SENATE COMMITTEE ON TRANSPORTATION

Staff: Bryon Moore (786-7726)

Background: In Washington no vehicle or combination of vehicles may operate on the public highways with a gross load on any single axle in excess of 20,000 pounds or upon any group of axles in excess of that designated in statute, except that two consecutive sets of tandem axles may carry a gross load of 34,000 pounds each. Trucks are registered based on a declared gross vehicle weight with a graduated fee schedule in statute. Overweight permits are also available based on a graduated fee schedule.

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

The board of county commissioners of each county may, by resolution, limit or prohibit classes or types of vehicles on any county road or bridge and may limit the weight of vehicles which may travel on a county road or bridge. Any resolution must be effective for a definite period of time, which must be stated in the resolution.

Summary of Bill: A vehicle or combination of vehicles carrying farm products from the field may exceed the weight limits in statute by up to 2000 pounds when on public highways in Washington. The highways cannot be part of the federal-aid interstate system. A vehicle or combination of a vehicles carrying a farm product from the field may also exceed the weight limits established by a board of county commissioners by up to 2000 pounds when operating on the public highways.

The vehicle must consist solely of farm products to qualify for the additional weight allowances. These allowances do not allow a vehicle or combination of vehicles to exceed any posted weight limit for a bridge. A special permit is not required for a vehicle or combination of vehicles qualifying for these additional weight allowances.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Creates Committee/Commission/Task Force that includes Legislative members: No.

Effective Date: Ninety days after adjournment of session in which bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony: PRO: This bill is about getting the crop out of the field. This deals with uncertainty from a crop production and weather which can increase the weight of the crop. The types of drivers we are talking about are only traveling short distances at harvest times. This allowance will provide a mechanism to deal with unforeseen issues which may increase the weight, such as moisture, or other factors. This is about being efficient and getting the crop distributed and provides needed flexibility.

CON: Recognizing the importance of the issue, the concern is the impact to our roads, particularly in rural areas. This will cause even more negative impact on our roads and exacerbate the aging infrastructure problem. This will also have significant impact on the bridges where many are already in need of repair.

OTHER: We are still trying to get a handle on the number of trucks that this additional weight allowance would apply to. Given this, it is hard to know how this will be the state road system over the long term.

CON: Jane Wall, Washington State Association of Counties.

OTHER: Chris Christopher, Washington State Department of Transportation.
