Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) Currently, California recognizes Dolores Huerta Day. There has been requests from women across the nation and the state to expand the number of states that recognize this day. Dolores Huerta is an example of someone who came from a humble background, pulled herself up, and made sure to give back to others. She stood up for the rights of women in the agricultural field and was dedicated to her work for the rights of immigrants and farm workers. She helped to bring dignity to the work of farm workers.

She was also an educator and taught students about the importance of building community and developing the use of nonviolence as a way of life. She taught others to not assume that because a person does not have formal education, they cannot do the work before them. She lived a life invested in humanity.

Dolores Huerta was awarded the highest civilian award in the nation when President Obama bestowed upon her the Presidential Medal of Freedom. This bill would recognize a woman of color and someone who was a role model to others.

(Opposed) None.
