WAC 315-36-010 What is Lucky for Life and how do

I play? (1) Lucky for Life is an on-line lottery game in which you purchase a computer-generated ticket and try to match your set of four numbers to the winning set of four numbers, chosen by the lottery. The game is conducted in accordance with the rules for on-line games found in chapter 315-30 WAC, the general rules found in chapter 315-06 WAC, and chapter 315-36 WAC. The amendments to chapter 315-36 WAC, as adopted at the July 2001 lottery commission meeting, shall take effect on September 30, 2001, or on a date to be designated by the director and advertised to the public. The provisions of the existing chapter 315-36 WAC shall remain in effect until September 30, 2001, or until the date designated by the director for the commencement of this amended rule.

- (2) To play Lucky for Life, you first pick one set of four numbers from "01" to "82" for a chance to win the grand prize of $1,000 per week for the rest of your life, as specified in WAC 315-36-110. Or you can let the computer pick this set of numbers for you. If you have the computer pick for you, this is called a "quick pick" or "quick play."
- (3) Next, the computer will generate twenty additional sets of four numbers each from "01" to "82" for you. These sets will all be quick picks, that is, the computer selects them for you. You cannot pick any of these additional sets of numbers yourself. You will receive a computer printed ticket containing all twenty-one sets of numbers.
- (4) If any one of the twenty-one sets on the ticket match two, three, or four of the numbers in the winning set of four numbers, in any order, you win a prize as specified in WAC 315-36-030.
 - (5) A Lucky for Life ticket may look similar to this:
