- AN ACT Relating to the courts open to all act; adding new sections to chapter 2.28 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 3.02 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 35.20 RCW; and creating new sections.
- 5 BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON:
- 6 NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that civil in and around Washington's court facilities 7 arrests impede the fundamental mission of Washington's courts, which is to ensure due 8 9 process and access to justice for everyone. The United States supreme court has recognized that "the unhindered and untrammeled functioning 10 11 of our courts is part of the very foundation of our constitutional 12 democracy," and that a state may therefore adopt measures necessary 13 and appropriate to safeguarding the administration of justice by its 14 courts. Cox v. Louisiana, 379 U.S. 559, 562 (1965). People access courts for many reasons, including to obtain domestic violence and 15 16 sexual assault protection orders, obtain child support orders, seek 17 back wages, pay traffic fines, apply for permits, answer and defend against criminal charges, answer and defend against eviction actions, 18 19 testify in civil and criminal proceedings, and get married. The administration of justice depends upon all people having free and 20 21 full access to the courts.

p. 1 SHB 2567.SL

Washington court facilities have created a climate of fear that is deterring and preventing Washington residents from safely interacting with the justice system. Victims cannot seek protection, families cannot enter into custody agreements, and those charged with crimes cannot mount a proper defense or be held accountable. Courts and lawyers cannot deliver the promise of equal access to justice and due process under law to community members who are precluded from accessing the courts. Therefore, it is essential that the state have policies providing safeguards protecting access to justice.

- 11 (3) The legislature further finds that it is imperative that all 12 members of our community feel safe coming to, remaining at, and returning from Washington's courts. The United States supreme court 13 14 has acknowledged that a state has "the power to preserve the property under its control for the use to which it is lawfully dedicated," and 15 16 that "[t]here is little doubt that in some circumstances the Government may ban the entry on to public property that is not a 17 'public forum' of all persons except those who have legitimate 18 business on the premises." United States v. Grace, 461 U.S. 171, 178 19 (1983). Accordingly, Washington may regulate entry and access to the 20 21 courts, and activity on courthouse premises and environs, that 22 threatens the fair and nondiscriminatory administration of justice or the openness of courts. Additionally, the United States supreme court 23 and the Washington supreme court have long recognized privileges 24 25 against civil arrests for those attending court. In recognition of the harmful impacts of civil arrests in and around Washington courts, 26 the legislature has a substantial and compelling interest in ensuring 27 28 the courts in the state of Washington remain places where the rights 29 and dignity of all residents are maintained and there is access to justice for all. 30
