Signed by Senators Quigley, Chair; Wojahn, Vice Chair; C. Anderson, Deccio, Fairley, Franklin, Moyer, Winsley and Wood.

Background: In the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 (OBRA), Congress included provisions that prohibit physicians from referring Medicaid patients to health care services in which they (or an immediate family member) have a financial interest. Physicians were already prohibited from self-referring Medicare patients for clinical laboratory services under previous federal legislation. The OBRA expansion of the ban went into effect on January 1, 1995.

Summary of Substitute Bill: The state Medicaid program is brought into compliance with federal OBRA requirements. Physicians are prohibited from self-referring Medicaid clients to medical facilities or services in which the physician or his/her family has a financial interest. These services include: clinical laboratory, physical therapy, occupational therapy, radiology, magnetic resonance imaging, computerized axial tomography, ultra sound, or other diagnostic services, durable medical equipment, parenteral and enteral nutrients equipment, prosthetics, orthotics and prosthetic devices, home health, outpatient prescription drugs, inpatient and outpatient hospital services, radiation therapy and supplies.

Several exemptions to the self-referral ban include group practices, in-office ancillary services, physicians practicing in rural communities, and certain designated hospital services.

This legislation incorporates the exceptions by reference to the applicable federal law and permits the Department of Social and Health Services to adopt rules to explicitly address the exceptions.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill: Language necessary to comply with federal Medicaid requirements is added, including magnetic resonance imaging, computerized axial tomography, ultra sound, radiation therapy and supplies.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.
