose; and

(d) Within a reasonable time after deprivation, the NCP exerted and continues to exert reasonable efforts to regain physical custody of the child.

WAC 388-14A-3375 What kinds of credits does the division of child support give when establishing or enforcing an administrative support order? (1) After the noncustodial parent (NCP) has been advised of the requirement to make payments to the Washington state support registry

[Title 388 WAC—p. 265]

(WSSR) by service of a support establishment notice, or by entry of a support order requiring payments to WSSR, the NCP may obtain credit against the support obligation only:

(a) By cash, check, electronic funds transfer, or money order payments through WSSR or payment of health insurance premiums; or

(b) As provided under subsections (3) and (6) of this section.

(2) The division of child support (DCS) allows credit against a NCP's support debt for family needs provided directly to a custodial parent (CP), a child, or provided through a vendor or third party only when the:

(a) Items are provided before service of the notice on the NCP;

(b) NCP proves the items provided were intended to satisfy the NCP's support obligation; and

(c) Items are food, clothing, shelter, or medical attendance directly related to the care, support, and maintenance of a child.

(3) After service of the notice, an NCP may obtain credit against the parent's current support obligation only when the NCP proves that the payments were made and:

(a) DCS determines there:

(i) Is no prejudice to:

(A) The CP, a child, or other person; or

(B) An agency entitled to receive the support payments.

(ii) Are special circumstances of an equitable nature justifying credit for payments.

(b) A court of competent jurisdiction determines credit should be granted after a hearing where all interested parties were given an opportunity to be heard.

(4) DCS does not allow credit for shelter payments made before service of the notice in an amount more than the greater of the:

(a) Shelter allocation in the public assistance standards for the period when payments were made; or

(b) One-half of the actual shelter payment.

(5) DCS does not allow credit for shelter payments made after service of the notice.

(6) DCS applies credits for dependent benefits allowed under RCW 26.18.190 as required by WAC 388-14A-4200.

WAC 388-14A-3400 Are there limitations on how much of my income is available for child support? (1) There are two kinds of limitations based on your income when we set your child support obligation:

(a) The monthly support amount cannot exceed forty-five percent of your monthly net income, unless there are special circumstances as provided in chapter 26.19 RCW; and

(b) The monthly support amount cannot reduce your net monthly income below the one person need standard (WAC 388-478-0015), unless there are special circumstances as provided in chapter 26.19 RCW.

(2) RCW 74.20A.090 limits the amount that can be withheld from your wages for child support to fifty percent of your net monthly earnings.

WAC 388-14A-3500 A person must show good cause for filing a late request for hearing. (1) A person with a right to a hearing under this chapter may file a request for a late hearing after the period for requesting a timely hearing has passed. The effective date of a hearing request is the date the division of child support (DCS) receives the request.

(2) Filing a request for a late hearing does not stop:

(a) Collection and enforcement under chapters 26.18, 26.23, or 74.20A RCW;

(b) The effect of any qualified domestic relations order;

(c) Certification of the support debt to the Internal Revenue Service for an income tax refund offset; or

(d) Distribution upon receipt of moneys collected.

(3)(a) A person who files a late hearing request must show good cause for not filing a timely hearing request unless good cause is not required by the rule governing the notice that is objected to.

(b) If the administrative law judge (ALJ) finds good cause for filing a late hearing request, the ALJ:

(i) Issues a decision on the merits of the objection to the notice; and

(ii) Considers whether to order a stay of collection activities until such time as an initial decision or a temporary order under WAC 388-14A-3850(ff) is issued. Upon request, the ALJ must, based on the evidence presented at hearing, issue an order under WAC 388-14A-3850(ff), setting or denying temporary support pending the initial decision.

(c) If the ALJ does not find good cause for filing a late hearing request, the ALJ may issue a decision on modification of the current and future support obligation, if applicable, without a showing of a change of circumstances.

(4) If the ALJ finds good cause for filing a late hearing request, the division of child support (DCS) does not refund any excess amounts collected before the finding of good cause. The ALJ may issue a decision which gives credit against future support in the amount of the excess collections, so long as this does not:

(a) Create hardship to the children for whom support is sought; and

(b) Offset an overpayment of the obligation to the custodial parent (CP) against a debt owed to the department; or

(c) Offset an overpayment of the obligation to the department against a debt owed to the CP.

WAC 388-14A-3600 The parties may resolve any child support case by entering a consent order or an agreed settlement. (1) The division of child support (DCS) may enter a consent order or agreed settlement to finalize any dispute in which a party requests a hearing. DCS attempts to settle matters through agreement when possible.

(a) An agreed settlement is signed only by the parties to the dispute.

(b) A consent order must be signed by the parties and by an administrative law judge (ALJ) provided that:

(2009 Ed.)

(i) In a telephone hearing, the ALJ may sign on behalf of any party if that party gives their consent on the record; and

(ii) The ALJ approves a consent order without requiring testimony or a hearing, unless entry of the order would be unlawful.

(2) An agreed settlement or consent order is final and enforceable on:

(a) The date the last party signs the agreed settlement, if all parties signed the agreed settlement;

(b) The date the ALJ signs the consent order; or

(c) If the ALJ defaults one of the parties to the proceeding, the latest of the following dates:

(i) The date the ALJ signed the consent order;

(ii) The date the last party signed the agreed settlement;

or

(iii) The date the order of default is final. See WAC 388-14A-6110 and 388-14A-6115 to determine whether the ALJ issues an initial order or a final order.

(3) A party to a consent order or an agreed settlement may:

(a) Not petition for review of the settlement or order under WAC 388-02-0560;

(b) Petition for modification under WAC 388-14A-3925; and

(c) Petition to vacate the settlement or consent order under WAC 388-14A-3700. However, the ALJ may only vacate a settlement or consent order after making a finding of fraud by a party, or on any other basis that would result in manifest injustice.

(4) If a hearing has been scheduled, DCS files a copy of the agreed settlement or consent order with the office of administrative hearings (OAH), and OAH issues an order dismissing the hearing. There are no hearing rights on the order dismissing the hearing.

(5) An agreed settlement or consent order entered under this section must comply with the requirements of WAC 388-14A-6300 if the dispute concerns a notice and finding of financial responsibility or a notice and finding of parental responsibility or other notice or petition to determine the amount of a support obligation.

WAC 388-14A-3700 When is it appropriate to vacate a default order? (1) If a party fails to appear at a hearing, the administrative law judge (ALJ) must, upon a showing of valid service, enter an initial decision and default order or proceed in the absence of the defaulting party as provided in WAC 388-14A-3131, 388-14A-3132, or 388-14A-3140.

(2) The ALJ must state in the decision that the:

(a) Support debt and the current support obligation stated in the notice are assessed, determined, and subject to collection action;

(b) Health insurance provisions of the notice are subject to direct enforcement action; and,

(c) Relief sought in the notice served by the division of child support is granted.

(3) Decisions and orders on default become final twenty-one days from the date of mailing under WAC 388-08-464 or chapter 388-02 WAC.

(4) Any party against whom the ALJ has entered an initial decision and order on default may petition the secretary or the secretary's designee for vacation of the default order, subject to the provisions, including time limits, of civil rule 60.

(5) DCS must:

(a) Request that the office of administrative hearings (OAH) schedule a hearing to determine whether or not the petitioner has good cause for vacating the default order; and

(b) Give any other parties to the hearing notice of the time and date of the hearing. OAH must send the notice to the last known address of the party.

(6) If, in a hearing under this section, the ALJ finds that the petitioner has good cause for vacating the default order, the ALJ:

(a) Must conduct a hearing on the merits of the petitioner's objection to the notice that was the basis for the hearing at which the petitioner failed to appear; and

(b) May stay any further collection to the extent provided for under the regulations authorizing the notice the parent originally objected to.

(7) The ALJ must apply civil rule 60 to determine whether the petitioner has good cause. Before vacating an order of default at the request of the NCP or CP, the ALJ must consider the prejudice to the non-DCS party that did appear for hearing.

WAC 388-14A-3800 Once a support order is entered, can it be changed? (1) Only the court that entered the order can modify a support order entered by a superior court or tribal court. If the order specifically states how the amount of support may be adjusted, the division of child support (DCS) may bring an administrative action under RCW 26.23.110 and WAC 388-14A-3310.

(2) As provided in WAC 388-14A-3900, DCS may review any support order to determine whether DCS should petition to modify the support provisions of the order.

(3) Either DCS, the CP or the NCP may petition to modify an administrative order under WAC 388-14A-3925.

(4) Under appropriate circumstances, an administrative support order may be vacated. See WAC 388-14A-3700.

WAC 388-14A-3810 Once a child support order is entered how long does the support obligation last? (1) A noncustodial parent's obligation to pay support under an administrative order continues until:

(a) A superior or tribal court order supersedes the order;

(b) The order is modified under WAC 388-14A-3925;

- (c) The child reaches eighteen years of age;
- (d) The child is emancipated;
- (e) The child marries;
- (f) The child becomes a member of the United States armed forces;
- (g) The child or the responsible parent die;
- (h) A responsible stepparent's marriage is dissolved;
- (i) The parties to the order marry or remarry, as provided in WAC 388-14A-3100(3); or
- (j) A superior court order terminates the responsible parent's liability as provided under RCW 26.16.205.

(2) As an exception to the above rule, a noncustodial parent's obligation to pay support under an administrative order continues for a dependent child over the age of eighteen if the child is under age nineteen, and participating full-time in a secondary school program or the same level of vocational or technical training, as defined in WAC 388-404-0005 (1)(b). However, if the child has already met the requirements to finish the educational program, the child is no longer considered to be dependent.

(3) A noncustodial parent's obligation to pay support under an administrative order may be temporarily suspended when the:

- (a) Noncustodial parent (NCP) resides with the child for whom support is sought for purposes other than visitation;
- (b) NCP reconciles with the child and the custodial parent; or
- (c) Child returns to the residence of the NCP from a foster care placement, for purposes other than visitation.

(4) When the NCP's obligation to pay current support on a case is suspended under subsection (3) of this section, the division of child support (DCS) informs the NCP that the obligation is suspended, in writing, sent by regular mail to the NCP's last known address.

(5) If circumstances causing an NCP's support obligation to be temporarily suspended change, the support obligation resumes. DCS sends the NCP a notice that the obligation to make current support payments has resumed.

WAC 388-14A-3850 When may someone ask for a temporary support order? (1) There are two times when a temporary support order is appropriate in the course of an administrative hearing:

(a) If in a hearing to establish a support obligation or to determine the amount due under an existing order, the administrative law judge (ALJ) postpones the hearing. A postponement is also called a continuance (see WAC 388-14A-3855); or

(b) If any party files a petition for review of an initial decision which establishes or determines a current support obligation (see WAC 388-14A-3860).

(2) For the purposes of this section and WAC 388-14A-3855 through 388-14A-3875, "a party" means the division of child support (DCS), the noncustodial parent, or the physical custodian of the child.

WAC 388-14A-3855 How does a party request a temporary order when the hearing is continued? (1) A party may make a request that a scheduled hearing be postponed either prior to the date of the hearing, or on the date of the hearing.

(2) When the administrative law judge (ALJ) grants a continuance prior to the day of hearing, a party must request entry of a temporary support order at the time the ALJ rules on the request for continuance.

(3) When the ALJ grants a continuance on the day of hearing, a party must request entry of a temporary support order before the hearing is adjourned.

(4) When a party requests a temporary support order due to a continuance, the ALJ must either:

- (a) Conduct a temporary order hearing at the same time the ALJ hears the motion for continuance; or
- (b) Set a time and date within ten business days when the ALJ will hear testimony on the need for and amount of a temporary order.

(5) The ALJ may hear testimony by telephone conference call.

(6) The ALJ may allow the parties to present the evidence then available, and allow five working days from the date of the hearing for submission of additional documents or evidence.

WAC 388-14A-3860 How does a party request a temporary order when a petition for review has been filed?

(1) If the temporary order is requested because of the filing of a petition for review, a party must request the temporary order within ten days of:

- (a) The date that party files the petition for review; or
- (b) The date that party receives notice that another party has filed a petition for review.

(2) The request must be made to the office of administrative hearings (OAH) office that entered the initial decision.

(3) The administrative law judge (ALJ) who entered the initial decision must hear the motion for temporary order. If that ALJ is not available, the chief ALJ must designate a substitute ALJ.

(4) The ALJ may enter a temporary order based on the record that was created at the hearing, or may set a telephone conference call hearing within ten working days.

(5) The ALJ may hear testimony by telephone conference call.

(6) The ALJ may allow the parties to present the evidence then available, and allow five working days from the date of the hearing for submission of additional documents or evidence.

WAC 388-14A-3865 Duties of the administrative law judge when a party requests a temporary support order.

(1) An administrative law judge (ALJ) who hears a request for a temporary support order must:

- (a) Issue a written order which either:
 - (i) Determines the responsible parent's current and future support obligation beginning no later than the month following the hearing; or
 - (ii) Denies the request for a temporary support order.
- (b) Include in the temporary order:
 - (i) A statement that any amounts collected under the temporary order will be credited and will be offset against any debt established in the initial decision;
 - (ii) A statement that amounts collected will be distributed and may be subject to recovery under WAC 388-14A-5300 from the physical custodian; and
 - (iii) The information required by RCW 26.23.050 and 26.18.170.
- (c) Issue the temporary order within twenty calendar days of the date the request for temporary order is heard by the ALJ.

(2) If the temporary order is entered subsequent to a continuance, the ALJ must set a new hearing date within ninety days from the date of the date the ALJ hears the request for continuance;

(3) The ALJ must comply with the DSHS rules on child support and include a Washington state child support schedule worksheet when entering a temporary support order.

WAC 388-14A-3870 When does a temporary support order end? (1) A temporary support order ends on the date an initial decision becomes a final order or on the date of a review decision, if any, whichever is later.

(2) If the parties settle all issues in the case by signing an agreed settlement or consent order, the temporary support order ends on the date the agreed settlement or consent order becomes a final order.

WAC 388-14A-3875 What if a party does not agree with a temporary support order? (1) A temporary support order or the denial of a TSO is not an initial decision subject to review under WAC 388-02-0560. This means that no party has the right to file a petition for review of a temporary support order.

(2) The terms of a temporary order are not binding on the administrative law judge (ALJ) who later enters the initial decision in the matter.

(3) The issuance of a temporary support order does not affect any party's right to ask for review of the initial decision subsequently entered in the matter.

WAC 388-14A-3900 Does DCS review my support order to see if it should be modified? (1) When the division of child support (DCS) is providing support enforcement services under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, DCS must:
