NEW

WAC 132.08.003 TEMPORARY PROCEDURES FOR CERTIFICATION OF INSTRUCTORS. Until such time as the state board for community college education adopts permanent minimum standards establishing qualifications and credentials for community college faculty, other than vocational education faculty, pursuant to section 9(7)(a) of the 1967 community college act, the certification requirements established by the state superintendent of public instruction prior to the effective date of the 1967 community college act for community colleges shall remain in effect.

No individual shall be allowed to teach a community college course other than a vocational education course unless he or she has one of the following:

(1) Either a temporary, three-year, special (adult) certificate or a certificate held on a continuing basis issued by the state superintendent of public instruction prior to the effective date of the state board of community college education emergency rule No. 1 adopted August 10, 1967;

(2) A certificate which was extended or issued in accordance with emergency regulation No. 1, supra;

(3) A temporary or one-year certificate issued by the director of the community college system between the effective date of the emergency regulation No. 1, supra, and the effective date of this regulation; or

(4) A one-year certificate issued by the director of the community college system in accordance with this rule.

The director of the state community college system shall be authorized to issue one-year certificates to individuals who meet the aforesaid certification requirements. The community college presidents are authorized and directed to determine whether applicants for certification meet existing certification requirements and to certify the names of applicants so qualified to the director.

NEW

WAC 132.08.004 AUTHORITY OF THE DIRECTOR TO REVOKE CERTIFICATES. The director is authorized to revoke any of the certificates required to be held by community college instructors and administrators to be eligible under WAC 132.08.003 to teach a community college course (other than vocational education) upon the complaint of any community college board of trustees or college president for immorality, violation of their contracts of employment, intemperance, crime against the state, or any unprofessional conduct, after the employee has been given an opportunity to be heard.

To revoke a certificate, the director must comply with the notice and hearing requirement of the Administrative Procedures Act for contested cases.
