Background: Under existing law, the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) is required to develop a recruiting plan for an adequate number of foster and adoptive homes and submit the plan annually to the appropriate committees of the Legislature. The report must include a section on foster care turnover, causes, and recommendations. High turnover of foster parents is attributed to poor working relationships between foster parents and department case workers. The department is also required to monitor out-of-home placements and report the results of its monitoring to appropriate legislative committees on an annual basis. Foster parents are considered part of a professional foster care team serving dependent children, but the department does not provide child care when foster parents are required to attend meetings outside the home.

Summary of Bill: The DSHS will contract with a private agency to recruit an adequate number of prospective adoptive and foster homes. The department will contract with a private agency for a foster parent liaison position in each departmental region. The foster parent liaison will reduce foster parent turnover by 20 percent. The department will provide foster parents who are required to attend training, meetings, and other official functions with child care. The department will provide a foster care passport for each foster child entering care after the effective date of the legislation. The department will share information on foster children with the foster parent caring for the child. The foster parent will keep the information confidential. The bill will be null and void if it is not referenced in the operating budget by June 30, 1997

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: The bill contains an emergency clause and takes effect on July 1, 1997. However, sections 2, 3, and 4 are null and void unless funded in the budget.

Testimony For: (Children & Family Services) Child placing agencies are in danger of going out of business unless the rate paid by the DSHS is increased. Foster parents stop providing care for foster children because of frustrations in dealing with department case workers. They need a liaison to improve working relationships with their case worker and the department. Children are placed in foster homes by the department without any information on their medical, emotional, mental, or physical condition. This can pose a danger to the foster parents and their families. It can also jeopardize the health and (Appropriations) This bill is the result of several working groups and brings Washington up to the level of support for foster parents advocated by several studies. This bill helps to alleviate some of the huge burdens on foster parents and provides them with critical information and support. This legislation is good because it states the actual costs and recognizes the real costs incurred by child-placing agencies.

welfare of the foster child.
