Background: Deaf and hard of hearing people have difficulty accessing services for which they are eligible and entitled, because of their disability. The current array of services available through the Department of Social and Health Services is not always available to deaf and hard of hearing people because of a lack of: interpreters, coordination among service providers, and training and consultative services to public and private agencies.

Summary of Bill: An office of deaf services is established within the Department of Social and Health Services. The department will establish a regional service center for the deaf and hard of hearing in each of five regions. A state deaf services advisory committee and five regional deaf service advisory committees are established.

Fiscal Note: Requested February 1, 1991.

Appropriation: Yes.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill passed.

Testimony For: Deaf and hard of hearing people need better communication services through interpreters and other services to become valuable, contributing members of society. Many services for the deaf and hard of hearing are not fully utilized, because it is difficult to access them. Regional deaf service centers can provide these services in close proximity to deaf and hard of hearing people's communities.

Testimony Against: None.

Witnesses: Gary Mann, Central Washington Service Center for the Deaf; Thelma Struch and Leon Curtis, Department of Social and Health Services; Jean Stokesbary, Southwest Washington Center for the Deaf; and Sharon Schira-Layton, Camille Poe and Janet Johanson, Seattle Service Center for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing.

Summary of Recommendation of Committee on Revenue Compared to Recommendation of Committee on Human Services: The services offered by regional service centers are clarified to include individual and family counseling, interpreter services and vocational rehabilitation. Regional service centers are prohibited from performing activities provided by licensed hearing aid dispensers. A tax, in addition to the business and occupation tax, is place on the manufacturing, wholesaling and retailing of audio tapes, audio records, and audio compact disks. The tax rate is 0.4 percent, four-tenths of one percent. The program is declared null and void unless taxes providing the funding source are in this bill or another. Also, the appropriation in the bill is eliminated if the program is funded in the 1991-93 operating budget.

Fiscal Note: Requested February 1, 1991.

Appropriation: Yes.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: Hearing impaired programs are the least funded but the most common form of disability. Existing deaf and hard of hearing centers are understaffed and cannot provide the needed services. Service needs exist for school age children, interpreters, vocational and family counselors.
