Changing provisions relating to parties liable for damages in actions under chapter 7.70 RCW.

(DIGEST OF PROPOSED 1ST SUBSTITUTE)

Declares an intent that health care providers should remain personally liable for their own negligent or wrongful acts or omissions in connection with the provision of health care services, but that their vicarious liability for the negligent or wrongful acts or omissions of others should be curtailed. To that end, it is the intent of the legislature that Adamski v. Tacoma General Hospital, 20 Wn. App. 98, 579 P.2d 970 (1978), and its holding that hospitals may be held liable for a physician's acts or omissions under so-called "apparent agency" or "ostensible agency" theories should be reversed, so that hospitals will not be liable for the act or omission of a health care provider granted hospital privileges unless the health care provider is an actual agent or employee of the hospital or unless the hospital's negligence proximately caused the injury.

Declares an intent that, notwithstanding any generally applicable principle of vicarious liability to the contrary, individual health care professionals will not be liable for the negligent or wrongful acts of others, except those who were acting under their direct supervision and control.

Finds that this process of local planning must have all the tools necessary to accomplish this task and that it is essential for the legislature to provide a clear statutory process for implementation so that the locally developed plan will be the adopted and implemented plan to the greatest extent possible.

SB 5125-S by Senate Committee on Natural Resources, Energy & Water (originally sponsored by Senators Honeyford, Doumit and Morton)

Improving the effectiveness of the trust water rights program.

(DIGEST OF PROPOSED 1ST SUBSTITUTE)

Finds that the trust water rights program is an important tool in meeting the state's current and future needs for water, both instream and out-of-stream.

Finds that the existing procedures for establishing trust water rights are unnecessarily complex, and are difficult to explain and administer and finds that groups currently developing local watershed plans and regional water management programs are seeking an effective means to facilitate multiple, voluntary transfers of existing water rights to address presently unmet needs and future needs.

Declares an intent to enhance the effectiveness of the trust water rights program by improving existing incentives, removing disincentives, and clarifying and consolidating procedures for establishing trust water rights.

Finds that a state trust water rights program is an effective means to facilitate the voluntary transfer of water and water rights, established through conservation, purchase, lease, or donation, to secure and preserve water rights and provide water for presently unmet needs and emerging needs, and the trust water rights program improves the ability of the state to work with the United States and the various water users in the ongoing program to satisfy both existing rights and other presently unmet as well as future needs of the Yakima basin, through improvements to the existing federal water project in the Yakima river basin, authorized under P.L. 96-162.

Regarding rule-making of natural resources agencies.

(DIGEST OF PROPOSED 1ST SUBSTITUTE)

Finds that: (1) The regulatory reform act of 1995 prohibits agency rules from differing from existing federal standards unless a state statute explicitly allows such a difference or substantial evidence shows that different state rules are necessary;

(2) In spite of these provisions, natural resource agencies, including the departments of ecology and fish and wildlife, continue to develop and adopt state rules, guidelines, permit conditions, and policies that substantially differ from those that have already been adopted by federal agencies;

(3) Differing from existing federal requirements or policies increases costs to state agencies and local governments, results in burdensome and conflicting regulatory programs, and prevents Washington state from being economically competitive in the national and global economy;

(4) Natural resource agencies should give priority to assisting and educating regulated entities and local governments in understanding and complying with existing federal requirements or policies, rather than creating different state standards; and

(5) The state must maintain the independence and flexibility to differ from or exceed federal standards when necessary.

Declares an intent to ensure that state natural resource agencies do not exceed existing federal requirements and policies when implementing programs for which federal requirements or policies exist, unless specifically directed by the legislature to do so.
