If an inmate convicted of a violent offense, a sex offense, or felony harassment offense escapes from a correctional facility, DOC must immediately notify the chief of police and the sheriff of the county in which the inmate resided prior to conviction and any victim or witnesses who requested notice.

DOC must provide the victim, the victim's family (if the crime is a homicide), and any witnesses with a statement of the right to request and receive notification.

Summary of Bill: A domestic violence court order violation is added to the list of crimes for which notice of pending release or escape must be provided to the chief of police and county sheriff.

The domestic violence victim, any witnesses, and any other person specified in writing by the prosecutor may request to receive notice of the pending release or escape of an offender convicted of a domestic violence court order violation. DOC must provide the victim and any witnesses with a statement of the right to request and receive notification.
