WHEREAS, Since April 9, 1991, the Washington State Senate has missed the quick wit and ready smile of Senator George Sellar, one of the most senior members of the Senate; and

WHEREAS, Senator George Sellar is appreciated by senators on both sides of the aisle for his wisdom, experience, and caring nature; and

WHEREAS, Senator Sellar has such a big heart that he had to have six bypasses; and

WHEREAS, Fellow senators from across the state (and people from Scotland) turn to Senator Sellar for his counsel and guidance; and

WHEREAS, Senator Sellar has always been known as a pacemaker, and, on April 16, 1991, appropriately joined the esteemed "Zipper Club"; and

I, Gordon A. Golob, Secretary of the Senate,
