Background: In 1990, the Legislature established criminal justice assistance accounts in the state treasury for counties and municipalities. At the time of their establishment, the Legislature found that "many counties and cities are unable to provide sufficient funding for additional police protection, mitigation of congested court systems, and relief of over-crowded jails."

The funding for the accounts comes from the Motor Vehicle Excise Tax (MVET). Current statute has about 5.9 percent of the MVET going to county criminal justice assistance, and about 2.4 percent going to municipalities. Funds are appropriated by the Legislature and distributed to counties based on population, crime rate, and criminal case filings.

For municipal distribution, the account is distributed based on population, crime rate, innovative criminal justice strategies, use of funds for domestic violence reduction, and costs associated with contracting with other governmental agencies for the majority of the city's law enforcement services.

The accounts were re-authorized in the 1993 legislative session, with a cap placed on the total amount of distributions for the 1993-95 biennium. For the 1995-97 biennium, there will be no dollar cap. Starting in the 1997-99 biennium, the amount distributed each fiscal year will increase only by inflation, thereby re-establishing the dollar cap.

The current estimate for the 1993-95 biennium is $81.4 million in distributions. The current estimate for 1995-97 distributions is $104.4 million.
