- Requires local health departments to provide free infectious disease testing to a Good Samaritan regardless of insurance coverage for the testing, as well as to the source patient.

Hearing Date: 2/3/14

Staff: Alexa Silver (786-7190).

Background:

A Good Samaritan is a person who renders emergency care or transportation without expectation of compensation. A Good Samaritans is entitled to request and receive appropriate infectious disease testing free of charge from the local health department in the county of his or her residence if:

- while rendering emergency care, he or she came into contact with bodily fluids; and
- he or she does not have health insurance that covers the testing.

A local health department is not required to provide health care services beyond testing. The information obtained from the testing is subject to statutory confidentiality provisions.

By rule, to receive free testing there must have been an exchange of bodily fluids that significantly increases the odds of being exposed to a deadly infectious disease, and the Good Samaritan must have requested the testing within 30 days. The local health department determines the diseases for which it is appropriate to test the Good Samaritan.
