WAC 113-12-110 PROHIBITED PRACTICES. No chiropractor shall:

- (1) Employ the use of needles in the treatment of a patient;
- (2) Hold himself out as practicing acupuncture in any form;
- (3) In his practice use any device or instrument which is not utilized or taught in or by any college of chiropractic accredited by the Washington State Board of Chiropractic Examiners, nor tested in an examination for licensure without prominently displaying a notice on or near the device or instrument. Such notice shall state that: "This device or instrument is being utilized for purpose of research. No claims can be made for its ability to produce curative effects."
