Background:

It is unlawful for anyone not authorized to practice law in this state to market estate distribution documents in or from the state.

An estate distribution document is a will, trust, living trust, or other agreement fixing the terms of the sale of a decedent's interest in any property at or following the decedent's death (except a payable-on-death account or a transfer-on-death account) that is prepared for a specific person and may be prepared as marketing materials. Marketing materials include an offer or agreement to prepare or provide individualized advice about an estate distribution document.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

The unauthorized marketing of estate distribution documents is also a per se violation of the state Consumer Protection Act (CPA). A person who is injured by a violation of the CPA may recover treble damages, costs, and reasonable attorneys' fees.

A person who is not authorized to practice law in this state may nonetheless gather information or assist in preparing estate distribution documents if: (1) he or she is employed by someone who is authorized to practice law in this state, and (2) he or she does not provide legal advice. Financial institutions are also exempt under this chapter.

A certified public accountant is a person holding a public accountant license certified by the Washington State Board of Accountancy. Certified public accountants provide a range of services to clients, often including: accounting assistance, the issuance of reports on financial statements, management and financial advisory services, tax preparation and advisory services, and estate or financial planning.

Summary of Bill:

Certified or licensed public accountants gathering information for the preparation of an estate distribution document are exempt from the law proscribing the marketing of estate distribution documents.

"Gathering information for the preparation of an estate distribution document" is defined as collecting data, facts, figures, records, and other particulars about a specific person or persons for the preparation of an estate planning document but does not include the collection of such information for clients in the customary and usual course of financial, tax, and associated planning.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Not requested.

Effective Date: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.
