Background:

Long-Term Mental Health Placement Facilities.

Except in regional service areas with fully-integrated medical care, behavioral health organizations are responsible for the administration of community-based commitments and services under the Involuntary Treatment Act. The Involuntary Treatment Act governs the commitment of persons for involuntary mental health treatment if they pose a likelihood of serious harm or are gravely disabled due to a mental disorder. Inpatient commitments for 90 or 180 days of treatment take place at one of two state hospitals operated by the Department of Social and Health Services. Long-term inpatient care beds at the state hospitals are divided among all of the regional service areas with a specific allocation to each based on patient days of care.

Certificate of Need.

The certificate of need process evaluates proposals by certain health care providers to expand health care activities and reviews the potential impact of the expansion on a community's need for the service. A certificate of need from the Department of Health (Department) is required prior to the construction, renovation, or sale of a health care facility; changes in bed capacity; an increase in the number of dialysis stations at a kidney disease treatment center; or the addition of specialized health services. Under the program, the Department reviews the project using specific criteria related to community need, quality of services, financial feasibility, and the impact on health care costs in the community. A facility or service that is subject to the certificate of need program must be approved prior to beginning operations.

Until June 30, 2019, certificate of need requirements have been suspended for hospitals that change the use of licensed beds to increase the number of beds used to provide psychiatric services. For acute care hospitals, the exemption applies to hospitals that are changing the use of licensed beds to psychiatric beds as well as adding new psychiatric beds. For psychiatric hospitals, the exemption applies to the addition of up to 30 new psychiatric beds. The exemption also applies to the construction of a new psychiatric facility that has no more than 16 beds, a portion of which are to be used for treating adults on 90- or 180-day involuntary commitment orders. The Department of Commerce administers grants to hospitals to add new psychiatric beds to their facilities. The certificate of need requirements were suspended in fiscal years 2016 and 2017 for hospitals adding beds through the grant program.

Summary of Second Substitute Bill:

The Department of Health (Department) is authorized to license or certify intensive behavioral health treatment facilities. An "intensive behavioral health treatment facility" is defined as a community-based residential treatment facility for behavioral health patients whose impairment or behaviors require care that cannot be met in other settings. The Department must work with the Health Care Authority (Authority) and the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) to create credentialing standards for intensive behavioral health treatment facilities. The Department must adopt rules to require 24-hour supervision of residents, require staffing levels that meet the acuity of the residents, define the ability to use limited egress, limit the age of residents to persons who are at least 18 years old, and establish resident rights that are similar to the rights of residents of other long-term care facilities. The Secretary of the Department must consult with the DSHS, the Department of Commerce, the Long-Term Care Ombuds, and other relevant stakeholders to provide recommendations on providing resident rights and access to ombuds services to the residents of intensive behavioral health facilities. The report must be submitted to the Governor and the appropriate committees of the Legislature by December 1, 2019.

The Authority shall establish a pilot program to provide mental health drop-in center services. The mental health drop-in center services shall provide a peer-focused recovery model during the daytime hours through a community-based, therapeutic, less restrictive alternative to hospitalization for acute psychiatric needs. The pilot program shall assist clients in need of voluntary, short-term, noncrisis services that focus on recovery and wellness. The pilot program shall occur between January 1, 2020, and July 1, 2022, in the largest city in a regional service area with at least nine counties. The Authority must submit a preliminary report to the Governor and the appropriate committees of the Legislature by December 1, 2020, that includes a survey of peer mental health programs. A final report must be submitted by December 1, 2021, on the results of the pilot program.

The Authority and behavioral health organizations must assess the capacity of community hospitals and evaluation and treatment facilities to become certified to provide long-term inpatient care. In addition, the Authority and behavioral health organizations must enter into contracts with those hospitals and evaluation and treatment facilities that choose to provide such services. Community hospitals and evaluation and treatment facilities are not required to become certified to provide long-term mental health placements.

The suspension of certificate of need requirements is extended from June 30, 2019, to June 30, 2021, for:

- acute care hospitals that are changing the use of licensed beds to increase the number of beds to provide psychiatric services;
- acute care hospitals that add new psychiatric beds;
- psychiatric hospitals that add up to 30 new psychiatric beds; and
- entities that construct a new psychiatric hospital that has no more than 16 beds and dedicate a portion of the beds to providing treatment to persons on a 90- or 180-day involuntary commitment order.

The suspension of certificate of need requirements for hospitals receiving grants from the Department of Commerce to add new psychiatric beds is continued for grants received in calendar years 2018 and 2019.

The DSHS is authorized to provide an enhanced adult residential rate to nursing homes that convert their bed use to provide assisted living or adult residential care. Nursing homes that permanently convert a portion of capacity to assisted living or adult residential care, including serving persons with behavioral health treatment needs may receive a supplemental add-on residential care rate. The authority for the DSHS to provide a supplemental assisted living services rate to nursing homes that permanently convert beds from nursing home use to assisted living is eliminated.

By November 15, 2019, the Authority must confer with the Department, hospitals, and evaluation and treatment facilities to review laws and regulations and identify changes that may be necessary to address health care delivery and cost-effective treatment for adults on 90- or 180-day commitment orders. The Authority must report its findings to the Governor and the appropriate committees of the Legislature by December 15, 2019.

By December 1, 2019, the Secretary of the Department must provide recommendations to the Governor's Office and the appropriate committees of the Legislature on youth short-term residential intensive behavioral health and developmental disabilities services. The recommendations must address staffing requirements and developmental disability-related services to support youth and their families in preparation for discharge. The Department must develop the report in consultation with DSHS, the Department of Children, Youth, and Family, and the Authority.

Legislative findings are made regarding the need for additional bed capacity and services for individuals with behavioral health needs, the benefits of receiving treatment in the community, the struggles of the state hospitals to meet the rising demand for services, and the challenge of finding appropriate facilities for individuals with complex behavioral health needs. Legislative intent is stated as providing more options for behavioral health clients by creating new facility types and expanding the capacity of current provider types in the community.

EFFECT OF SENATE AMENDMENT(S):

The Senate amendment specifies that intensive behavioral health treatment facilities are specialized facilities for persons whose behavioral health conditions no longer meet criteria for involuntary inpatient commitment, including persons being discharged from or diverted from state or local hospitals. The rules related to intensive behavioral health treatment facilities must: (1) clearly define clinical eligibility criteria in alignment with the definition of the facilities; (2) establish staffing standards that include a clinical team and a high staff-to-patient ratio; (3) establish requirements for providing services to individuals with intellectual or developmental disabilities; and (4) require access to regular psychosocial rehabilitation services, including skills training in daily living activities, social interaction, behavior management, impulse control, and self-management of medications.

The Senate amendment establishes mental health peer respite centers as peer-run programs to serve individuals in need of voluntary, short-term noncrisis services that focus on recovery and wellness. Mental health peer respite centers are credentialed by the Secretary of Health who must: (1) establish requirements for community behavioral health agencies to provide mental health peer respite center services; (2) require credentialed agencies to partner with the local crisis system; (3) establish staffing requirements; (4) limit services to a maximum of seven days in a month; (5) limit services to person experiencing psychiatric distress, but do not meet criteria for involuntary hospitalization; and (6) limit services to persons who are at least 18 years old.

The Senate amendment changes the development of recommendations on youth short-term residential intensive behavioral health and developmental disability services. The recommendations are due July 1, 2020, rather than December 1, 2019. The development of the recommendations is to be led by the Health Care Authority, rather than the Department of Health, which must consult with the Department of Health, the Department of Children, Youth, and Families, the Department of Social and Health Services, representatives from providers serving children's inpatient psychiatric needs in each of the three largest cities in Washington, representatives from behavioral health and developmental disability service providers, and representatives from developmental disability advocacy organizations. The recommendations must relate to short-term and long-term residential intensive behavioral health and developmental disability services for youth and adults with developmental disabilities and behavioral health needs who may experience barriers discharging from inpatient behavioral health treatment. The recommendations must: (1) consider services to support the youth or adult, the family, and the residential service provider in preparation for and after discharge; (2) establish staffing and funding requirements that provide an appropriate level of treatment for residents in facilities; and (3) consider how to successfully transition a youth to adult services without service disruption.

The Senate amendment requires the Developmental Disabilities Administration to track and monitor certain information about clients receiving services from a provider who are taken or admitted to a hospital and clients that are taken or admitted to a hospital once the client's provider terminates services. The information must be deidentified and made available to the Office of the Developmental Disabilities Ombuds, the Legislature, the Washington State Hospital Association, and the public. Certified residential services and support programs under contract with the Developmental Disabilities Administration and state-operated living alternatives must notify the Department of Social and Health Services when a client is taken or admitted to a hospital for services without a medical need and when a client is taken or admitted to a hospital with a medical need, but is unable to discharge back to the provider.

The Senate amendment exempts psychiatric hospitals from certificate of need requirements for the one-time addition of up to 60 psychiatric beds to be used for 90-day and 180-day civil commitment patient. The exemption applies to hospitals awarded a grant by the Department of Commerce to increase behavioral health capacity in fiscal year 2019 and make a commitment to maintain a payer mix of at least 50 percent Medicare and Medicaid patient days for five years. The exemption expires June 30, 2021.

The Senate amendment changes the definition of "recovery" to mean a process of change through which individuals improve their health and wellness, live a self-directed life, and strive to reach their full potential. The definition of "registration records" is removed.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony (Health Care & Wellness):

(In support) There are a number of gaps in the behavioral health system and this bill adds two new types of facilities and gives statutory authority for long-term commitments. This is an important increase in capacity because creating these new facilities can take some of the long-term residents of psychiatric hospitals who no longer need to be in psychiatric hospitals and move them into a more residential setting in the community. There still needs to be a significant investment in community behavioral health agencies and outpatient behavioral health services. This bill removes a time limit on enhanced funding for nursing facilities that care for patients with high behavioral health needs. There are youth who are very hard to serve in the developmental disabilities and mental health systems and this bill will establish a work group to develop recommendations for them. The bill should focus on increasing substance use disorder beds and making sure that everyone is on a work group to address the whole spectrum and continuum of care for behavioral health. Many evaluation and treatment facilities are already providing these services because it is so difficult to get people into the state hospitals. Evaluation and treatment facilities should be part of the Department of Health and hospital regulatory review committee. The bill should clearly indicate that mental health drop-in centers are meant to be 24 hour facilities. There is support for the working group to look at staffing structures and ensuring quality.

The permissive language to allow community hospitals to do 90- and 180-day civil commitments is needed to authorize them to provide these services. The bill will extend a two-year exemption from certificate of need requirements for psychiatric beds. There are three community hospitals in Snohomish and Yakima counties that are willing to provide 20 long-term involuntary commitment psychiatric beds and three psychiatric hospitals in King County that can provide an additional 46 beds with at least six beds will be dedicated to patients on 90- to 180-day commitments will be able to come online with a certificate of need exemption and another 30 short-term psychiatric beds. This bill will potentially bring a lot of beds online to serve the needs of members in the community. Hospitals have a number of certificates of need that are 30 to 120 days delayed because of the number of applications that the Department of Health has and this bill will help expedite getting these beds online. The Governor has proposed a behavioral health teaching campus with up to 150 90- to 180-day psychiatric beds and the University of Washington will need flexibility to add the beds from that project. This bill will do that by extending the certificate of need exemption. Certificate of need oversight should not be removed for non-state operated facilities.

All of the other residents who live in similar long-term care facilities have a set of resident rights and it is appropriate that individuals who will be living in these facilities have access to those same rights.

(Opposed) None.

(Other) There is no doubt that there is a need for additional bed capacity and services for behavioral health in communities, but it needs to be done in a thoughtful manner. Continuing the exemption from certificate of need does not allow adequate time to determine if the beds are truly needed in a particular area. The certificate of need process makes providers aware of other providers' plans so the community can readjust.

There is a significant staffing shortage and community facilities have a difficult time staffing already and building more facilities will create an increased need for staff and make the shortage more critical and possibly placing patient care at greater risk. The greatest challenge for behavioral health facilities is the ongoing operational costs and if the state does not put more non-Medicaid funds into the system, the facilities could stand empty. In order to make the system work, a bigger workforce and better funding for the operation of the facilities is needed.

There is nothing in the bill about rights for patients or oversight. There should be something like the Long-Term Residents Rights Act which is applicable in most facilities. There is usually some jurisdiction for the Long-Term Care Ombuds or another entity, but it is missing from this bill.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony (Appropriations):

(In support) This bill is important in the context of figuring out how to provide care in the most appropriate settings for individuals with mental health issues in our state. It provides hospitals with the authority needed to treat patients who are on 90- to 180-day involuntary commitment orders. It provides exemptions to the certificate of need process which will allow for needed beds to be brought online more rapidly.

(Opposed) None.
