16   "Sec. 14. RCW 85.38.200 and 1986 c 278 s 8 are each amended to 17 read as follows:
18   (1) Territory that is ((<s>contiguously located</s>)) adjoining or in 19 close proximity to a special district may be annexed by the special 20 district as provided in this section under the petition and election, 21 resolution and election, or direct petition method of annexation.
22   (2) An annexation under the election method may be initiated by the 23 filing of a petition requesting the action that is signed by at least 24 ten owners of property in the area proposed to be annexed or the 25 adoption of a resolution requesting such action by the governing body 26 of the special district. The petitions shall be filed with the 27 governing body of the special district that is requested to annex the 28 territory. An election to authorize an annexation initiated under the 29 petition and election method may be held only if the governing body 30 approves the annexation. An annexation under either election method 31 shall be authorized if the voters of the area proposed to be annexed approve a ballot proposition favoring the annexation by a simple majority vote. The annexation shall be effective when results of an election so favoring the annexation are certified by the county auditor or auditors. The election, notice of the election, and eligibility to vote at the election shall be as provided for the creation of a special district.

   (3) An annexation under the direct petition method of annexation may be accomplished if the owners of a majority of the acreage proposed to be annexed sign a petition requesting the annexation, and the governing body of the special district approves the annexation. The petition shall be filed with the governing body of the special district. The annexation shall be effective when the governing body approves the annexation.

   (4) Whenever a special district annexes territory under this section, the exclusive method by which the special district measures and imposes special assessments upon real property within the entire enlarged area shall be as set forth in RCW 85.38.150 through 85.38.170."

   Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct any internal references accordingly.
