Background:

A jury is a body of individuals temporarily selected from the qualified residents of a particular district who are vested with the power to present or indict a person for a public offense or try a question of fact. All individuals are considered competent to serve as a juror unless that person is:

- less than 18 years old;
- not a citizen of the United States;
- not a citizen of the county in which they have been summoned to serve;
- not able to communicate in the English language; or
- a convicted felon who has not had their civil rights restored.

Jury Source List.

The Consolidated Technology Services Agency must annually provide the superior court of each county a list of the registered voters residing in that county as supplied by the Secretary of State and a list of driver's license and identicard holders residing in that county as supplied by the Department of Licensing, or a merged list of all such persons.

A jury source list is a list of all registered voters of a county that is merged with a list of licensed drivers and identicard holders who reside in that county. The list specifies each person's first and last name, middle initial, date of birth, gender, and residence address. Information provided to the court for preliminary determination of qualification for jury duty may only be used for the term the person is summoned and may not be used for any other purpose. Jury source lists are used to create a master list from which jurors are randomly selected.

Jury Service.

Individuals selected for jury service are selected at random from a fair cross section of the population of the area served by the court. The county clerk issues jury summons to persons selected for jury duty by mail or personal service.

Individuals may not be excluded from jury service on account of membership in a protected class or on account of economic status. Jurors may be excused by the court if jury duty is an undue hardship or extreme inconvenience, for public necessity, or as the court deems necessary. The court must excuse from further jury service any juror who, in the opinion of the court, has manifested unfitness as a juror by reason of bias, prejudice, indifference, inattention, or any physical or mental defect or by reason of conduct or practices incompatible with proper and efficient jury service.

The rate of pay for jurors is set by state law. Jurors must be paid a minimum of $10 per day, and local jurisdictions may determine to pay jurors up to $25 per day. Additionally, jurors receive reimbursement for mileage at the rate set for state officials and employees by the director of the Office of Financial Management. The local jurisdictions bear the cost of paying jurors, but the state reimburses the county in which trial is held for all jury and witness fees related to criminal cases which result from incidents occurring within an adult or juvenile correctional institution.

Summary of Amended Bill:

Jury Source List.

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC) is required to provide all courts with a method to collect data on juror demographics, including race, ethnicity, age, sex, employment status, educational attainment, and income. This data must be reported in a manner that preserves juror anonymity.

Beginning January 1, 2024, individuals on lists of registered voters and driver's license and identicard holders, may opt in to the Secretary of State and Department of Licensing sharing their email address with the consolidated technology services agency to facilitate receiving jury summons and other communications related to jury service by electronic means.

Childcare for Jurors.

The AOC must establish a work group to make recommendations for the creation of a childcare assistance program for individuals reporting for jury service with the intent to eliminate the absence of childcare as a barrier to performing jury service. The work group must outline the planning and implementation of the program and an estimate of the cost. The AOC must report the findings and recommendations of the work group to the Legislature by December 1, 2024.

Amended Bill Compared to Second Substitute Bill:

Concerning the ability for persons sharing their email address with the consolidated technology services agency, the amended bill:

- clarifies that a person who applies for a driver's license or identicard would have the ability to opt in to share their email address to receive jury summons and related communications;
  - clarifies that a person who applies online to register to vote would immediately be directed to a website where the person could opt in to share their email address to receive jury summons and related communications if appropriations are made for such purpose; and
  - changes the date from January 1, 2024, to July 1, 2024, for when persons would be able to opt in to share their email address with the agency.

Appropriation: None.

Fiscal Note: Available.

Effective Date of Amended Bill: The bill takes effect 90 days after adjournment of the session in which the bill is passed.

Staff Summary of Public Testimony:

(In support) The courts have been working on eliminating barriers to jury service for over two decades to improve jury diversity and this bill will provide reliable data to help identify gaps in jury service. Research indicates that poverty and wage gaps disproportionately affect minorities and a significant portion of the jury pool simply cannot afford to participate in jury service. Gender diversity has decreased during the pandemic. Jurors are frequently dismissed for lack of availability of childcare. During the pandemic, we had a task force created by the Chief Justice to increase jury diversity. We know that when you have better diversity on the jury, particularly gender diversity, you get better results. When we try various methods to get jury participation, we get positive results. The bill addresses several significant areas that recognize that equity representation makes a difference on juries. Studies have shown that if women are underrepresented on juries, that might impact the accuracy and efficiency of the jury deliberations and can make a difference on cases involving sexual violence. There are positive impacts from racial and ethnic diversity on juries, particularly when it pertains to conviction rates of non-white defendants. Minority women are underrepresented on jury pools in every county of Washington. Childcare and poverty are significant barriers to jury service and childcare was cited as the biggest barrier to jury service for women. The bill would study the creation of a jury service childcare voucher program. This bill doesn't fund that program, but it would create a process to study the implementation of a program. We recommend funding for childcare access for jurors, but the work groups are a step in the right direction. The bill would also allow for electronic service for jury summons and would hopefully allow the courts to diversify the jury pool by accessing potential jurors in different ways. We are disappointed by the removal of the section that created innovative ways to incentivize and involve people in jury service. We want to revisit the funding necessary for jury service and how much is appropriate, and we need more data on jury compensation at every stage of the process. It is not clear what the threshold is to incentivize people to participate in jury service, but it is certainly more than the $10 per day that it is now. We recommend that the state increase jury compensation even though it is not in the bill.

(Opposed) Whenever we start to compartmentalize people, we cause problems and this bill would pollute the ways in which juries are formed. There is a lot of awareness of the racial division occurring in society and things like this bill would exacerbate that problem. It is not clear why the state wants to collect racial and demographic data when this is a civic duty for everyone, so this bill creates a burden and division where it doesn't need to exist. Existing jury compensation is insufficient to replace people's income, but that has nothing to do with racial and demographic data. The provisions relating to this data collection should be removed and the bill should be opposed.

(Other) We have concerns with section 4 of the bill. We would like the bill to be amended to remove references to registered voters and the Secretary of State. The collection of information from voters for uses other than voting will cause problems for that data collection to assist voters. There are concerns about the cross-use of governmental information and this could disincentivize the sharing of personal information for voting purposes. Email addresses are a valuable way to contact voters, especially when there is a problem like an unsigned ballot or signatures that do not match. This proposal would cause voters to withhold their information or even not register to vote.
