Background:

Local health departments are authorized to conduct child mortality reviews. A child mortality review is a process for examining factors that contribute to deaths of children less than 18 years of age. The process may include:

- a systematic review of medical, clinical, and hospital records;
- home interviews of parents and caretakers of children who have died;
- analysis of individual case information; and

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

- review of the information by a team of professionals in order to identify modifiable medical, socioeconomic, public health, behavioral, administrative, educational, and environmental factors associated with the death.

Currently, the Department of Health (DOH) collects child mortality reviews and enters them into a database and provides technical assistance relating to child mortality reviews. To do this, the DOH uses funding from the federal Maternal and Child Health Block Grant, one of the purposes of which is to reduce infant mortality.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

The Department of Health (DOH) must assist local health departments to collect the reports of any child mortality reviews and assist the departments to enter the reviews into a database. The DOH must respond to any requests for information from the database, to the extent the information is not protected health information. The DOH must also provide technical assistance to local health departments and child death review coordinators and encourage communication among child death review teams. The DOH must collect these activities using only federal and private funding.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

The substitute clarifies that the DOH must assist the local health jurisdictions to enter the reports into the database. The substitute allows the DOH to use any federal funding for purposes of the act, rather than just federal funding from the Maternal and Child Health Block Grant.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date of Substitute Bill: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) This bill is trying to save a program in a fiscally-neutral manner. Forensics for children can be complex. Washington used to be one of the leaders in this process and we must be again.

(Neutral) Child mortality reviews help keep kids safe by identifying preventable causes of death. Currently, Washington does not have a coordinated death review process. For example, under the current system it is impossible to compare deaths that occur within and without the welfare system.

(Opposed) None.

Persons Testifying: (In support) Representative Moeller, prime sponsor; and Deborah Robinson, Northwest Infant Survival Alliance – SIDS Foundation of Washington.

(Neutral) Mary Meinig, Children and Family Ombudsman.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: None.
