WASHINGTON ADMINISTRATIVE CODE

Proposed Permanent Regulation 90-08-010

In the verification of signatures on initiative and referendum petitions, pursuant to RCW 29.79.200 and RCW 29.79.220, when the number of signatures submitted is more than 110 percent of the number of signatures required by Article II, Section 1A of the Washington State Constitution, the secretary of state may employ the following statistical test:

- 1) Take a random sample of the signatures submitted;
- 2) Check each signature sampled to determine the number of valid signatures in the sample, the number of signatures in the sample which are invalid because the individual signing is not registered or the signature is improper in form, and the number of signatures which are duplicated in the sample;
- 3) Calculate an allowance for the chance error of sampling by multiplying the square root of the number of signatures in the sample which are invalid by 1.5;
- 4) Estimate the upper limit of the number of signatures in the population which are invalid by dividing the sum of the invalid signatures in the sample and the allowance for the chance error of sampling by the sampling ratio, i.e. the number of signatures sampled divided by the number of signatures submitted;
- 5) Determine the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures in the population by dividing the difference between the number of signatures submitted and the sum of 110 percent of the number of signatures required by Article II, Section 1A of the Washington State Constitution and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures in the population by two (2);

6) Determine the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample by multiplying the square root of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures in the population;

7) Determine the acceptable number of pairs of signatures in the sample by subtracting 2.33 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample;

8) If the number of pairs of signatures in the sample is greater than the acceptable number of pairs of signatures in the sample, the secretary of state shall canvass each signature to determine the exact number of valid signatures;

9) If the number of pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of pairs of signatures in the sample, the secretary of state shall declare the petition to be sufficient and certify the serial number and ballot title to the county auditors as provided in RCW 29.79.230.

Dear Dick:

Subject: Correction of Administrative Rule

In reviewing the content of our recently adopted Administrative Regulation 90-08-010, it has come to our attention that the draft of the regulation which the state canvassing committee accepted was improperly transcribed in its final copy.

In sub-paragraph 3) of paragraph 1 of Administrative Regulation 90-08-010, after the word "multiplying" and before the word "the", insert the words, "the square root of". Having done so, the section should read as follows:

3) Calculate an allowance for the chance error of sampling by multiplying the square root of the number of signatures in the sample which are invalid by 1.5;

Please make the appropriate changes in your copies of the regulation. Thank you.

Very truly yours,

A. Ludlow Kramer
