HOUSE COMMITTEE ON GOVERNMENT ADMINISTRATION

Background: The Office of Archaeology and Historic Preservation, within the Department of Community, Trade and Economic Development, is responsible for maintaining the State Register of Historic Places which is a register of Washington districts, sites, buildings, structures, and objects of historical, architectural, archaeological, and cultural significance. The office prepares nominations for the state and national registers of historic places, in addition to other duties. In order to be accepted, nominations to both the state and national registers must fulfill criteria set by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation, and must comply with any standards and regulations promulgated by the U.S. Secretary of the Interior for the preservation, acquisition, and development of such properties. The State Historic Preservation Officer makes the final decision on which nominations to accept for the state register.

The Advisory Council on Historic Preservation also reviews and recommends nominations for the state and national registers of historic places.

Summary of Bill: The State Register of Historic Places is renamed the Washington Heritage Register.

Nominations to the Washington Heritage Register are no longer required to comply with standards and regulations promulgated by the U.S. Secretary of the Interior. Instead, they must only comply with rules adopted under state law, including the criteria set by the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation. Nominations to the national register of historic places must still conform to the U.S. Secretary of the Interior's standards and regulations.

The Advisory Council no longer reviews and recommends nominations for the Washington Heritage Register. It continues to review and recommend nominations for the national register.
