Background:

State law regulates the possession, use, and transfer of firearms and other weapons under the Firearms and Dangerous Weapons law. Among other things, this chapter imposes restrictions on the carrying of certain firearms and prohibits possession of weapons in certain places.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

A person is prohibited from carrying a concealed pistol in Washington unless the person has a valid concealed pistol license. In addition, there are restrictions on the carrying of pistols in vehicles. A person may not carry a loaded pistol in a vehicle unless the person has a concealed pistol license and either the pistol is on the person, the person is within the vehicle at all times the pistol is present, or the pistol is locked within the vehicle and concealed from view. An unloaded pistol kept in a vehicle must be locked within the vehicle and concealed from view.

A number of exemptions are provided from the requirements relating to carrying concealed pistols and carrying pistols in a vehicle. Marshals, sheriffs, prison or jail wardens or their deputies, or other law enforcement officers of this state or another state are exempted, as are retired Washington law enforcement officers. Also exempted are federal officers and military members, persons engaged in various firearms manufacturing or dealing jobs, and persons engaged in various activities such as sport shooting, gun collecting, or outdoor recreation.

The Firearms and Dangerous Weapons law also prohibits possession of weapons in certain places. Weapons are prohibited in court facilities, taverns and bars, and restricted areas of jails and law enforcement facilities, public mental health facilities, and commercial airports. "Weapons" include firearms, explosives, spring-blade knives, daggers, dirks, sling shots, sand clubs, and metal knuckles. There is an exemption from these restrictions for law enforcement personnel and military and security personnel while engaged in official business.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

Correctional personnel who have completed government-sponsored law enforcement firearms training are exempt from restrictions on: carrying a concealed pistol; carrying a pistol in a vehicle; and possession of weapons in court facilities, taverns and bars, and restricted areas of jails and law enforcement facilities, public mental health facilities, and commercial airports.

Retired correctional personnel who have completed government-sponsored law enforcement firearms training are exempt from restrictions on the carrying of a concealed pistol on the person or in a vehicle. The exemption applies only if the person: has obtained documentation from the agency in the state from which the person retired stating that the person retired for service or physical disability; and has not been convicted or found not guilty by reason of insanity of a crime making the person ineligible for a concealed pistol license.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

The original bill limited the exemption to correctional officers and sergeants that received government-sponsored firearms training from counties with a population of one million or more. The original bill did not include the specific requirements that apply to retired correctional personnel in order to qualify for the exemption.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date of Substitute Bill: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) This bill will help protect our corrections officers when they are off-duty. Corrections officers have more interaction with criminals and inmates than do law enforcement officers. They deal with these individuals on a daily basis and over significant periods of time. As a result, corrections officers receive many threats and have a higher risk of danger from former inmates when off-duty. Corrections officers who have been trained for carrying weapons receive the same training as law enforcement officers. They should be given the same exemption to carry firearms to protect themselves when they are off-duty.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: (In support) Mark Gjurasic, Doug Justus, and Randy Weaver, King County Adult Corrections Guild.
