Background: The office of county auditor is an elected office required by statute to exist in every non-charter county.

Among other responsibilities, a county auditor maintains property records in the county, conducts elections, and acts as the clerk of the board of county commissioners. In addition, a county auditor: (1) Settles accounts of persons indebted to the county or who hold money payable to the county treasury; (2) makes an exhibit of the county's finances; (3) maintains a registry of warrants authorized to be issued by the county legislative authority or superior court; and (4) examines the books of the county treasurer.

Summary of Bill: The general authorities of a county auditor are revised.

The authority of a county auditor to examine and settle accounts is deleted. Details are deleted from the annual settlement account of the county treasurer with the board of county commissioners. Details are deleted from the exhibit of annual county finances that is required to be prepared and the exhibit must include a statement of financial condition and operation in accordance with standards developed by the state auditor. The requirement that county auditors examine the books of the county treasurers monthly is deleted. Some details are removed from the record that is maintained on warrants issued by the county.

The requirement is deleted that the county prosecuting attorney examine the public records and books of the county auditor, assessor, treasurer, superintendent of schools, and sheriff.

The requirement is eliminated for each member of a board of county commissioners to provide an inventory of personal property to the county auditor annually. The full board of county commissioners provides this annual inventory of personal property, and inventory details are removed. A requirement is deleted that this inventory be published in the official county newspaper.

The prohibition is deleted that a county commissioner may not maintain official records that duplicate the records of the county engineer. The county engineer is not required to maintain financial documents that are retained and filed in other county departments.

Itemized travel expense vouchers are required to be filed on or before 15 days following the close of the authorized travel period, rather than on or before 10 days following the close of the authorized travel period.
