Background: Each school district determines which students it will transport to and from school and what routes will be used to transport the students.

If a school district elects to provide student transportation, then the state allocates funds for student transportation based on the number of students who are eligible and who actually ride buses. Eligible students include certain students with disabilities, students whose route stops are more than one radius mile from school, and students whose route stops are less than one radius mile from school if their walking conditions qualify them for hazardous conditions transportation.

Money allocated by the state for student transportation must be spent for student transportation activities and cannot be used to mitigate hazardous walking conditions.

Summary of Bill: The allocation formula for student transportation is changed. Instead of funding based on the existence of a hazardous walking condition existing for students living within one radius mile of school, funding is based on the number of students in grades kindergarten through five living within one radius mile of the school.

Funds allocated to school districts for students living within one mile of school can be used for school buses, crossing guards, and as matching funds for local and state transportation projects intended to alleviate hazardous walking conditions. Priority must be given to students in grades kindergarten through five.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Requested on February 8, 1996.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed. However, the bill is null and void if not funded in the budget.
