

RCW 71.09.112 Department of social and health services—Jurisdiction and revocation of conditional release after criminal conviction—Exception. A person subject to court order under the provisions of this chapter who is thereafter convicted of a criminal offense remains under the jurisdiction of the department and shall be returned to the custody of the department following: (1) Completion of the criminal sentence; or (2) release from confinement in a state, federal, or local correctional facility. Any conditional release order shall be immediately revoked upon conviction for a criminal offense.

This section does not apply to persons subject to a court order under the provisions of this chapter who are thereafter sentenced to life without the possibility of release. [2009 c 409 s 13; 2002 c 19 s 1.]

Application—Effective date—2009 c 409: See notes following RCW 71.09.020.