Background:

A Regional Transportation Planning Organization (RTPO) is a voluntary association of local governments within a county, or within geographically contiguous counties, created primarily to prepare a regional transportation plan and to ensure local and regional coordination of transportation planning within a county or counties. An RTPO can cover both urban and rural areas and receives state funding in support of its planning efforts.

An RTPO must contain:

- at least one complete county with a population of at least 100,000;
- at least one complete county with a population of at least 75,000 and contain a Washington State Ferries terminal;
- at least three counties regardless of population; or
- at least one complete county with a population of at least 40,000 and covering a geographic area of at least 5,000 square miles.

An RTPO must also include at least 60 percent of the cities and towns in the region representing at least 75 percent of the cities' and towns' populations.

There are currently RTPOs covering 38 of the 39 counties in Washington. San Juan County is not part of any RTPO.

All RTPOs are encouraged to seek Native American tribal involvement under the Washington Administrative Code.

Summary of Substitute Bill:

In order to be eligible to receive funds that are appropriated to the Washington State Department of Transportation for local planning purposes, an RTPO must provide a reasonable opportunity for voting membership to any federally recognized tribe that holds reservation or trust land or has usual and accustomed areas within the RTPO boundaries.

Substitute Bill Compared to Original Bill:

Federally recognized tribes with usual and accustomed areas within the boundaries of an RTPO are added to the tribes that must be provided a reasonable opportunity for voting membership in the RTPO.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date of Substitute Bill: The bill takes effect on August 1, 2019.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) There are currently 11 RTPOs that have tribes located within their boundaries. Eight of these RTPOs have tribes with voting membership.

The Spokane Tribe does not have voting rights in the Spokane County RTPO, but should be allowed to participate. The Spokane Tribe has been asking for voting rights since 2011. The Spokane Tribe is allowed to participate in another RTPO.

Diversity matters, and everyone should have a vote in transportation planning because transportation affects everyone. The Spokane Tribe has never had a seat at the table, and the Legislature needs to help do the right thing.

The Spokane Tribe participates in the funding of transportation projects in the area.

(Opposed) None.

(Other) The Spokane RTPO has an interlocal agreement that governs its board composition. There is concern about the RTPO losing funding when the Legislature involves itself in the process.

Persons Testifying: (In support) Representative Riccelli, prime sponsor; Kate Burke, City of Spokane; and Michael Temple, Spokane Tribe.

(Other) Mike Burgess, Spokane County.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: None.
