

WAC 131-47-140 Coordination of programs. Even start programs shall coordinate their services with programs that enroll the participants' children and programs that serve adult literacy. Such coordination is essential so that:

(1) Parents can practice and receive feedback and guidance on the ways they interact with their children.

(2) Parents can take advantage of the resources and services offered by both the children's program and the program.

(3) Parents can continue to gain support from adult and child programs after their period of active involvement in the even start program is completed.
