Background:

The federal government granted a request from the State of Washington to charge monthly premiums for medical, dental, and mental health coverage of children whose family income is above the poverty level. The Department of Social and Health Services has the statutory authority to establish, copayment, deductible, coinsurance, or other cost-sharing requirements for recipients of any medical program. The amount, scope, and duration of health care services for children served through the children's health program is the same as that provided to children through the medical assistance program operated by the Department of Social and Health Services. Eligibility for the children's health program for undocumented children is currently set at the Federal Poverty Level.

Summary of Engrossed Second Substitute Bill:

The requirement that the University of Washington conduct an evaluation of the maternity care access program is deleted. An intent statement is provided that the Legislature intends to provide health care coverage for all children by 2010. Within available funds, the children's health program will provide health services to poor children who are not eligible for medical assistance because of their legal status. An emergency clause is provided.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available on the substitute bill.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: (Health Care) Undocumented children have lost health coverage through recent budget decisions. These children need access to regular, preventive health care, and ongoing health insurance.

(Neutral) If the Legislature chooses to provide health coverage to undocumented children through the children's health program and not treat it as an entitlement, the Department of Social and Health Services should be authorized to cap enrollment.

Testimony For: (Appropriations) Taking care of children should be our number one priority. Children are the least expensive of all age groups to take care of and covering them sends a clear message that we know what we are about as a government. Over 50,000 children have lost Medicaid coverage since the administrative changes enacted in the 2003 budget. Charging low-income families premiums will result in large numbers of children losing health coverage. Children without health coverage will cost us more in hospitalization and other health care costs. Children's Medicaid premiums would exacerbate our current funding crisis in mental health. Between 2002 and 2004, the percentage of children uninsured in Washington State went from 4.5 percent to 5.8 percent in two years. Between 2002 and 2003, charity care has increased 50 percent at hospitals in the state. This legislation is good government and is cost-effective. Providing children with consistent access to care will lead to their improved health as adults. Keeping children healthy and avoiding the need for hospitalizations helps keep health care costs down. It is much less expensive to treat children in a physician's office than in the emergency room or the hospital. We support the idea of covering all children with health insurance and eliminating Medicaid premiums, as this will benefit our state financially. The cost of delaying care and not providing a medical home is huge. The goals of education reform will not be realized to the fullest if our kids don't arrive at the classroom healthy and ready to learn.
