Background:

Washington is on a biennial budget cycle. The Legislature authorizes expenditures for capital needs in the capital budget for a two-year period, and authorizes bond sales through passage of a bond bill associated with the capital budget. The current capital budget covers the period from July 1, 2003, through June 30, 2005.

Summary of Engrossed Substitute Bill:

Supplemental appropriations are made for the 2003-05 biennium of $191.3 million. (See budget highlights.) These appropriations do not require a bond bill to finance.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date: The bill contains an emergency clause and takes effect immediately except for sections 116 and 202 which takes effect April 16, 2004.

Testimony For: The fund switches involving the common school account are fine, it diversifies the funding. Funding for higher education projects is important for a variety of reasons, including: (1) UW's Infectious Disease Lab will bring in a one-to-one federal match; (2) WSU's Riverpoint Academic Center will bring much needed student services to that campus and complement its nursing facility; (3) The Evergreen State College's minor works and chemistry lab projects are kept whole; (4) Western Washington University can renovate Bond Hall; and (5) community and technical colleges receive funding to begin several needed projects. Because of lower federal funding, the salmon recovery program is helped by eliminating the provision restricting funding allocations.

Testimony Against or With Concerns: The Forest Riparian Easement Program funding for the 2003-05 biennium should be increased in this supplemental budget. The community and technical college minor works funding reduction should be restored. Chewelah Peak Environmental Learning Center needs additional funding.
