EFFECT: Specifies entities subject to the bill's requirements must provide health care for humans.

Provides parties to a material change transaction include, but are not limited to: the contracting parties; all entities that own, manage, or control the contracting parties; and all entities that are members of a joint venture, partnership, company, or similar corporate entity of which a contracting party to the transaction is also a member.

Provides transactions with Indian Health Care Providers and Federally Qualified Health Centers do not qualify as material change transactions under the bill, unless the transaction would result in such participants no longer qualifying as Indian Health Care Providers or Federally Qualified Health Centers.

Removes the requirement that the Attorney General, after receiving notice a party is seeking emergency review, notify the party whether the transaction is subject to preliminary review requiring documentation. Specifies that, if a transaction is accepted for emergency review, the parties may submit notice less than 120 days before the transaction. Specifies that, for transactions qualifying for emergency review, the Attorney General must: expedite preliminary and comprehensive review; complete any comprehensive review within 90 days; and approve, impose conditions or modifications on, or disapprove the transaction within 90 days.

Modifies the provision governing basic notice requirements, such that the parties qualify for basic notice if any of the following four conditions are met: (1) no party has generated $50 million or more in health care revenue in any of its preceding three fiscal years; (2) all parties have not collectively generated $50 million or more in health care revenue in any of the preceding three calendar years; (3) no party currently provides reproductive health care, gender affirming care, or end-of-life care, or provided such care in any of the preceding three calendar years; and (4) no party has received notice from the state that the party or an affiliate violated specified requirements of state law governing reproductive health care. Removes a provision allowing federally qualified health centers and rural health clinics to automatically qualify for basic notice requirements.
