BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that:
   (a) In Washington and across our nation, the basic social safety net is intrinsically connected and derived from employment. However, as our economy has changed, the social contract that full-time work led to basic financial security, retirement benefits, and the ability to provide for one's family, is no longer true for too many people. Additionally, our economy continues to adapt and the circumstances of how and where work is performed, as well as the relationships of those benefiting from work, look very different than fifty years ago.
As our communities and economies evolve, there emerge credible and constructive rationales for alternative pathways for performing work, other than the traditional employment model based on hours in a day and shifts in a week construct. However, current economic systems and regulatory frameworks have created an incentive structure that encourages companies to forego social responsibilities to their communities and those performing work for them, by classifying their workers as independent contractors rather than genuine employees. The financial incentives for classifying or misclassifying workers as independent contractors are compelling to even the most scrupulous of employers. Further, those workers that desire the flexibility and autonomy of a traditional employment model have no access to the legal protections, rights, and benefits of a traditional employee. Lastly, there are no ongoing systems or structures for nonemployee workers to come together and advocate for themselves and their work, or for the state to set industry-wide standards as quickly as technology adapts.

(b) Washington is uniquely positioned to address this urgent deficiency of our labor market. The nimble and innovative nature of our economy, coupled with our state's commitment to strong communities provides the expertise and capacity to set the standard nationwide for this century's social compact between an economy and the people that it serves.

(2) To provide Washington businesses the necessary legal clarity they require to thrive as companies and employers, and ensure a basic and adaptable social safety net is available to all workers, regardless of worker status, the legislature intends to further clarify the definition of "employee" in Washington state and provide a regulatory and benefits structure for nonemployee workers, and establish workers' boards for independent contractors and the companies that rely on their services.

EMPLOYEE FAIR CLASSIFICATION ACT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The legislature finds that underground economic activity in this state results in millions of dollars of lost revenue to the state and is unfair to workers and law-abiding businesses. Misclassification is workplace fraud. Theft of wages by employers through misclassification is a significant problem, particularly in low-wage industries. The legislature intends to improve compliance with wage-related and employment-related benefit laws to help address the problems of the underground economy, level the playing field for honest employers and contractors, and protect workers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. This chapter may be known and cited as the employee fair classification act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

Control or direction includes the right to control or direct as well as general control or direction over the individual's physical activities; and

(ii) The labor or service is outside the usual course of business for which the labor or service is performed; and

(iii) The individual is customarily engaged in an independently established trade, occupation, business, or profession of the same nature as that involved in the contract of labor or service, for which the individual independently establishes the price of the individual's labor or service; and

(iv) On the effective date of service, the individual is responsible for filing at the next applicable filing period, both under the contract of service and in fact, a schedule of expenses with the internal revenue service for the type of business the individual is conducting; and

(v) On the effective date of service, or within a reasonable period after the effective date of service, the individual has an active and valid account with the department of revenue and other state agencies as required by the particular case, for the business the individual is conducting, for the payment of all state taxes normally paid by employers and businesses and has registered for and received a unified business identifier number from the state of Washington; and

(vi) On the effective date of service, the individual is maintaining a separate set of books or records that reflect all items

date of the contract for services the individual has a valid contractor registration under chapter 18.27 RCW or an electrical contractor license under chapter 19.28 RCW.

independent contractor status.

order; or (B) if a timely appeal was made, the date of the final resolution of the appeal; or

(iii) Due to a previous violation, subject to a final and binding binding.

(b) For purposes of this subsection (10), an employer includes a

(11) "Person" means a natural person, firm, partnership, corporation, association, or organization.

(12) "Willful" means a knowing and intentional action that is neither accidental nor the result of a bona fide dispute.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) An employer-employee relationship exists when an individual performs labor or services for another individual or entity. The party asserting that an individual is not an employee must establish by a preponderance of the evidence that the individual is an independent contractor or is otherwise not an employee under this chapter.

(2) A general contractor is not responsible for violations of an independent contractor or subcontractor under this chapter unless the general contractor exerts substantial control over the day-to-day work of the independent contractor or subcontractor. For purposes of this subsection:

(a) "General contractor" means the contractor required to be registered under chapter 18.27 RCW or licensed under chapter 19.28 RCW whose business operations for a project require the use of more than one building trade or craft upon a single job or project, under a single building permit, and who has responsibility to superintend the project as a whole.

(b) "Subcontractor" means a contractor who engages in a business that is required to be registered under chapter 18.27 RCW or licensed under chapter 19.28 RCW and who is not a general contractor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) An employer may not willfully misclassify an employee as an independent contractor.

(2) A person may not charge an employee who has been misclassified as an independent contractor a fee, or make any deductions from compensation for any purpose, including for goods, materials, space rental, services, government licenses, repair, equipment maintenance, or fines arising from the employment where any of the acts would have violated the law if the individual had not been misclassified.

(3) A person may not require or request an employee to enter into an agreement or sign a document that results in the misclassification of the employee as an independent contractor or otherwise does not accurately reflect the employee's relationship with the employer.
A person may not perform the following acts for the purpose of facilitating or evading detection of a violation of this chapter:

(a) Form, assist in, or induce the formation of a corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or other business entity; or

(b) Pay or collect a fee for use of a foreign or domestic corporation, partnership, limited liability company, or other business entity.

(5) A person may not, for remuneration, conspire with, aid and abet, assist, or advise an employer with the intent of violating this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) The department may conduct an investigation if it obtains information indicating a person may have violated this chapter, but the department may not investigate a violation of this chapter that occurred more than three years before the date of the violation. For the purposes of this section, a violation occurs from the initial date of misclassification and for as long as the employee continues to be misclassified. The three-year period is tolled during any period of time that an employer, any of its agents, or any person acting on behalf of the employer, deters an individual from filing a complaint under this section.

(2) If the department determines that a person violated this chapter, it may:

(a) For a violation of section 10 of this act, order the employer to pay a civil penalty of not less than one thousand dollars and not more than ten thousand dollars;

(b) For a violation of section 6 of this act, order the person to pay a civil penalty of: (i) Not less than one thousand dollars and not more than ten thousand dollars per employee; or (ii) if the person has engaged in a pattern or practice of violations, not less than ten thousand dollars and not more than twenty-five thousand dollars per employee;

(c) For a violation of section 6 of this act, order persons, including employers, to jointly and severally pay the following: (i) Three times the amount of wages, salary, and employment benefits denied or withheld, except benefits under Title 50 or 51 RCW; and (ii) reimbursement for payroll taxes under Title 50 or 51 RCW and the value of any other state payroll taxes paid or state benefits lost by the employee;
In addition, for a violation of section 6 of this act, order the employer to reinstate and properly classify the employee. The director may award front pay in lieu of reinstatement; and

(e) Determine whether to initiate collection procedures pursuant to RCW 51.16.150 through 51.16.190 to enforce its orders under (c) and (d) of this subsection, and send a copy of its determination, including any supporting documentation, to the employment security department.

(3) The department must consider referrals based on a court finding of a violation of section 6 of this act to determine whether to initiate collection procedures.

(4)(a) The department must adjust the penalty amounts in subsection (2) of this section beginning January 1, 2021, and on each January 1st thereafter, to reflect the percentage change in the consumer price index, calculated as follows: The index for the calendar year preceding the year in which the January 1st calculation is made, to be known as "calendar year A," is divided by the index for the calendar year preceding calendar year A, and the resulting ratio is multiplied by the penalty amount in effect on December 31st immediately preceding the January 1st on which the respective calculation is made.

(b) For the purposes of this subsection, "index" means the same as the definition in RCW 2.12.037(1).

(5) An employer may appeal the department's determination pursuant to RCW 49.48.084.

(6) The department must deposit civil penalties collected under this chapter into the employee fair classification act account created in section 11 of this act.

(7) This section expires January 2, 2021.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) The department may conduct an investigation if it obtains information indicating a person may have violated this chapter, but the department may not investigate a violation of this chapter that occurred more than three years before the date of the violation. For the purposes of this section, a violation occurs from the initial date of misclassification and for as long as the employee continues to be misclassified. The three-year period is tolled during any period of time that an employer, any of its agents, or any person acting on behalf of the employer, deters an individual from filing a complaint under this section.
(2) If the department determines that a person violated this chapter, it must:

(a) For a violation of section 10 of this act, order the employer to pay a civil penalty of not less than one thousand dollars and not more than ten thousand dollars;

(b) For a violation of section 6 of this act, order the person to pay a civil penalty of: (i) Not less than one thousand dollars and not more than ten thousand dollars per employee; or (ii) if the person has engaged in a pattern or practice of violations, not less than ten thousand dollars and not more than twenty-five thousand dollars per employee;

(c) For a violation of section 6 of this act, order persons, including employers, to jointly and severally pay the following: (i) Three times the amount of wages, salary, and employment benefits denied or withheld, except benefits under Title 50 or 51 RCW; and (ii) reimbursement for payroll taxes under Title 50 or 51 RCW and the value of any payroll taxes paid or benefits lost by the employee;

(d) In addition, for a violation of section 6 of this act, order the employer to reinstate and properly classify the employee. The director may award front pay in lieu of reinstatement;

(e) Determine whether to initiate collection procedures pursuant to RCW 51.16.150 through 51.16.190 to enforce its orders under (c) and (d) of this subsection, and send a copy of its determination, including any supporting documentation, to the employment security department; and

(f) Consider referrals based on a court finding of a violation of section 6 of this act to determine whether to initiate collection procedures.

(3)(a) The department must adjust the penalty amounts in subsection (2) of this section beginning January 1, 2021, and on each January 1st thereafter, to reflect the percentage change in the consumer price index, calculated as follows: The index for the calendar year preceding the year in which the January 1st calculation is made, to be known as "calendar year A," is divided by the index for the calendar year preceding calendar year A, and the resulting ratio is multiplied by the penalty amount in effect on December 31st immediately preceding the January 1st on which the respective calculation is made.

(b) For the purposes of this subsection, "index" means the same as the definition in RCW 2.12.037(1).
An employer may appeal the department's determination pursuant to RCW 49.48.084.

The department must deposit civil penalties collected under this chapter into the employee fair classification act account created in section 11 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) An individual aggrieved by a violation of section 6 of this act may bring suit on behalf of himself or herself or on behalf of any other individual who is similarly situated.

(2) If a court determines that a person or persons, including employers, violated section 6 of this act, it:

(a) Shall order persons, including employers, to jointly and severally pay the greater of:

(i) Three times the amount of any wages including overtime, salary, and employment benefits unlawfully denied or withheld except benefits under Titles 50 and 51 RCW; or

(ii) Statutory damages for each employee aggrieved by the violation. Statutory damages must not be less than one thousand dollars and not more than ten thousand dollars per employee, unless the person engaged in a pattern or practice of violations, in which case the statutory damages must be not less than ten thousand dollars and not more than twenty-five thousand dollars per employee;

(b) May order persons, including employers, to jointly and severally pay the employee reimbursement for any taxes and the value of any benefits paid by the employee; and

(c) Shall order persons, including employers, to jointly and severally pay attorneys' fees and costs.

(3) If a court determines that an employer violated section 6 of this act, it may order the employer to pay any taxes owed and award injunctive or other equitable relief, including reinstatement and reclassification of the employee with terms and conditions at least as favorable as those that applied when the employee was misclassified, including rate of compensation, value of any benefits, and hours of work. The court may award front pay in lieu of reinstatement.

(4) A civil action under this section must be brought no later than three years after the violation occurred. For the purposes of this section, a violation occurs from the initial date of misclassification and for as long as the employee continues to be misclassified. The three-year period is tolled during any period of time that an employer, any of its agents, or any person acting on behalf of the employer deters an individual from bringing an action under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) If an employer engages an individual to perform labor or services for remuneration and considers the individual to be an independent contractor, the employer shall provide that individual with the following notice:
"Every worker has the right to be properly classified as an employee rather than an independent contractor if the individual does not meet the requirements of an independent contractor under the law known as the employee fair classification act.

If you believe you or someone else has been improperly classified as an independent contractor under the employee fair classification act, you have the right to challenge this classification by filing a complaint with the department of labour and industries or by bringing an action in state court."

(2) The notice required by this section must be in English, Spanish, and any other language or languages primarily spoken by the majority of the workforce. The notice must also be posted in a conspicuous place in each of the employer's offices in the state and at each job site where a worker classified as an independent contractor performs labor or services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The employee fair classification act account is created in the state treasury. All receipts from civil penalties issued under section 7 of this act must be deposited in the account. Moneys in the account may be spent only after appropriation.
Expenditures from the account may be used only for enforcement of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The department may adopt rules to implement this chapter. In addition, the department shall develop a plan for strategic enforcement of this chapter, prioritizing industries and workplaces with a high concentration of violations.
(1) The "prevailing rate of wage," for the intents and purposes of this chapter, shall be the rate of hourly wage, usual benefits, and overtime paid in the locality, as hereinafter defined, to the majority of workers, laborers, or mechanics, in the same trade or occupation. In the event that there is not a majority in the same trade or occupation paid at the same rate, then the average rate of hourly wage and overtime paid to such laborers, workers, or mechanics in the same trade or occupation shall be the prevailing rate. If the wage paid by any contractor or subcontractor to laborers, workers, or mechanics on any public work is based on some period of time other than an hour, the hourly wage for the purposes of this chapter shall be mathematically determined by the number of hours worked in such period of time.

(2) The "locality" for the purposes of this chapter shall be the largest city in the county wherein the physical work is being performed.

(3) The "usual benefits" for the purposes of this chapter shall include the amount of:
   (a) The rate of contribution irrevocably made by a contractor or subcontractor to a trustee or to a third person pursuant to a fund, plan, or program; and
   (b) The rate of costs to the contractor or subcontractor which may be reasonably anticipated in providing benefits to workers, laborers, and mechanics pursuant to an enforceable commitment to carry out a financially responsible plan or program which was communicated in writing to the workers, laborers, and mechanics affected, for medical or hospital care, pensions on retirement or death, compensation for injuries or illness resulting from occupational activity, or insurance to provide any of the foregoing, for unemployment benefits, life insurance, disability and sickness insurance, or accident insurance, for vacation and holiday pay, for defraying costs of apprenticeship or other similar programs, or for other bona fide fringe benefits, but only where the contractor or subcontractor is not required by other federal, state, or local law to provide any of such benefits.

(4) "Employee" has the same meaning as "laborers, workers, and mechanics."
(5) "Independent contractor" has the meaning provided in section 4 of this act.

(6) An "interested party" for the purposes of this chapter shall include a contractor, subcontractor, an employee of a contractor or subcontractor, an organization whose members' wages, benefits, and conditions of employment are affected by this chapter, and the director of labor and industries or the director's designee.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. A new section is added to chapter 39.12 RCW to read as follows:

each worker and such other information as the commissioner may by regulation prescribe.

(b) If the employing unit fails or has failed to report the number of hours in a reporting period for which a worker worked, such number will be computed by the commissioner and given the same force and effect as if it had been reported by the employing unit. In computing the number of such hours worked, the total wages for the reporting period, as reported by the employing unit, shall be divided by the dollar amount of the state's minimum wage in effect for such reporting period and the quotient, disregarding any remainder, shall be credited to the worker: PROVIDED, That although the computation so made will not be subject to appeal by the employing unit, monetary entitlement may be redetermined upon request if the department is provided with credible evidence of the actual hours worked. Benefits paid using computed hours are not considered an overpayment and are not subject to collections when the correction of computed hours results in an invalid or reduced claim; however:

(ii) An employer who reimburses the trust fund for benefits paid to workers and fails to report the number of hours worked shall reimburse the trust fund for all benefits paid that are based on hours computed under this subsection.

(3) Any employer who fails to keep and preserve records required by this section shall be subject to a penalty determined by the commissioner but not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars or two hundred percent of the quarterly tax for each offense, whichever is greater.

(4) Upon referral from the department of labor and industries pursuant to section 7 of this act, the employment security department may initiate procedures for improper recordkeeping and the recovery of contributions, interest, and penalties.

(5) The commissioner must consider referrals based on a court finding of a violation of section 6 of this act and may initiate procedures for improper recordkeeping and the recovery of contributions, interest, and penalties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 34. (1) The department must, subject to the requirements set forth in this section, convene workers' boards for nonemployee workers in Washington state.

(a) The department must create five discrete nonemployee industry categories for the purposes of convening and implementing workers' boards: Caregiving and domestic services or other services performed in and about the home, passenger transport, product movement, sales, and certificated professional services.

(b) Every three years, the department must evaluate and redefine industry categories, based on data reported by contributing agents and information gathered from surveys of eligible beneficiaries and covered intermediary employees.

(2) Once any eligible worker representative provides a showing of interest by presenting evidence that they represent the lesser of two hundred fifty covered intermediary employees or one-half percent of the industry, the department must indicate that the organization is validated, and a workers' board must be established in the industry. After the department indicates that one eligible worker representative is validated:

(a) Additional eligible worker representatives may present evidence that they represent at least one hundred covered intermediary employees to gain representation rights on the workers' board; and

(b) Eligible contributing agent representatives may present evidence that they represent at least five distinct contributing agents to gain representation rights on the workers' board.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 35. (1) Within ninety days of the department validating an eligible worker representative, all contributing agents in the industry in which a workers' board has been established must provide the validated worker representatives physical access to the intermediary employees, and submit a list of intermediary employees' names and contact information to validated worker representatives, including the intermediary employees':

(a) Full names;

(b) All known phone numbers, including cellular phones and landline or fixed-line phones;

(c) Email addresses; and

(d) Physical addresses.
(2) The department may determine whether an intermediary employee is a covered intermediary employee in one of two ways:

(a) For positions, job titles, classifications, or tasks that require certification or licensure, the department must determine which positions, job titles, classifications, or tasks fall within the workers' board's scope; and

(b) For all other positions, job titles, classifications, or tasks, the validated worker representative must provide the department with the list of contributing agents that fall within the workers' board's scope.

(3) A named contributing agent has one month from provision of the contributing agent list to the department to appeal the inclusion of their intermediary employees in the workers' board's scope.

(4) Within ninety days of the department validating an eligible worker representative, all contributing agents must notify all of its covered intermediary employees of the workers' board and their right to choose a representative.

(5) Inclusion within the scope of the workers' board must be based on community of interest factors including, but not limited to, duties, skills, working conditions, and other job-related issues.

(6) Data required in subsection (1) of this section may not be reported to the department and must be reported directly to validated worker representatives. A third party may be used to transfer this data if appropriate to ensure adequate protection of the data.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 36. (1) The workers' board shall be composed of three validated worker representatives, three validated contributing agent representatives, and four representatives of the department.

(2)(a) Worker positions must be distributed among validated worker representatives in accordance with the number of workers the organization represents. Validated worker representatives must appoint individuals for each of the seats they are allotted.

Validated contributing agent representatives must appoint individuals for each of the seats they are allotted.

Of the initial members: One worker, one contributing agent, and one department representative must be appointed for a two-year term; one worker, one contributing agent, and one department representative must be appointed to a three-year term; and the remaining representative must be appointed to a four-year term. Thereafter, members must be appointed for four-year terms.

(4) Members of the workers' board must be reimbursed for travel expenses as provided in RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

(5) The workers' board may adopt bylaws for its own procedures, including quorum requirements, frequency of meetings, and provision of translation and interpretation services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 37. (1) The workers' board must:

(c) Promote effective enforcement of standards across the industry.

(2) Every three years, the workers' board must issue determinations on aspects of the industry that affect workers' well-being, including minimum standards for:

(a) Hourly wages, or the equivalent in task, shift, or trip rates, including the type and structure of payment;

(b) Rules about scheduling and the availability of tasks, shifts, or trips;

(c) Portable benefit contribution rates per hour, shift, or trip;

(d) The proportion of portable benefit contributions that can be used for administrative purposes;

(e) Leave policies;

(f) Certification standards and access to training;

(g) Any benefits, such as auto insurance and mileage reimbursement, provided directly by the contributing agent to the intermediary employee; and

(h) Other aspects of working conditions, as raised by validated worker representatives or validated contributing agent representatives on the workers' board.
The standards established by the workers' board may meet or exceed, but may not fall below, standards established in statute, including minimum wages established in chapter 49.46 RCW, and established in this chapter, including minimum rates, benefit contributions, or the proportion of benefit contributions allowable for administrative purposes.

(4) If an established workers' board fails to make determinations under this section within any four-year period, the department must institute increases in the minimum rates and benefit contributions for the industry in accordance with inflation as determined by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 38. (1) Each member of the workers' board has one vote.

  (b) Provide guidance about current law and the operations of the department;
  (c) Convene and facilitate meetings; and
  (d) Monitor the workers' board's compliance with federal and state law, and the mandate of the workers' board.
(3) Determinations by the workers' board must be set through majority vote. However, a majority of validated worker representatives, validated contributing agent representatives, and state representatives is required for determinations that decrease rates or worker protections.
(4) The workers' board must hold public hearings during each three-year determination cycle to gather information about the current living and working conditions of covered intermediary employees. These hearings must be held throughout the state, especially in geographies with a known concentration of covered intermediary employees.
  (a) The hearings must be open to all individuals or organizations.
  (b) Validated worker representatives and validated contributing agent representatives not represented on the workers' board have priority in hearings, with time allocated in accordance with the number of workers or agents represented.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 39. (1) When the workers' board reaches a determination, through consensus or majority vote, the workers' board's determination must be adopted as a policy by the department.

(2) If the workers' board fails to reach a determination within the required time period, the department's minimum rates under section 31 of this act take effect.

(3) The department may adopt rules implementing the policies provided by the workers' board under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 40. (1) Contributing agents must contribute funds to benefit providers to provide benefits to eligible beneficiaries.

(a) The requirement to contribute funds under this chapter only applies when the eligible beneficiary for whom the contributing agent is making a contribution provides services in the state.

(b) The contribution amount must be five percent of the total charge collected from the consumer for each transaction of services provided or one dollar for every hour that the worker provided services to the consumer, whichever is less. If determined per hour, the determination must be prorated per minute.

(c) Contributions must be in addition to pay and may not be counted toward the minimum base rate.

(d) Contributions must be assessed for every hour, transaction, or production unit that the eligible beneficiary provided services through the contributing agent.

(e) Contributions must be made to the benefit provider on no less than a monthly basis and no later than fifteen days after the end of the month in which the eligible beneficiary services were provided.

(2) The contribution amounts earned by the eligible beneficiary under this section belong to the eligible beneficiary and the eligible beneficiary may accrue benefits based on contributions from more than one contributing agent.

(3) Contributions may exceed, but not go below, those established in sections 37 and 39 of this act as the result of a workers' board determination.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 41. (1) All eligible beneficiaries must receive industrial insurance under Title 51 RCW. Contributing agents must collect the portion of the contribution amount sufficient to provide industrial insurance under Title 51 RCW and remit those amounts to the department. The amounts necessary shall be determined by the department based on appropriate risk classifications.

(2) The contributing agents must remit the remainder of the contribution amount to the assigned benefit provider.

(3) Based on the contributions received, benefit providers must ensure that benefits are provided to eligible beneficiaries as set forth in this section.

(a) Benefit providers must solicit input from eligible beneficiaries regarding which benefits to provide.

(b) Benefit providers must provide some or all of the following benefits:

(i) Health insurance including, but not limited to, subsidies to purchase health insurance on the health benefit exchange;
(ii) Paid time off;
(iii) Retirement benefits; and
(iv) Other benefits determined by the benefit providers.

(c) Benefit providers may also offer other benefits or services to eligible beneficiaries to address the unique needs of a specific industry or eligible beneficiary groups including, but not limited to:

(i) Tax assistance;
(ii) Emergency loans; and
(iii) Other benefits.

(d) Benefit providers may provide benefits directly or through vendors approved by the benefit provider.

(e) Benefit providers may advocate on behalf of the eligible beneficiaries regarding benefits.

(f) Benefit providers may use up to ten percent of contribution funds received for administration of benefits and advocacy on behalf of eligible beneficiaries.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 42. (1) The department must adopt rules for organizations to become benefit providers.

(2) At a minimum, the rules on benefit providers must require:
(a) The benefit provider to be a nonprofit organization operating under 26 U.S.C. Sec. 501(c)(3) of the federal internal revenue code;
(b) At least one-half of the organization's board of directors to be comprised of eligible beneficiaries performing work for contributing agents or representatives of bona fide independent organizations of such workers;
(c) The organization to be independent from all business entities, organizations, corporations, or individuals that would pursue any financial interest in conflict with that of the eligible beneficiaries;

(d) All actions of the organization regarding providing benefits must be for the sole purpose of maximizing benefits to eligible beneficiaries;

(e) The board of directors of the organization to hold a fiduciary duty to the eligible beneficiaries with respect to the provision of benefits; and

(f) The organization to demonstrate adequate viability and financial sufficiency to successfully and sustainably deliver benefits, as determined by the department. At a minimum, the organization must have:

(i) Cash reserves in a sufficient amount, as determined by the department;

(ii) Liability coverage for an amount determined by the department;

(iii) Access to bonding; and

(iv) Other demonstrated competencies as determined by the department.

(3) As administered by the department, an eligible beneficiary entitled to benefits under this chapter must select a benefit provider and be given the option to change the selected benefit provider once per year. Eligible beneficiaries must be provided information regarding available benefit providers and be able to easily select their chosen benefit provider.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 43. (1) Covered intermediary employees have the right to:

(a) Organize and communicate freely with other workers;

(b) Discuss terms and conditions of work with other workers and with contributing agents;

(c) Form, join, or assist worker organizations;

(d) Testify during board public hearings, without restraint on the content of their speech; and

(e) Take action with other workers to improve their working conditions or raise work-related complaints with the workers' board.

(2) No contributing agent may interfere with, restrain, or coerce intermediary employees from exercising rights under subsection (1) of... this section. Validated worker representatives must operate free from influence by contributing agents. Contributing agents may not:

(a) Threaten workers with or impose adverse consequences for exercising their rights;

(b) Threaten workers with or impose adverse consequences related to a worker's immigration status for exercising their rights;

(c) Terminate a worker for exercising their rights;

(d) Reduce a worker's access to wages, tips, shifts, tasks, or trips for exercising their rights;

(e) Promise a worker benefits, rewards, or compensation if the worker rejects participation on the workers' board;

(f) Prohibit workers from talking about workers' board activities during work time;

(g) Perform surveillance of workers' organizing activities;

(h) Solicit individual workers to participate in campaign advertisements; and

(i) Adopt, maintain, or enforce work rules that reasonably tend to inhibit workers from exercising their rights.

(3) There shall be a rebuttable presumption of retaliation if a contributing agent takes an adverse action against a person within ninety calendar days of the person's exercise of rights. The standard of proof for retaliation is that the protected activity was a motivating factor in the adverse action. For the purposes of this subsection, "adverse action" means terminating, discharging, denying a promotion, demoting, failing to rehire after seasonal interruption of work, threatening, penalizing, retaliating, engaging in unfair immigration related practices, filing a false report with a government agency, changing an intermediary employee's status or pay rate or structure, eliminating eligibility for incentives or "bonuses," or otherwise discriminating against the person.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 44. (1) The department must adopt rules to implement and administer the delivery of benefits within this chapter and administer and enforce workers' boards, including rules for:

(a) Monitoring compliance of contributing agents;

(b) Establishing a fee on contributing agents to fund the department's compliance efforts;

(c) Monitoring compliance of benefit providers, including the ability to remove benefit providers that are out of compliance with the criteria established under this chapter;
(d) Providing procedures for eligible beneficiaries to select benefit providers, to change their selections annually, and to receive notices of the right to select different benefit providers;
(e) Providing procedures for community-based enforcement, including worker-led or worker organization-led complaints;
(f) Administering industrial insurance coverage for eligible beneficiaries under this chapter; and
(g) Establishing penalties on any contributing agents or eligible beneficiaries out of compliance. Such penalties may be used to fund the department's compliance efforts. If the penalty results directly from a complaint by a benefit provider or validated worker representative, the collected award must be split between the department and the complainant.

(2) The department must designate staff dedicated to the investigation and enforcement of laws concerning intermediary employees. Both contributing agents and qualified benefit providers may be subject to unannounced audits by the department.

(3) In addition to any remedies provided by the department to an eligible beneficiary for a contributing agent's noncompliance, an eligible beneficiary may bring a private cause of action against a contributing agent for the contributing agent's failure to comply with the contribution requirements under this chapter.

(4) The department must adopt rules to implement and administer performance of workers' boards within this chapter, including:
(a) Allowing represented workers to report violations of portable benefit contribution requirements or compliance with board determinations to the department. The department must investigate these complaints with the same diligence as any other employment or labor law violation;
(b) Providing validated worker representatives with standing to file complaints on the behalf of represented workers; and
(c) Establishing monetary penalties for a contributing agent found to be in violation of the standards established by the board. The department must set the amount of monetary penalties at no less than three times the amount owed in wages or benefit contributions. If the penalty results directly from a complaint by a benefit provider or validated worker representative, the collected award must be split between the department and the complainant.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 45. (1) The department must contract with eligible worker representatives to implement outreach and education to eligible beneficiaries and covered intermediary employees.

(2) Organizations conducting outreach and education must educate eligible beneficiaries and covered intermediary employees about their legal rights, and help eligible beneficiaries and intermediary employees file reports of violations of laws and standards, including portable benefit contribution requirements and standards established by the workers' board.

(3) Contributing agents must provide organizations conducting outreach and education access to workers through all reasonable means including, but not limited to, worksites, user data, and payment data.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 46. The requirements on contributing agents and the benefits provided to eligible beneficiaries under this chapter may not be considered in determinations of an eligible beneficiary's employment status or the contributing agent's employment relationship to the eligible beneficiary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 47. (1) Sections 2 through 12 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 49 RCW.

(2) Sections 30 through 46 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 49 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 49. If any part of this act is found to be in conflict with federal requirements that are a prescribed condition to the allocation of federal funds to the state or the eligibility of employers in this state for federal unemployment tax credits, the conflicting part of this act is inoperative solely to the extent of the conflict, and the finding or determination does not affect the operation of the remainder of this act. Rules adopted under this act must meet federal requirements that are a necessary condition to the receipt of federal funds by the state or the granting of federal unemployment tax credits to employers in this state.
