Background:

The state Medal of Valor is awarded to any person or group of individuals who have saved, or attempted to save, the life of another at the risk of serious injury or death to themselves. Recipients of the award are selected by the Governor's State Medal of Valor Committee (Committee), which consists of the Governor, President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, or their designees. The Committee meets annually to consider candidates for the award, and any individual may nominate a resident or group of residents of the state for the award. However, the award may not be given to any individual who acted during the course of their duties while serving in the following professions and employed by a government entity within the state: law enforcement, firefighting, rescue, or other hazardous profession. There have been 12 recipients of the award.

The award is presented to recipients by the Governor, who may present the award only during a joint session of both houses of the Legislature. The Governor may delegate presentation of the award to other members of the Committee, except the Secretary of State, if the Governor is unable to present the award due to disability or illness.
