The first thing I noticed when I stepped out of the plane was the fresh air. It felt like a breath of life.
 The sun was shining brightly, and the birds
 were chirping happily.
 I had never felt so alive before.

NEW

WAC 131-34-010 FACT FINDING AND MEDIATION BY STATE DIRECTOR. When mutually consented to by the parties negotiating pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 28B.52 RCW (the Academic Employees Negotiations Act), the director will conduct fact finding and mediation activities related to unresolved or disputed issues; such activities shall include recommending possible solutions, exchanging proposals and communications, utilizing expert consultants, and scheduling joint meetings of the parties for the purpose of attempting to resolve such issues.

NEW

WAC 131-34-020 PROCEDURES FOR OPERATIONS OF IMPASSE ADVISORY COMMITTEES. When, after having given the required written twenty-four hour notice to the other party, an authorized bargaining representative or a district board of trustees, or its designee, requests in writing the assistance of the director in resolving a disputed issue being negotiated pursuant to Chapter 28B.52 RCW, the following procedures will be observed:

- (1) The director or his designee will conduct a preliminary investigation for the purpose of determining if in his judgment a negotiations impasse in fact has occurred.
- (2) Upon concurring that an impasse exists, the director will appoint an impasse advisory committee of sufficient size and composition that in his judgment is appropriate to the circumstances of the dispute and designate its chairman.
- (3) Members of the committee will serve without compensation, but will be reimbursed from the administrative funds appropriated to the State Board for travel and expenses at established rates for State Board staff personnel.
- (4) The committee will meet in a location convenient to the parties at impasse, giving reasonable notice of its meeting and providing ample opportunity for both parties to present testimony.
- (5) The parties at impasse will exchange and provide the committee with copies of a written statement of the events that preceded the impasse, statement of the problem or issue that led to impasse, and in addition to any other information, records, statistical compilations, reports, or communications relevant to the impasse as the committee or the director may request.
- (6) The committee may meet with such individuals or groups other than the bargaining representative and the board of trustees, or its designee, as it determines to have information germane to the impasse.
- (7) The committee may issue a written report with recommendations within twenty calendar days of receipt of the request for assistance.

(8) Meetings of the committee shall not be open to individuals other than representatives of the parties at impasse, unless the attendance of such individuals is specifically requested by the committee.

(9) The committee will not normally issue statements to the public or the communications media other than to indicate the initiating and concluding of its activities.

(10) The major purpose of the committee shall be to make recommendations intended to resolve the issues or problems upon which the impasse was declared. The committee shall normally confine its investigation to such matters to the end that the negotiating relationship can be re-established and concluded in the manner set forth in law and the duly adopted procedural agreements governing district-level negotiations.

NEW

WAC 131-34-030 DECLARATION OF IMPASSE. The party declaring an impasse shall specify in writing the issue or issues upon which the declaration is based, which may include such factors as insufficient negotiations, refusal to negotiate, procedural disagreement, mutual agreement to seek the advice of an impasse committee, or other similar reasons. The declaring party shall provide detailed documentation to support the request. In the event the director denies the request, he shall propose alternative means of resolving the issue or issues, including provision for such activities as fact-finding and mediation.
