Background: Joint Legislative Task Force on Juvenile Sentencing Reform. In June of 2012, the United States Supreme Court held, in Miller v. Alabama, that the Eighth Amendment ban on cruel and unusual punishment forbids a sentencing scheme that mandates life in prison without the possibility of parole for juvenile homicide offenders. In 2013 the law was amended to comply with Miller v. Alabama. Second Substitute Senate Bill 5064 created a new sentencing scheme for juvenile offenders convicted of aggravated murder and authorized the possibility of parole for juvenile offenders with sentences longer than 20 years. The bill also created the Joint Legislative Task Force on Juvenile Sentencing Reform.

The Task Force was required to undertake a thorough review of juvenile sentencing as it relates to the intersection of the adult and juvenile justice systems and make recommendations for reform that promote improved outcomes for youth, public safety, and Juvenile and Adult Court Jurisdiction. In Washington, juvenile courts are a division of the state's superior court system. Juvenile courts have jurisdiction over persons under the age of 18 who are alleged to have committed a crime. However, there are several exceptions, and state law requires youth to be tried in adult courts, either superior courts or courts of limited jurisdiction, in certain circumstances. There are generally five scenarios where persons under the age of 18 are tried in adult courts.

Discretionary Decline Hearing Process. The juvenile court has the discretion to hold a hearing on whether to decline juvenile court jurisdiction on its own motion or when a party files a motion requesting the court transfer the juvenile to adult criminal court.

Mandatory Decline Hearing Process. The juvenile court must hold a decline hearing in the following circumstances, unless waived by the court and all parties:

- the juvenile is age 16 or 17 and is alleged to have committed a class A felony or attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy to commit a class A felony;
- the juvenile is age 17 and is alleged to have committed assault in the 2nd degree, extortion in the 1st degree, indecent liberties, child molestation in the 2nd degree, kidnapping in the 2nd degree, or robbery in the 2nd degree; or
- the information alleges an escape and the juvenile is serving a minimum juvenile sentence to age 21.

Exclusive Adult Court Jurisdiction. The adult criminal court will have exclusive jurisdiction over a juvenile when the juvenile is 16 or 17 on the date of the alleged offense and the alleged offense is the following:

- a serious violent offense;
- a violent offense and the juvenile has a criminal history consisting of a prior serious violent offense; two or more prior violent offenses; or three or more of any combination of a class A felony, class B felony, vehicular assault, or manslaughter in the 2nd degree;
- robbery in the 1st degree, rape of a child in the 1st degree, or drive-by shooting;
- burglary in the 1st degree and the juvenile has a criminal history of one or more prior felony or misdemeanor offenses; or
- any violent offense and the juvenile is alleged to have been armed with a firearm.

If the juvenile is found not guilty of the charge for which the juvenile was transferred or is convicted of a lesser included offense, the juvenile court will have jurisdiction of the disposition of the remaining charges in the case. The prosecutor and the respondent may agree to juvenile court jurisdiction and waive application of exclusive adult criminal jurisdiction and remove the proceeding back to juvenile court with the court's approval.

Once an Adult, Always an Adult. Once a juvenile is declined to adult court jurisdiction, the juvenile will be subject to exclusive adult jurisdiction for all future actions. However, if the juvenile is found not guilty or acquitted of the crime for which the juvenile was transferred, this provision will not apply.

Certain Crimes and Infractions in Courts of Limited Jurisdiction. If a juvenile is age 16 or 17 and the juvenile is charged with a traffic, fish, boating, or game offense, or an infraction, then the case is referred to a court of limited jurisdiction – district or municipal court.

Exceptional Sentences. If there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence, the court can impose a sentence outside the standard sentence range. Whenever a sentence outside the standard sentence range is imposed, the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law. Exceptional sentences must be for a determinate term and cannot exceed the statutory maximum or a mandatory minimum for the offense.

Mitigating Circumstances. The court may impose an exceptional sentence below the standard range if it finds that mitigating circumstances are established by a preponderance of the evidence.

Summary of Bill: When sentencing an offender under adult court jurisdiction for a crime committed as a minor, the court has the discretion to impose an exceptional sentence below the standard range based on a consideration of the youth's age, sophistication, and role in the crime.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Committee/Commission/Task Force Created: No.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony: PRO: This is a significant change in the law and greatly expands judicial discretion in sentencing. What is significant about this is the consideration of age, which courts previously have not been able to consider as a mitigating circumstance when imposing a sentence in adult court. This will not prevent prosecutors from making their arguments for or against a reduced sentence at the sentencing hearing.

Persons Testifying: PRO: Tom McBride, WA Assoc. of Prosecuting Attorneys.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: No one.
