Background: The Legislature created the Running Start Program in 1990. This program allows 11th and 12th grade students to apply for enrollment at a community college or vocational-technical institute. The student's school district is required to transmit to the community college or vocational-technical institute (VTI) the amount of state funds generated by a full time equivalent student and in proportion to the number of hours of instruction the student receives at the community college or VTI.

Under current law, the State Board for Community College Education is authorized to select up to five community college districts to participate in the Running Start Program during the 1990-1991 and 1991-1992 school years. Beginning with the 1992-1993 school year, the program is available to all community colleges.

With respect to VTIs, they all could elect to participate in the Running Start Program in the 1990-1991 school year and are required to participate in the 1991-1992 school year.

Summary of Bill: The Running Start Program is expanded to include institutions of higher education, beginning with the 1992-93 school year.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Testimony For: (Education): Currently, many of the state's 4-year institutions of higher education allow high school students to take college courses. Students are charged tuition for those classes. Four-year institutions of higher education should be included to increase flexibility in the system and to meet individual student needs.

(Appropriations): Same as Committee on Education.

Testimony Against: (Education): The Running Start program pilot projects in the community colleges should continue through the 1991-92 school year and not be opened up to all community colleges until the 1992-93 school year. The basic education dollars that would be sent to the institutions of higher education are less than the amount of tuition. The technical problems regarding the funding differential, difference in calendars, and release of grades should be resolved before the program is expanded to institutions of higher education. Note: The substitute bill addressed some of the issues raised in the testimony against.

(Appropriations): There may be enough differences in costs between the K-12 and higher education system to merit continuing "Running Start" as a pilot rather than going statewide in 1992-93.

Witnesses: (Education): Ron Crossland, State Board for Community College Education (opposed); Marcia Costello, Superintendent of Public Instruction (opposed); Judy McNickle, Western Washington University (opposed); Marilyn Baker, Higher Education Coordinating Board (opposed); and Walter Ball, Washington Association of School Administrators (opposed).

(Appropriations): Barbara Peterson, HECB (opposed).
