Washington's property tax system is a "budget-based" property tax. Although subject to several restrictions, this means that counties and other taxing districts, as part of their annual budget process, must first establish the total dollar amount of property tax revenue they wish to generate for the upcoming year. The county legislative authority and taxing districts within the county must certify to the county assessor the amount of taxes to be levied upon the property for county purposes by November 30. Once the total dollar amount is established, the county assessor calculates the levy rate based on the total assessed value of all properties in the county or taxing district.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

The due date for a county legislative authority to certify the levy amount to the county assessor is changed to December 15. The due date for taxing districts to certify the levy amount to the county assessor is changed to the first Monday in December.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) This legislation solves a tax code problem that allows some time between the due date for junior taxing districts and the certification of levies by the county legislative authority. A recent Attorney General Opinion disallows a previous work flow solution that allowed a county commission appointee to certify. This change applies to noncharter counties and was developed in consultation with county assessors. It is a quick technical fix that will make the process function as intended.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: Representative Ramel; Trisha Logue, Skagit County; and Steven Drew, Washington State Association of County Assessors.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: None.
