Staff: Alison Mendiola (786-7488)

Background: Commercially Sexually Exploited Children Statewide Coordinating Committee. The Commercially Sexually Exploited Children Statewide Coordinating Committee (Committee) was established in 2013 to address the issue of children who are commercially sexually exploited, to examine the practices of local and regional entities involved in addressing sexually exploited children, and to make recommendations on statewide laws and practices. The Committee reports its finding and recommendations annually to the Legislature. The Committee meets at least annually and is convened by the Office of the Attorney General. The Committee is set to expire on June 30, 2023.

The Department of Children, Youth and Families. DCYF was created by the Legislature in 2017. The stated intent of the agency is to improve the delivery of government services relating to early learning, child welfare, and juvenile justice by consolidating the administration of these services into the same agency. At the time DCYF was created, they were directed to establish, subject to available funds, a system of early identification and referral to treatment of child victims of sexual assault or sexual abuse. The system is to include schools, physicians, sexual assault centers, domestic violence centers, child protective services, and foster parents.

Crime of Prostitution. A person is guilty of prostitution if they offer to engage in sexual conduct with another person for a fee. Prostitution is a misdemeanor. If a juvenile is alleged to have committed a first offense of prostitution, the prosecutor is to divert the case. If it is not the juvenile's first offense, if proven, the prosecutor may divert the case if the county in which the offense is alleged to have been committed has a comprehensive program meeting specific conditions. A diversion agreement may extend to 12 months.

Law Enforcement Custody of a Child. There are many circumstances where a law enforcement officer must take a child into custody. This includes when an officer believes, considering the child's age, location, and time of day, a child is in circumstances which constitute a danger to their safety.

Evaluation and Treatment Facility. An evaluation and treatment facility is a public or private facility or unit that is licensed or certified by the Department of Health to provide emergency, inpatient, residential, or outpatient mental health evaluation and treatment services for minors. A physically separate and separately-operated portion of a state hospital may be designated as an evaluation and treatment facility for minors. A facility which is part of or operated by the state or federal agency does not require licensure or certification. No correctional institution or facility, juvenile court detention facility, or jail may be an evaluation and treatment facility.

Summary of Bill: The bill as referred to committee not considered.

Summary of Bill (Proposed Second Substitute): The Legislature finds commercial sexual exploitation of children is a severe form of human trafficking and a severe human rights and public health issue.

Receiving Centers Programs. Two receiving center programs are created for commercially sexually exploited children (CSEC) to be administered by DCYF. The receiving center programs must:

- begin providing services by January 1, 2021;
- develop, in consultation with DCYF, eligibility criteria for serving CSEC, allowing referral from service providers and prioritizing referrals from law enforcement;
- provide ongoing case management for children who are being served or were served by the programs;
- use existing facilities and not require the construction of new facilities; and
- have one program east of the Cascades and one program west of the Cascades.

Eligibility for placement in a receiving center is for children ages twelve to seventeen, of all genders, who have been, or are at risk for being commercially sexually exploited.

Receiving Center Referrals. The following entities may refer a child to receiving centers:

- law enforcement, who is to transport a child to the receiving center or coordinate transportation with a liaison dedicated to serving CSEC or a community service provider;
- DCYF;
- juvenile courts;
- community service providers;
- a parent or guardian;
- a child who wishes to self-refer.

Functions of the Receiving Centers. A receiving center is a trauma-informed, secure location meeting the multidisciplinary needs of CSEC ages twelve to seventeen. The receiving centers must:

- include a short-term evaluation function, including emergency shelter, accessible 24 hours per day, 7 days per week, having the capacity to evaluate the immediate needs of CSEC and either meet these immediate needs, or refer these youth to appropriate services, including an evaluation for behavioral health treatment, including adolescent-initiated treatment, family-initiated treatment, or involuntary treatment;
- assess children for substance use disorder and provide appropriate referrals as needed; and
- provide individual and group counseling focused on developing and strengthening coping skills, and improving self-esteem and dignity.

Data Collection. DCYF is to collect nonidentifiable demographic data of children served, and data regarding the locations that children exit to after being served by the programs, and report this data along with recommendations for medication or expansion of these programs to the relevant committees of the Legislature by December 1, 2022.

Services for Commercially Sexually Exploited Children. DCYF is to provide services to support CSEC. To provide such services, DCYF must provide one statewide program manager and at least one liaison position in each region of DCYF dedicated to serving CSEC. The liaison is to report directly to the statewide program manager. DYCF may solicit and accept gifts, grants, conveyances, bequests, and devices for supporting these services.

DCYF is to collect non-identifiable data regarding the number of CSEC, including reports received from law enforcement. DCYF is to provide an annual report to the CSEC Statewide Coordinating Committee by December 1st including the following information: a description of services provided by DYCF to CSEC; and nonidentifiable data regarding the number of CSEC.

Commercially Sexually Exploited Children Statewide Coordinating Committee. The Committee must compile data on the number of juveniles taken into custody under the belief they were victims of sexual exploitation.

By September 1, 2020, the Committee must convene a meeting related to the role that child advocacy centers (CACs) have in responding to and supporting CSEC. This meeting is to include representatives of CACs.

By October 1, 2020, and following the CAC meeting, the Committee shall provide recommendations to DCYF regarding:

- expanded use of child advocacy centers in providing additional services to CSEC; and
- ensuring CACs connect CSEC with available resources in the community.

By December 1, 2020, the Department of Commerce is to provide a report to the relevant committees of the Legislature that includes:

- the number of and location of CACs in the state;
- a description of services provided by each CAC in the state;
- recommendations for expanded use of CACs in providing additional services for CSEC with available services in the community;
- recommendations for ensuring CACs connect CSEC with available services in the community

This section of the Act expires June 30, 2021.

Law Enforcement Custody and Behavioral Health Treatment. If a law enforcement officer takes a juvenile into custody because the officer reasonably believes the juvenile may be a victim of sexual exploitation, the officer must transport them to an evaluation and treatment facility, including a receiving center, for an evaluation for behavioral health treatment.

Law enforcement has the authority to take a child into protective custody if that child is, or is attempting to engage in sexual conduct with another person for money or anything of value, for purposes of investigating the individual or individuals who may be exploiting the child, and deliver the child to an evaluation and treatment facility, including a receiving center for evaluation for behavioral health treatment, including adolescent-initiated treatment, family-initiated treatment, or involuntary treatment.

Prostitution. Effective January 1, 2024, only a person eighteen or older can be guilty of the crime of prostitution. The relevant statutes are revised accordingly.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Requested on January 22, 2020.

Creates Committee/Commission/Task Force that includes Legislative members: No.

Effective Date: The bill contains several effective dates. Please refer to the bill.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony on Original Bill (Regular Session 2019): The committee recommended a different version of the bill than what was heard. PRO: Receiving centers are created for commercially and sexually exploited youth, a place where law enforcement can take a child if the officer believes the child is a victim of sexual exploitation. The goal is to move away from criminalizing youth to treating them as the victims that they are. There will be an amendment clarifying the decriminalization of juvenile prostitution only goes into effect if the receiving centers are funded and operational. After a decade of research on this issue, children shouldn't be called prostitutes. We've developed a strategy for working with youth and police. Historically, Washington's law have been stronger on this issue. In twenty-five states and the District of Columbia there's no criminalization of child prostitution and hopefully at the end of this year there will be ten more states. We should not have to wait to decriminalize prostitution.

OTHER: If centers are not funded and prostitution is decriminalized, there's a concern about law enforcement's ability to make contact with the child. Now, prosecutors are using their discretion not charging kids with a crime but rather using it as a way to pick up the kids off the streets.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony: PRO: This substitute is an improved version of last year's bill. As a state, we have to be clear that these children are victims of crimes, defendants. But, we have to be thoughtful and deliberate on how we go through this change. We need to decriminalize prostitution but there's a delayed implementation date. Within DCYF, liaison positions are created to take the pressure off law enforcement. The liaison can ensure that the victim is getting access to services. While law enforcement is concerned about the decriminalization, it was a very deliberative process and we understand the consequences of this shift in policy. We need to provide support to these vulnerable children. We also don't know how many children are being charted with prostitution because we're told juveniles aren't being charged. Washington used to be a leader in addressing anti-human trafficking efforts but have fallen far behind the rest of the country. As of 2019, thirty states + Washington DC have passed some sort of safe harbor legislation. Last year it was twenty-five states. Child Advocacy Centers are a great resource for helping with this work- the state chapter executive director should be added a core member to the Coordinating Committee. It is morally wrong to criminalize children, there are three elements that need to be addressed: eliminate arresting child victims, provide funding for the receiving centers, and create the infrastructure for this work within DCYF.
