Background:

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

Legislation enacted in 2006, required the governing boards of the state universities, the regional universities, and The Evergreen State College to work with affiliated bookstores, students, and faculty representatives to adopt rules requiring that affiliated bookstores:

- provide students the option of purchasing unbundled materials when possible;
- disclose the costs of the materials;
- disclose how new editions vary from previous editions; and
- actively promote and publicize book buy-back programs.

The legislation also required the boards to adopt rules requiring faculty and staff members to consider the least costly practices in assigning course materials when educational content is comparable.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

When presenting marketing materials to a faculty member of an institution of higher education, college textbook publishers must disclose the intended price of their products at the bookstore run by or in a contractual relationship with that institution. The publisher must also disclose the history of revisions to the products.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) Textbooks are a significant cost for students. The cost of textbooks has risen faster than inflation and tuition. Faculty understand the burden faced by students and parents, and are sympathetic. They support efforts to reduce costs as long as they don't compromise their ability to select the best material. It is hard for faculty to find out the cost of a book from the publisher's representative. This bill is a good follow-up to last year's unbundling legislation, as it will provide a tool that faculty can use.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: (In support) Representative Hasegawa, prime sponsor; Bryce McKibban, Associated Students of the University of Washington; and Sara Singleton, Council of Faculty Representatives.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: None.
