Background:

All cities, code cities, towns, and counties (local governments) have general authority to adopt comprehensive plans and zoning ordinances. Local governments required or choosing to plan under the State's Growth Management Act (GMA) have specific requirements to adopt comprehensive plans containing certain elements consistent with GMA requirements and to enact implementing development regulations, including zoning provisions.

A "designated manufactured home" is defined as a manufactured home constructed after June 15, 1976, in accordance with federal construction standards, that meets certain minimum size and roof pitch requirements, and has exterior siding material similar to materials commonly used in conventional site-built homes.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

Local governments are prohibited from enacting any statute or ordinance that has the effect, either directly or indirectly, of discriminating against consumers' choices in the placement or use of a home. Homes built consistent with the National Manufactured Housing Construction and Safety Standards Act of 1974, 42 U.S.C. Sec. 5401 et. seq., must be regulated in the same manner as site-built homes, factory-built homes, or homes built to any other state construction standard.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

The effective date of the act is changed from 90 days after adjournment of session to July 1, 2005.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not Requested.

Effective Date of Substitute Bill: The bill takes effect on July 1, 2005.

Testimony For: The question is whether cities should be allowed to take away a consumer's choices where Congress has said that manufactured housing meets federal code standards. Requiring additional design standards is fine, manufactured housing can meet these standards. However, site-built homes must also meet these standards.

We receive calls all the time from property owners who have purchased property but are prohibited from purchasing and placing a manufactured home on the property. This is discrimination based on ignorance. Manufactured housing should be held to the same standards as site built homes. We would be happy to build to any standard as long as it is consistent with site-built standards.

Testimony Against: This issue has been around for a long time. It is a question of local choice and local circumstance. All cities allow manufactured homes in certain designated areas. The placement of manufactured housing has historically been a local matter. There is nothing more germane to local government jurisdiction as residential zoning and neighborhood character. Nothing rises to the level that should require intervention by the Legislature. We respectfully request that these decisions be left to local governments.

Testified: Mike Ryherd and Joan Brown, Washington Manufactured Housing Association.
