Background:

State law determines the dollar amount of highway construction work that may be performed by state work forces.

Current state law requires construction activities to be contracted out if the project activity will exceed $30,000. Project activities less than $30,000 may be contracted or performed by state work forces.

In emergency situations that constitute a danger to the traveling public, state forces may perform work activities that are less than $50,000.

These contracting limits were last adjusted for inflation in 1984.

Testimony For: This bill addresses the impacts of inflation on materials and equipment costs that have occurred since 1984. It allows the Department of Transportation to quickly meet the needs of its customers by flexibly and efficiently managing the delivery of services, while still meeting the purpose of ensuring the majority of non-maintenance work is by outside contractors.

Testimony Against: None.

Testified: (Support) Bev Hermanson, Washington Federation of State Employees; and Rico Baroga, Washington State Department of Transportation.
