EFFECT: Specifies entities subject to the bill's requirements must provide health care for humans.

Provides transactions with Indian Health Care Providers and Federally Qualified Health Centers do not qualify as material change transactions under the bill, unless the transaction would result in such participants no longer qualifying as Indian Health Care Providers or Federally Qualified Health Centers.

Retains requirement for Attorney General, after receiving notice a party is seeking emergency review, to notify the party whether the transaction is subject to emergency review, while removing the requirement to notify the party whether the transaction is subject to preliminary review requiring documentation. Specifies that, if a transaction is accepted for emergency review, the parties may submit notice less than 120 days before the transaction. Specifies that, for transactions qualifying for emergency review, the Attorney General must: expedite preliminary and comprehensive review; complete any comprehensive review within 90 days; and approve, impose conditions or modifications on, or disapprove the transaction within 90 days.

Removes a provision allowing federally qualified health centers and rural health clinics to always qualify for basic notice requirements.
