The WSTC naming policy states: "a naming is done in a thorough and deliberative manner to honor and institute an enduring memory of a person or group of people who have contributed significantly to the well-being of the state or nation and with the widespread support of the people from the area in which the facility is located."

The naming process can be initiated by the Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT), state and local governmental entities, citizen organizations, or an individual providing sufficient evidence to the WSTC indicating community support and acceptance of the proposal. Alternatively, the Legislature may pass a Joint Memorial requesting that a Creates Committee/Commission/Task Force that includes Legislative members: No.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony on Original Joint Memorial: The committee recommended a different version of the bill than what was heard. PRO: Friends, family members, and veterans would be encouraged that this initiative would carry on the memory of those lost in the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. A bridge sign would tell a story that you are entering or leaving an area with a high concentration of people who have served (Joint Base Lewis-McChord). Many military members stay in the area after serving. This is a simple and low-cost initiative that would mean a great deal to the veterans of the two conflicts. It would recognize thousands of military members and families who live and work in Washington. It was unanimously approved by the Joint Committee for Veterans' and Military Affairs.

Persons Testifying: PRO: Senator Steve O'Ban, Prime Sponsor; David Gibson, MOAA; Cheryl Brady, MOWW; Deryl McCarty, Veterans Legislative Coalition.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: No one.
