

SENATE BILL REPORT

SB 6224

---

As of January 20, 2020

Title: An act relating to collective bargaining for administrative law judges.

Brief Description: Concerning collective bargaining for administrative law judges.

Sponsors: Senators Lovelett, Conway, Hunt, Keiser, Kuderer and Stanford.

Brief History:

Committee Activity: Labor & Commerce: 1/20/20.

Brief Summary of Bill

- Grants administrative law judges of the Office of Administrative Hearings collective bargaining rights under the Personnel System Reform Act.

---

SENATE COMMITTEE ON LABOR & COMMERCE

Staff: Jarrett Sacks (786-7448)

Background: The Personnel System Reform Act. The Personnel System Reform Act (PSRA) provides for collective bargaining of wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment with classified employees of state agencies and higher education institutions. Employees covered by the PSRA include all state civil service employees except:

- employees covered by the Public Employees' Collective Bargaining Act;
- confidential employees;
- members of the Washington Management Service;
- internal auditors in any agency; and
- any employee of the Public Employment Relations Commission, the Office of Financial Management, or the Office of Risk Management.

The PSRA provides for multi-employer bargaining and coalition bargaining. Representatives of more than one bargaining unit must negotiate one master collective bargaining agreement covering all of the represented employees. Exclusive bargaining representatives representing fewer than 500 employees each must bargain in a coalition, with one master agreement covering all of the employees represented by the coalition.

---

This analysis was prepared by non-partisan legislative staff for the use of legislative members in their deliberations. This analysis is not a part of the legislation nor does it constitute a statement of legislative intent.

Administrative Law Judges. The Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH) conducts administrative hearings on behalf of certain state agencies and some local governments. The OAH is under the direction of a chief administrative law judge, appointed by the Governor with consent of the Senate. The chief administrative law judge appoints administrative law judges (ALJs), who usually specialize in certain areas of practice, and may contract with individuals to serve as an ALJ for specified hearings. All employees of the OAH except the chief ALJ and ALJs are subject to state civil service laws and rules.

Summary of Bill: The bill as referred to committee not considered.

Summary of Bill (Proposed Substitute): ALJs of OAH are granted collective bargaining rights under the PSRA. The only appropriate bargaining unit is a statewide unit of all ALJs of OAH.

The following ALJs are excluded from the provisions of the bill and do not have collective bargaining rights:

- ALJs in manager positions, including deputy chief ALJs, division chief ALJs, and assistant chief ALJs;
- ALJs serving on a contractual basis;
- confidential employees; and
- any ALJ who reports directly to the chief ALJ.

For the purposes of coalition bargaining, exclusive bargaining representatives of civil service employees and exclusive bargaining representatives of exempt employees, constitute separate coalitions and must negotiate separate master collective bargaining agreements.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Creates Committee/Commission/Task Force that includes Legislative members: No.

Effective Date: The bill contains an emergency clause and takes effect immediately.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony on Proposed Substitute: PRO: ALJs are current exempt and excluded from bargaining. Pay increases are subject to appropriation and rare, which leads to trouble recruiting and retaining ALJs. ALJs at OAH are the only ALJs that do not have collective bargaining rights because they do not work for an agency. ALJs at OAH make about 12 to 16 percent less than other ALJs in the state. It takes a long time to train an get proper skills to be a good ALJ. Once people have such skills, they leave for higher paying jobs. The ability to retain ALJs means they will be better at protecting due process.

OTHER: Turnover of ALJs has been an issue and it is important for them to be skilled and well-trained. The bill creates a new bargaining table, which is a departure from current practice. The bill should include measures to protect employees' constitutional rights, such as requiring secret ballot elections, informing them of their right not to pay dues, and requiring the negotiations to be open to the public.

Persons Testifying: PRO: Senator Liz Lovelett, Prime Sponsor; Erika Lim, Washington Federation of State Employees; Bill Dodge, Washington Federation of State Employees; Karl Boettner, Washington Federation of State Employees.

OTHER: Franklin Plaistowe, Office of Financial Management; Loraine Lee, citizen; Maxford Nelsen, Freedom Foundation.

Persons Signed In To Testify But Not Testifying: No one.